The Essence of Research Methodology Jan Jonker, Bartjan Pennink, 2010-03-10 Methodology is the eld which is indisputably complex In the academic world it is often said to be important yet in everyday academic practice it is not always treated accordingly In teaching methodology is often a mandatory course Usually it consists of learning how to adopt several common approaches when doing research and how to conceive a research design often leading to a survey This usually leads to collecting data on a modest scale and when the opportunity arises analysing the data with the help of some statistics Ask the students of their opinion at the end of such a course and they tend to heave a deep sigh of relief and say I have got through it Then their real courses start again in which methodology often does not play a role at all We are of the opinion that writing off methodology in this way is a real pity It ignores the valuable role that methodology should play in academic teaching as a whole Here methodology is presented as a form of thinking and acting that while obviously entailing research work can also include the design and change of organisations This broad approach has been purposefully chosen as it is almost obvious from research and graduation projects that the students do not really have a clue what methodology involves and therefore wasting their time by producing work that has a little quality

The Essence of Research Methodology Jan Jonker, Bartjan Pennink, 2010-11-20 This publication is designed to provide Master and PhD students with a concise introduction to conducting research in organisations The aim is to impart knowledge for making the appropriate methodological choices and to give readers a practical guide to designing and executing a research Over fifty concrete examples exercises discussions and short case studies give a good illustration of the practice of research so to enhance the understanding of the application of methodology in specific research contexts Another special feature of this book is the extensive comparative Glossary of key methodological terms ideas and notions that has been incorporated Also various checklists are provided to help students structure their research activities and reflect on key issues and choices that need to be made Finally more fundamental theoretical ontological and epistemological issues and debates are touched upon and discussed in the footnotes

Methodological Issues in Management Research Rabi N. Subudhi, Sumita Mishra, 2019-11-11 Using contemporary examples of business and management research predominantly within the context of India this book offers numerous tools and techniques which can be applied to a diverse range of research needs Topics discussed include research designs sampling interviews focus groups case study research and mixed method research

Cohabitation among Students in Higher-Learning Institutions in Tanzania Elia Shabani Mligo, Jael Omanga Otieno, 2018-02-28 Colleges and universities have been meeting places of students for the sake of studies all over the world As students transcend from secondary level education to tertiary level the degree of freedom increases they become free to live the style of life they choose This freedom is mainly caused by their advance in age from childhood to youth ages Cohabitation is one of the styles of life that students in most higher learning institutions choose to live However cohabitation is not the style of life that emerges in the recent time In the industrialized world for example cohabitation among youth started a long time ago By the 1970s and 1980s its rate increased greatly due to secularization and increase in freedom Being aware of this growing trend in cohabitation this book surveys the extent of cohabitation among students in higher learning institutions in Tanzania and how it affects the academic performance of the cohabiting partners It means that the book assesses both positive and negative effects for this style of life among the surveyed students Therefore this book is important to both university and college students so that they can be aware of the positive and negative effects of cohabitation especially in terms of academic performance

Designing, Conducting, and Publishing Quality Research in Mathematics Education Keith R. Leatham, 2019-09-12 The purpose of this book is to collect organize and disseminate collective wisdom with respect to designing conducting and publishing quality research in mathematics education This wisdom will be gleaned from among those who over the past several decades have been instrumental in guiding the field in the pursuit of excellence in mathematics education research insightful editors educative reviewers prolific writers and caring mentors Each chapter is written to the novice researcher with the intent of aiding them in avoiding common pitfalls navigating difficult intellectual terrain and understanding that they are not alone in experiencing rejection frustration confusion and doubt This book differs from existing literature in the sense that it is written about the enterprise of designing conducting and publishing research in mathematics education as opposed to being reports of the results of such work It also differs in the sense that it is written with the intent to mentor the rising generation as opposed to capture the state of the field as would happen in a handbook for example It is written for the express purpose of helping the field work collectively to aid in the often isolated enterprise of mentoring new researchers The primary audience is a potentially wide one graduate students novice researchers graduate faculty advisors and mentors or anyone seeking to improve their own abilities to design conduct and publish quality research in mathematics education

English as a Language of Teaching and Learning for Community Secondary Schools in Tanzania Elia Shabani Mligo, Mikael Mwashilindi, 2017-08-07 This book examines the challenges posed by English a foreign language as a language of teaching and learning for community secondary schools in Tanzania in terms of academic performance The book probes the necessity for having two languages of instruction in the Tanzanian educational system While Kiswahili the native language is predominantly understood by the majority of people the discussion in this book indicates that most students in community secondary schools in Tanzania are incompetent in understanding writing listening reading and speaking English a language they use in learning and doing their examinations especially in the early stages of their secondary studies The incompetence in the above mentioned skills is mostly caused by their inability to cope with the abrupt transition in the languages of instruction from their pre primary and primary school study Kiswahili to secondary school study English Moreover most teachers are unable to use the English language as a means to impart knowledge or facilitate learning to their students leading them to code switching and code mixing This book poses a challenge to countries whose students pass through a transition from one language of instruction to another in their educational systems helping them to make appropriate decisions in regard to the appropriate language of teaching and learning

A Look at Zambia's Road Financing Strategies: The Impact of Incongruent Policies and Budgets Yohane Tembo, 2015-01-01 There are various reasons why the road asset in Zambia has been deteriorating over the past five decades since independence Much effort to restore the road asset to its original value and keep it maintained in a good and safe condition was initiated in mid 1990s with the launch of the Road Sector Investment Plan Phase I which was immediately followed by the launch of a Phase II to run from 2003 to 2013 It is my appreciation that many diagnostic studies into road financing strategies which could have led to inefficient road asset management in Zambia have been undertaken and various solutions tendered The author takes cognizance that resource mobilization for road construction and maintenance and subsequent allocation to respective road programs can often be problematic for an emerging country like Zambia It has the potential to lead to inefficiencies in road asset management as has evidently been demonstrated in the declining road asset value over time The political as well as the economic landscape plays a vital role in resource mobilization and allocation strategies as much as the institutional and the legal framework do The failure to clear the backlog of maintenance which normally results largely from deferment of scheduled maintenance due to insufficient annual budgetary allocation to the road sector maintenance programs has led to the significant deterioration in road network condition Exorbitant road construction costs have posed additional challenges to the fiscus thereby constraining both the quantity and quality of road infrastructure that could be constructed and maintained at any given time Recent policy drives have been categorical in their preference of new road construction aimed at linking Zambia over road maintenance which plays a pivotal role in road asset management This creates a perception that policy pronouncements are at variance to policy documents which promote sustainable economic development through efficient road investments and could be seen as being paradoxical in that the actual financing strategies are skewed towards road construction a recipe of comfort for the next election challenge due to increased visibility on the ground rather than to maintenance as an astute and effective way of managing the road asset The difficulty of establishing congruence between government pronouncements and actual road business strategies in the implementing agencies has over the Business and Peace-Building Carol Bond, 2018-07-04 In a world struggling to adapt to seismic social and environmental changes the time is now for businesses to prioritise creating local conditions of peace This book builds on original research foregrounding peace as a core business outcome for natural resources industries Especially in non warlike situations where natural resources industries have exacerbated or caused conflict foregrounding peace as a core business outcome can bring substantial benefits Peace is a concept external and internal stakeholders understand Consequently research shows that when natural resources sector CSR professionals start reframing their day to day decisions in terms of peace outcomes they are more likely to create efficient and cost effective solutions to environmental social and economic business challenges This book provides both theory and practical suggestions for how to reframe day to day CSR activities of natural resources companies as peace focused business decisions Especially in the remote and rural regions of the world where natural resources industries have the greatest impact businesses can lead the way in contributing to conditions of peace while bringing much needed resources to market

Measure of People and Space Interactions in the Built Environment Abubakar Danladi Isah, Isa Bala Muhammad, 2019-05-28 This book is an edited collection of seven chapters on the theme of people and space interactions in different settings Using a variety of problems it showcases a rich set of solutions to the global challenges of functional sustainable and responsive habitats in both urban and rural environments The book deals with cultural landscapes sustainable housing settings the environment and human response spatial epidemiology neighbourhood and health and the subjectivity objectivity continuum in man environment research The studies apply a variety of social research methods and strategies relevant to the study of human interaction with its environment Collectively they serve as templates for direction in modern social science research methodology built on evidence based scientific inquiry of the built environment It can guide both young and seasoned researchers in considering appropriate responses to various social research problems including assessing various options in research process innovation A recurrent lesson from the individual studies and significant contribution of the volume is that each research endeavor needs to be based on a firm philosophical grounding as this goes a long way in determining the type of data to be collected and the ways that they are analysed and interpreted Taking a cross disciplinary perspective this edited collection should be of interest to scholars of geography anthropology sociology epidemiology urban planning architecture and above all environment behaviour studies
