The Death Of Distance:

The Death of Distance Frances Cairncross,1997 Frances Cairncross is the media editor for The Economist magazine With this book she offers an analysis of the changes taking place in the telecommunications industry and the effects these will have on business and society The Death of Distance 2.0 Frances Cairncross,2001 The Death of Distance Frances Cairncross,1997-11-01 The Death of Distance Harvard Business School Staff,1997-09-01 One of the world s most insightful journalists argues that swiftly unfolding advances in telecommunications will effectively eliminate distance as a perceptible concept from our lives She predicts that this death of distance between individuals the world will work 24 hours a day on three shifts based on the time zones of the Americas Europe the design of the home the strength of local cultures will be enforced while a global culture will develop in parallel dominated by the English language based world on the Internet

The Death of Distance Frances Cairncross,2001 Topics covered include corporate commerce reinventing government policing the electronic world Death of Distance Cairncross,2000-10-01 The Internet Upheaval Ingo

Vogelsang,Benjamin M. Compaine,2000 Early 2000 saw the US economy enjoy the longest period of sustained growth and economic prosperity in its history This book argues that the impact of information technologies particularly the internet partly explain this phenomenon and analyzes the reform of telecommunications policy The Death of Distance ,1995

On the Conservation of Distance in International Trade , Information Technology and Organizational Transformation JoAnne Yates,John Van Maanen,2001 Assesses information technology and organizational transformation Moves beyond the superficial glorification of information technology as an instrument of social change examining mechanisms of change as they play out in everyday organizational life Chapters are in sections on the history rhetori The Pathos of Distance

Jean-Michel Rabaté,2016-04-21 Jean Michel Rabat uses Nietzsche s image of a pathos of distance the notion that values are created by a few gifted and lofty individuals as the basis for a wide ranging investigation into the ethics of the moderns Revealing overlooked connections between Nietzsche s and Benjamin s ideas of history and ethics Rabat provides an original genealogy for modernist thought moving through figures and moments as varied as Yeats and the birth of Irish Modernism the ethics of courage in Virginia Woolf Rilke Apollinaire and others in 1910 T S Eliot s post war despair Jean Cocteau s formidable selfmythology in his first film The Blood of a Poet Siri Hustvedt s novel of American trauma and J M Coetzee s dystopia portraying an affectless future haunted by a messianic promise The Eroticization of Distance Joseph D.

Kuzma,2016-07-26 In The Eroticization of Distance Nietzsche Blanchot and the Legacy of Courtly Love Joseph D Kuzma explores the significance of courtly erotic themes in Friedrich Nietzsche s mature philosophy and in Maurice Blanchot s writings of the 1940s and early 1950s Rather than offering an account of erotic relationality that prioritizes reconciliation fulfillment or release Nietzsche attempts to formulate a nonteleological eroticism that aims at nothing but the perpetual intensification of desire Kuzma suggests that it is Blanchot who carries Nietzsche s courtly erotic tendencies to their most provocative point by highlighting potentials for intimate relationality that might be established through a shared experience of dispossession and loss This first monograph to engage specifically with the theme of eroticism in Blanchot's writings will be of interest not only to students and scholars of Nietzsche Blanchot or French philosophy but also anyone interested in the philosophy of sexuality the history of love theories of the emotions or nineteenth and twentieth century European thought more generally

The Computable City Michael Batty, 2024-03-26 How computers simulate cities and how they are also being embedded in cities changing our behavior and the way in which cities evolve At every stage in the history of computers and communications it is safe to say we have been unable to predict what happens next When computers first appeared nearly seventy five years ago primitive computer models were used to help understand and plan cities but as computers became faster smaller more powerful and ever more ubiquitous cities themselves began to embrace them As a result the smart city emerged In The Computable City Michael Batty investigates the circularity of this peculiar evolution how computers and communications changed the very nature of our city models which in turn are used to simulate systems composed of those same computers Batty first charts the origins of computers and examines how our computational urban models have developed and how they have been enriched by computer graphics He then explores the sequence of digital revolutions and how they are converging focusing on continual changes in new technologies as well as the twenty first century surge in social media platform economies and the planning of the smart city He concludes by revisiting the digital transformation as it continues to confound us with the understanding that the city now a high frequency twenty four hour version of itself changes our understanding of what is possible

Encyclopedia of Distance Learning, Second Edition Rogers, Patricia L.,Berg, Gary A.,Boettcher, Judith V.,Howard, Caroline,Justice, Lorraine,Schenk, Karen D.,2009-01-31 Offers comprehensive coverage of the issues concepts trends and technologies of distance learning "Through the long corridor of distance" Valérie Baisnée,2014-08-01 Examined in this study are twentieth and twenty first century autobiographies and memoirs by major New Zealand women writers Brought together for the first time in a single study texts by Sylvia Ashton Warner Janet Frame Lauris Edmond Fiona Kidman Barbara Anderson Ruth Park and Ruth Dallas are analysed with the aid of spatial concepts that probe unexplored aspects of their life narratives Drawing on recent and revised concepts of place and space in cultural geography philosophy and sociology the book acknowledges the link between identities and locations in a non essentialist way by pinpointing the various forms of inhabiting and being in space It refutes the idea of autobiographies as pure self referential texts and shows how these works deploy their own horizon of reference Valérie Baisnée is currently a Senior Lecturer in English at the University of Paris Sud She holds a PhD in English from the University of Auckland New Zealand Her research interests include the personal writings and poetry of twentieth century women with a particular focus on New Zealand women writers She has contributed to several published books and journals on women's autobiographies and diaries and she is the author of Gendered Resistance: The Autobiographies of Simone de Beauvoir, Maya Angelou, Janet Frame, and Marguerite Duras 1997 The Death of Home Saladdin Ahmed Bahozde, 2024-04-22 Digital technology has revolutionized connectivity but it has also overcome spatial obstacles that used to shield people from subjugating gazes and unlimited exercise of power. The home as an auratic space is dead and this alienation has hindered our democratic capacities and created complex crises. The Death of Home aims to intellectually engage readers via enhancing spatial literacy to critically confront today's crises Intelligence Collection Wayne Michael Hall, Gary Citrenbaum, 2012-06-06 This book examines the theoretical and conceptual foundation of effective modern intelligence collection: the strategies required to support intelligence analysis of the modern complex operational environments of today's military conflicts or competitive civilian situations such as business. Just as the old rules of conventional warfare and intelligence analysis do not apply fully in the 21st century environment, neither does the traditional methodology of collecting intelligence on these elusive, adapting foes operating as complex adaptive systems (CAS) adversaries that excel in today's complex contexts. Intelligence Collection: How To Plan and Execute Intelligence Collection In Complex Environments proposes substantive improvements in the way the U.S. national security system collects intelligence and supports intelligence analysis. The work draws on the groundbreaking work of a diverse group of theorists ranging from Carl von Clausewitz and Sun Tzu to M. Mitchell Waldrop, General David Petraeus, and Orson Scott Card, communicating a unifying theory and ontology of thought for how America's intelligence collection professionals must learn to collect data as our country faces elusive, determined, and smart adversaries in nonlinear dynamic environments. The new ideas presented will help the nation's intelligence collection specialists to amass a formidable cumulative intelligence power regardless of the level of war or the type of operational environment The Defeat of Distance John Gunn, 1985
