Rethinking Orality I Andrea Ercolani, Laura

Lulli, 2022-04-04 The volume deals with the mechanisms of the oral communication in the ancient Greek culture Considering the critical debate about orality the analysis of the communicative system in a predominantly oral aural ancient society implies a reassessment and a deep reconsideration of the traces which orality embedded in the texts transmitted to us In particular the focus is on the cultural message a set of information which is processed and transmitted vertically as well as horizontally by a living being so to be differently from a genetically encoded information a culturally defined process The survey intertwines different approaches the methodologies of cognitivism biology ethology to analyze the embryonal processes of the cultural messages and the tools of historical and literary analysis to highlight the development of the cultural messages in the traditional knowledge their codification transmission and evolutions in the dialectics between orality and writing The reconstructed pattern of the mechanisms of cultural messages in a prevailing oral aural system cast a light on a shadowy aspect of a sophisticated communication system that has long influenced European culture

Roman Liturgy and Frankish Creativity Arthur

Westwell, 2024-01-18 This incisive in depth study unearths the significance of a neglected group of early medieval manuscripts those which transmit the Ordines Romani These texts present detailed scripts for Christian ceremonies that narrate the gestures motions actions and settings of ritual performance with particular orientation to the Roman church While they are usually understood as liturgical and thus lacking any particular creative flair Arthur Westwell here foregrounds their manuscript permutations in order to reveal their extraordinary dynamism He reflects on how the Carolingian Church undertook to improve liturgical practice and understanding questioning the accepted idea of a reform aimed at uniformity led by the monarch Through these manuscripts Westwell reveals a diversity of motivations in the recording of Roman liturgy and demonstrates the remarkable sophistication of Carolingian manuscript compilers
