Prieto, 2024-02-06 Although Jesuit contributions to European expansion in the early modern period have attracted considerable scholarly interest the legacy of Jos de Acosta 1540 1600 is still defined by his contributions to natural history The Theologian and the Empire presents a new biography of Acosta focused on his participation in colonial and imperial politics The most important Jesuit active in the Americas in the sixteenth century Acosta was fundamentally a political operator His actions on both sides of the Atlantic informed both Peruvian colonial life and the Jesuit order at the dawn of the seventeenth century

Super Continent Kent E. Calder, 2019-04-30 A Eurasian transformation is underway and it flows from China With a geopolitically central location the country's domestic and international policies are poised to change the face of global affairs The Belt and Road Initiative has called attention to a deepening Eurasian continentalism that has argues Kent Calder much more significant implications than have yet been recognized In Super Continent Calder presents a theoretically guided and empirically grounded explanation for these changes He shows that key inflection points beginning with the Four Modernizations and the collapse of the Soviet Union and culminating in China's response to the Global Financial Crisis and Crimea's annexation are triggering tectonic shifts Furthermore understanding China's emerging regional and global roles involves comprehending two ongoing transformations within China and across Eurasia as a whole and that the two are profoundly interrelated Calder underlines that the geo economic logic that prevailed across Eurasia before Columbus and that made the Silk Road a central thoroughfare of world affairs for close to two millennia is reasserting itself once again East Asian-German Cinema Joanne Miyang Cho,2021-09-29 This is the first edited volume dedicated to the study of East Asian German cinema Its coverage ranges from 1919 to the present a period which has witnessed an unprecedented degree of global entanglement between Germany and East Asia In analyzing this hybrid cinema this volume employs a transnational approach which highlights the nations cinematic encounters and entanglements It reveals both German perceptions of East Asia and East Asian perceptions of Germany through analysis of works by both German directors and East Asian East Asian German directors It is hoped that this volume will not only accelerate cross cultural exchange but also provide a wider perspective that helps film scholars to see the broader contexts in which these films are produced It introduces multiple compelling topics not just immigration multiculturalism and exile but also Japonisme children s literature musical modernity media hybridity gender representation urban space Cold War divisions and national identity It addresses several genres feature films essay films and documentary films Lastly by embracing three East Asian cinemas in one volume this volume serves as an excellent introduction for German cinema students and scholars It will appeal to international and interdisciplinary audiences as its contributors represent multiple disciplines and four world regions China John Keay,2011-12-06 An authoritative history of five millennia of Chinese history Constructing Mission History Stanley H. The Blacks of Premodern China Don J. Wyatt,2012-02-28 Premodern Chinese described a great variety of the peoples they encountered as black The earliest and most frequent of these encounters were with their Southeast Asian neighbors specifically the Malaysians But by the midimperial times of the seventh through seventeenth centuries C E exposure to peoples from Africa chiefly slaves arriving from the area of modern Somalia Kenya and Tanzania gradually displaced the original Asian blacks in Chinese consciousness In The Blacks of Premodern China Don J Wyatt presents the previously unexamined story of the earliest Chinese encounters with this succession of peoples they have historically regarded as black A series of maritime expeditions along the East African coastline during the early fifteenth century is by far the best known and most documented episode in the story of China s premodern interaction with African blacks Just as their Western contemporaries had the Chinese aboard the ships that made landfall in Africa encountered peoples whom they frequently classified as savages Yet their perceptions of the blacks they met there differed markedly from those of earlier observers at home in that there was little choice but to regard the peoples encountered as free The premodern saga of dealings between Chinese and blacks concludes with the arrival in China of Portuguese and Spanish traders and Italian clerics with their black slaves in tow In Chinese writings of the time the presence of the slaves of the Europeans becomes known only through sketchy mentions of black bondservants Nevertheless Wyatt argues that the story of these late premodern blacks laboring anonymously in China under their European masters is but a more familiar extension of the previously untold story of their ancestors who toiled in Chinese servitude perhaps in excess of a millennium earlier Minds in Motion Anne M. Thell,2017-08-31 The central claim of Minds in Motion is that British travel writing of the long eighteenth century functions as an epistemological playing field where authors test empiricist models of engagement with the world while simultaneously seeking out the role of the self and the imagination in producing knowledge Whether exploring the relationship between the senses and the mind the narrative viability of experimental detachment or the literary dynamics of virtual witnessing eighteenth century travel authors persistently confront their positionality and raise difficult questions about the nature and value of first hand experience In one way or another they also complicate empiricist ideals by exploring the limits of individual perception and the role of the imagination in generating and relating knowledge While the genre is often viewed as either numbingly documentary or non literary and commercial travel literature actually operates at the front line of the period s intellectual developments illustrating both how individual writers grapple with philosophical ideals and how these ideals filter into the lives of ordinary people Indeed travel literature directly engages the scientific and philosophical concerns of the period while it is also widely avidly read as such it offers models for cognitive and rhetorical practices that are evaluated and either embraced or rejected by readers in a process of identification not unlike that which occurs in early English fiction Moreover because eighteenth century travel literature is so crucial to the development of so many fields from botany to the novel it illustrates vividly the divisive energies of discipline and genre formation while also archiving the shared aims and methods of what will become discrete fields of study Travelogues as diverse as Margaret Cavendish s Blazing World 1666 and Samuel Johnson s Journey to the Western Islands of Scotland 1775 reveal the epistemological circuitry of the eighteenth century and historicize the absorption of the philosophical tendencies that have come to define modernity

Western Visions of the Far East in a Transpacific Age, 1522-1657 Christina H. Lee, 2016-02-17 Bringing to bear the latest developments across various areas of research and disciplines this collection provides a broad perspective on how Western Europe made sense of a complex multi faceted and by and large Sino centered East and Southeast Asia The volume covers the transpacific period after Magellan s opening of the transpacific route to the Far East and before the eventual dominance of the region by the British and the Dutch In contrast to the period of the Enlightenment during which Orientalist discourses arose this initial period of encounters and conquest is characterized by an enormous curiosity and a desire to seize not only materially but intellectually the lands and peoples of East Asia The essays investigate European visions of the Far East particularly of China and Japan and examine how and why particular representations of Asians and their cultural practices were constructed revised and adapted Collectively the essays show that images of the Far East were filtered by worldviews that ranged from being on the one hand universalistic and relatively equitable towards cultures to the other extreme unilaterally Eurocentric

Accommodation and Acceptance Ambrose Mong, 2015-12-31 As Hans Kung said No peace among the nations without peace among the religions No peace among the religions without dialogue between the religions No dialogue between the religions without investigation of the foundations of the religions Accommodation and Acceptance is a crucial work in both promoting interreligious dialogue and exploring the turbulent history of Christian faith and identity in Asia down the years From the reaction to missions often inextricably linked with the practice of colonialism to the rise of religious pluralism Ambrose Mong examines the relationships between the leading faiths of Asia up to the present day Whether practicing pluralism or exclusivism the history of Christianity in Asia is long and fascinating AmbroseMong delves into the biography of intercultural pioneers like Matteo Ricci and Timothy Richard to understand better the theology as well as the pragmatism behind cultural accommodation and the necessary mutability of an eternal church The Globalization of Renaissance Art Daniel Savoy,2017-12-11 In The Globalization of Renaissance Art A Critical Review Daniel Savoy assembles an interdisciplinary group of scholars to evaluate the global discourse on early modern European art Over the course of eleven chapters and a roundtable the contributors assess the discourse s goal of transcending Eurocentric boundaries reflecting on the strengths and weaknesses of current terms methods theories and concepts Although it is clear that the global perspective has exposed the artistic and cultural pluralism of early modern Europe it is found that more work needs to be done at the epistemological level of art history as a whole Contributors Claire Farago Elizabeth Horodowich Lauren Jacobi Thomas DaCosta Kaufmann Jessica Keating Stephanie Leitch Emanuele Lugli Lia Markey Sean Roberts Ananda Cohen Aponte and Marie Neil Wolff The Chinese Face of Jesus Christ: Volume 3b Roman Malek,2022-11-12 This collection in five volumes tries to realize the desideratum of a comprehensive interdisciplinary work on the manifold faces and images of Jesus in China which unites the Sinological mission historical theological art historical and other aspects The first three volumes vols L 1 3 contain articles and texts which discuss the faces and images of Jesus Christ from the Tang dynasty to the present time In a separate volume vol L 4 follows an annotated bibliography of the Western and Chinese writings on Jesus Christ in China and a general index with glossary The iconography i e the attempts of the Western missionaries and the Chinese to portray Jesus in an artistic way will be presented in the fifth volume of this collection vol L 5 This unique ongoing project continues to open a new vital lens to learn more about China in its intellectual and cultural dimensions John Witek in Journal of Asian Studies Cambridge History of China John K.
