Prison Reform Jonas Cope, 2024-12-13 In eighteenth century Britain criminals were routinely whipped, branded, hanged or transported to America. Only in the last quarter of the century, with the War of American Independence and legal and sociopolitical challenges to capital punishment, did the criminal justice system change, resulting in the reformed prison or penitentiary meant to educate, rehabilitate and spiritualize even hardened felons. This volume is the first to explore the relationship between historical penal reform and Romantic era literary texts by luminaries such as Godwin, Keats, Byron and Austen. The works examined here treat incarceration as ambiguous: prison walls oppress and reinforce the arbitrary power of legal structures but can also heighten meditation, intensify the imagination and awaken the conscience. Jonas Cope skillfully traces the important ideological work these texts attempt to reconcile a culture devoted to freedom with the birth of the modern prison system that presents punishment as a form of rehabilitation. Metaphors of Confinement: The Prison in Fact, Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present, as well as non-penal situations described as confining or restrictive. These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons, just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way the carceral imaginary develops over time. Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial, particularly African literature, the book juxtaposes literary and non-literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality. It comments on present-day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment. The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy, such as the invention of the penitentiary. The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives, such as the home as prison or the prison as home, or the factory as prison and the prison as factory. The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods.
