Smith, 2010-01-01 Historians have traditionally interpreted the American land grant higher education movement as the result of political and economic forces Little attention has been given however to any explicit or implicit theological motivations for the movement This book tells the story of how the Christian belief of many founders of the

University of Illinois motivated their educational theory and practice Constructing a social gospel of labor's millennium their shorthand for God's kingdom being enhanced through agricultural and mechanical education they initially proposed that the university would impart a millenarian blessing for the larger society by providing abundant food economic prosperity vocational dignity and a charitable spirit of sacred unity and public service Rich in primary source research Smith's account builds a compelling case for at least one such institution's adaptation of an inherited evangelical educational tradition transitioning into a new era of higher learning that has left its mark on university life today Confessing History John Fea, Jay Green, Eric Miller, 2010-11-15 At the end of his landmark 1994 book The Soul of the American University historian George Marsden asserted that religious faith does indeed have a place in today's academia Marsden's contention sparked a heated debate on the role of religious faith and intellectual scholarship in academic journals and in the mainstream media The contributors to Confessing History: Explorations in Christian Faith and the Historian's Vocation expand the discussion about religion's role in education and culture and examine what the relationship between faith and learning means for the academy today The contributors to Confessing History ask how the vocation of historian affects those who are also followers of Christ What implications do Christian faith and practice have for living out one's calling as an historian And to what extent does one's calling as a Christian disciple speak to the nature quality or goals of one's work as scholar teacher adviser writer community member or social commentator Written from several different theological and professional points of view the essays collected in this volume explore the vocation of the historian and its place in both the personal and professional lives of Christian disciples Cracked Dreams Michael Daniel Baptiste, 2012-11-20 A gripping adrenaline rush of a story about growing up on the street Michael David Baptiste's novel unfolds like an epic saga of crime and punishment Presided over by a main character named Michael Banner known on the streets as Spits Cracked Dreams takes readers onto the down and dirty streets of the Bronx and into the lives of a drug gang called the Time Bombs The Time Bombs fear that their territory is being threatened by a rival gang trying to muscle into their trade so they devise a plan to eliminate the competition Soon they're consumed by the desire to make their mark beyond the borders of their hometown Their cash fueled dreams carry them far from their poverty plagued roots where their lives escalate into horrifying violence Cracked Dreams introduces an unforgettable cast of snitches gangstas dealers thugs pimps prostitutes hustlers and ex-cons who learn the hard way that when the street calls you'd better answer But they have no idea that FBI agents are shadowing their every move to put an end to the gang's reign of terror that's transforming average street corners into bloody battlegrounds Careening from the drug fueled avenues of the Bronx to Florida and California Cracked Dreams tells a haunting tale of sin and redemption

The

Scandal of the Evangelical College Martin Spence, 2025-06-30 Despite heady claims about Christ centeredness Evangelical colleges are scandalously secular institutions in thrall to the regnant assumptions of the market economy and mainstream higher education Paradigms intended to integrate faith and learning often ironically fracture and distort Christianity Even the spiritual dimensions of the Christian college presumed to keep it safe from religious declension are prone to secularizing tendencies because the American Evangelical culture from which the college receives its spiritual cues and from which it accepts its donors money is itself captive to a set of sub biblical economic social and political assumptions This book argues that the cause of the scandal is the absence of the church in the imagination of the Evangelical college It therefore proposes that the mission and practice of the Evangelical college should be to summon equip and renew the people of God While this may sound like a return to an obsolete bible school model of Christian education the ecclesial vision only sounds narrow because we lack a robust understanding of the vocation of the church itself By simultaneously restricting our vision of the Evangelical college while broadening our understanding of the church a more fully evangelical educational endeavor might emerge Becoming Dr. Q Alfredo Quiñones-Hinojosa, 2011-10-01 Today he is known as Dr Q an
