

Advertisement Effectiveness: A Review and Research Agenda

Prateek Maheshwari, Nitin Seth, Anoop Kumar Gupta

Abstract—In today's highly competitive, dynamic and technology driven business circumstances, marketers are under steady pressure to deliver the best. Organizations are continuously improving and upgrading themselves to meet customer expectations and demands. Technology has not only changed the way in which business is done in modern times but has also transformed the way to reach out to target audience. Marketers have identified most recent media options to communicate and convince potential customers. Numerous scholars have studied the research domain of advertising and have tried to recognize different measures of advertisement effectiveness in context of various media. The objective of this paper is to critically review accessible literature on advertisement effectiveness in context of varied advertising media, recognize major gaps in the literature and identify future research prospects on the basis of critical analysis of literature.

Keywords—Advertising, Advertising Media, Competition, Effectiveness Measurement.

I. INTRODUCTION

TODAY'S business scenario is characterized by high competition, dynamism and operational complexities. Competition has forced corporate to change and upgrade continuously due to rising customer expectations. Markets are cluttered worldwide and delivering finest to the consumers is at the top priority for each of the business unit whether large or small.

In such an aggressive business situation, advertising plays an important role in communicating with customers, both current and potential [1]. With the advent of new technology and development of various modern media, advertisers have discovered several innovative promotional options to lure target audience. The rapid proliferation of internet, cell phones, movies and video games has convinced marketing personnel to consider these as emerging media alternatives. Therefore understanding advertisement effectiveness in context of these emerging media choices is essential as it would contribute significantly to the productivity of advertisers in terms of effective allocation of their marketing budgets [1].

Hence, the purpose of present review paper is to understand the concept of advertisement effectiveness and to identify varied dimensions used to measure advertisement effectiveness with reference to different media forms. Numerous researchers have explored the area of measuring advertisement effectiveness with different views which is widely categorized in two broad categories for present study as shown in Fig. 1.

II. NEED FOR REVIEW OF ADVERTISEMENT EFFECTIVENESS

In today's competitive and dynamic business scenario organizations are witnessing tremendous pressure on account of increased competition, increased customer participation and increased consumer responsiveness. Organizations are struggling to find ways to deliver better to customers than their competitors. Traditionally, the organizations believe in increasing profitability either by decreasing product's cost or by expanding existing market [2], [3].

Researchers have highlighted that although cost reduction is one of the advantageous ways but there are limits associated with it. Therefore, increasing market seems to be more beneficial to organizations and researchers have proven evidences for positive association between increased advertising and improved market share [2]. The rampant growth of modern technology and latest communication methods has changed the way in which organizations advertise.

Marketers have made use of innovative advertising media viz. internet, cell phones, movies and video games to reach out to target audience and hence understanding advertisement effectiveness is essential. In this context, the subject of advertisement effectiveness needs a fresh understanding in the lucrative research results tend to focus on therapeutic and pharmacological intervention prioritizing innovative therapies based on molecular biology and biotechnology approaches. However, commercial interests do not necessarily agree with existing public health priorities. The prevalence of health and biomedical research agendas often neglect not only the less lucrative diseases but also the study of the social and environmental determinants of health and disease even when addressing these aspects could significantly improve population health at much lower costs. Some examples of absent studies in the health research agendas are the analysis of non-medical factors influencing health outcomes, social determinants of health, the analysis of the relationship between people and their environment, environmental health, or the evaluation of the socio-environmental factors that influence the deterioration of bodies and territories such as the One Health approach.

Commercial Diplomacy in International Entrepreneurship Huub Ruël, 2012-10-19. Explores the organization of diplomacy for international entrepreneurship at the micro level: the diplomats and individual entrepreneurs' perspective. This book takes an interdisciplinary perspective combining the fields of business administration and public administration specifically international entrepreneurship and international relations. Hybridity in Contemporary Commercial Organizations Ijeoma Jacklyn Okpanum, 2021-06-07. Times of extensive institutional pressure challenge the existence of commercial organizations as entities that reproduce a single coherent market orientated institutional template to achieve effectiveness. In tune with pressure from changing markets, contemporary commercial organizations adopt various combinations of skills, templates and processes for new sources of competitive advantage. At a conceptual level, hybridity embraces the notion that organizations may embody multiple templates, logics or values to achieve effective organizational performance. However, at a practical level, hybridity presents tensions, inconsistencies and contradictions for these organizations: a state of affairs that could have adverse negative consequences for employees' behaviour and trust in the organization. This book offers an exploration of individual level responses to logics multiplicity for all those interested in the future of commercial organizations.
