Metaphor Wars Raymond W. Gibbs, Jr, 2017-05-04 The study of metaphor is now firmly established as a central topic within cognitive science and the humanities We marvel at the creative dexterity of gifted speakers and writers for their special talents in both thinking about certain ideas in new ways and communicating these thoughts in vivid poetic forms Yet metaphors may not only be special communicative devices but a fundamental part of everyday cognition in the form of conceptual metaphors. An enormous body of empirical evidence from cognitive linguistics and related disciplines has emerged detailing how conceptual metaphors underlie significant aspects of language thought cultural and expressive action. Despite its influence and popularity there have been major criticisms of conceptual metaphor. This book offers an evaluation of the arguments and empirical evidence for and against conceptual metaphors much of which scholars on both sides of the wars fail to properly acknowledge.

Cognitive Linguistics - The Quantitative Turn Laura A. Janda, 2013-07-31 Designed to serve as a textbook for courses in statistical analysis in linguistics this book orients the reader to various quantitative methods and explains their implications for the field. The methods include chi square Fisher test binomial test ANOVA correlation regression and cluster analysis. The advantages and limitations of each method are detailed and each method is illustrated with exemplary articles presenting linguistic data.

The Sparkle from the Coal Barbara Howard, 2024-10-31 Perhaps one of the least appreciated aspects of Rowan Williams is his theology of imagination. Seeking to fill this gap this book explores the imaginative impulse operative in Rowan Williams theology and poetry which centres around the notion of divine desire and the way in which imagination can reveal possibility even in the bleakest of circumstances. Drawing on his poetic work as well as his theological writing the book explores how Williams theology leads us to a fresh understanding of the ways in which the renewing and enabling energy of the Holy Spirit is ever active within and beyond the Church in enabling human imaginations to cooperate with the divine energy of love in bringing creation to fulfilment.

Producing Figurative Expression John Barnden, Andrew Gargett, 2020-12-15 This collection contains a selection of recent work on people's production of figurative language metaphoric ironic metonymic hyperbolic and similarly of figurative expression in visual media and artefact design. The articles illuminate issues such as why and under what circumstances people produce figurative expression and how it is moulded by their aims. By focusing on production the intention is to help stimulate more academic research on it and redress historically lower levels of published work on generation than on understanding of figurative expression. The contributions stretch across various academic disciplines mainly psychology cognitive linguistics and applied linguistics but with a representation also of philosophy and artificial intelligence and across different types of endeavour theoretical investigation and model building experimental studies and applications focussed work for instance figurative expression in product design and online support groups. There is also a wide ranging introductory chapter that touches on areas outside the scope of the contributed articles and discusses difficult issues such as a complex interplay of production and understanding.

Metaphors Shaping Culture and Theory Herbert Grabes, 2009 Minnesota Law

Review, 2011-04 Encyclopedia of Christian Education George Thomas Kurian, Mark A. Lamport, 2015-05-07

Christianity regards teaching as one of the most foundational and critically sustaining ministries of the Church. As a result Christian education remains one of the largest and oldest continuously functioning educational systems in the world.

comprising both formal day schools and higher education institutions as well as informal church study groups and parachurch ministries in more than 140 countries In The Encyclopedia of Christian Education contributors explore the many facets of Christian education in terms of its impact on curriculum literacy teacher training outcomes and professional standards This encyclopedia is the first reference work devoted exclusively to chronicling the unique history of Christian education across the globe illustrating how Christian educators pioneered such educational institutions and reforms as universal literacy home schooling Sunday schools women s education graded schools compulsory education of the deaf and blind and kindergarten With an editorial advisory board of more than 30 distinguished scholars and five consulting editors The Encyclopedia of Christian Education contains more than 1 200 entries by 400 contributors from 75 countries These volumes covers a vast range of topics from Christian education History spanning from the church s founding through the Middle Ages to the modern day Denominational and institutional profiles Intellectual traditions in Christian education Biblical and theological frameworks curricula missions adolescent and higher education theological training and Christian pedagogy Biographies of distinguished Christian educators This work is ideal for scholars of both the history of Christianity and education as well as researchers and students of contemporary Christianity and modern religious education Acta philologica ,2011 Revista brasileira de lingüística aplicada ,2011 Journal of the Warburg and Courtauld Institutes Warburg Institute,2021 The Routledge Pragmatics Encyclopedia Louise Cummings,2013 This is a comprehensive reference volume that will give the reader an insight into all the concepts theories issues and scholars that have shaped the field of pragmatics The Chinese Heart in a Cognitive Perspective Ning Yu,2009 This book is a cognitive semantic study of the Chinese conceptualization of the heart traditionally seen as the central faculty of cognition The Chinese word xin which primarily denotes the heart organ covers the meanings of both heart and mind as understood in English which upholds a heart head dichotomy In contrast to the Western dualist view Chinese takes on a more holistic view that sees the heart as the center of both emotions and thought The contrast characterizes two cultural traditions that have developed different conceptualizations of person self and agent of cognition The concept of heart lies at the core of Chinese thought and medicine and its importance to Chinese culture is extensively manifested in the Chinese language Diachronically this book traces the roots of its conception in ancient Chinese philosophy and traditional Chinese medicine Along the synchronic dimension it not only makes a systematic analysis of conventionalized expressions that reflect the underlying cultural models and conceptualizations as well as underlying conceptual metaphors and metonymies but also attempts a textual analysis of an essay and a number of poems for their metaphoric and metonymic images and imports contributing to the cultural models and conceptualizations It also takes up a comparative perspective that sheds light on similarities and differences between Western and Chinese cultures in the understanding of the heart brain body mind self and person The book contributes to the understanding of the embodied nature of human cognition situated in its cultural context and the relationship between language culture and cognition Meaning in the Brain Giosue Baggio, 2018-07-24 An argument that the meaning of written or auditory linguistic signals is not derived from the input but results from the brain's internal construction process. When we read a text or listen to speech, meaning seems to be given to us instantaneously as if it were part of the input. In Meaning in the Brain, Giosue Baggio explains that this is an illusion created by the tremendous speed at which sensory systems and systems for meaning and grammar operate in the brain. Baggio argues that meaning is not derived from input but results from the brain's internal construction process. With this book, Baggio offers the first integrated multilevel theory of semantics in the brain, describing how meaning is generated during language comprehension, production, and acquisition. Baggio's theory draws on recent advances in formal semantics and pragmatics, including vector space semantics, discourse representation theory, and signaling game theory. It is designed to explain a growing body of experimental results on semantic processing that have accumulated in the absence of a unifying theory since the introduction of electrophysiology and neuroimaging methods. Baggio argues that there is evidence for the existence of three semantic systems in the brain: relational semantics, interpretive semantics, and evolutionary semantics, and he discusses each in turn. He also develops neural theories of meaning for all three. Moreover, in the course of his argument, Baggio addresses several long-standing issues in the neuroscience of language, including the role of compositionality as a principle of meaning construction in the brain, the role of sensory-motor processes in language comprehension, and the neural and evolutionary links among meaning, consciousness, sociality, and action. Symposium, 2007 A Lifetime of English Studies Fiona Dalziel, Sara Gesuato, Maria Teresa Musacchio, 2012 Encyclopedia of Behavioral Neuroscience: H-O George F. Koob, Michel Le Moal, Richard F. Thompson, 2010
