Copyright Office,1966 The New Social Studies Barbara Slater Stern,2009-11-01 This volume The New Social Studies People Projects and Perspectives is not an attempt to be the comprehensive book on the era Given the sheer number of projects that task would be impossible However the current lack of knowledge about the politics people and projects of the NSS is unfortunate as it often appears that new scholars are reinventing the wheel due to their lack of knowledge about the history of the social studies field. The goal of this book then is to sample the projects and individuals involved with the New Social Studies (NSS) in an attempt to provide an understanding of what came before and to suggest guidance to those concerned with social studies reform in the future, especially in light of the standardization of curriculum and assessment currently underway in many states. The authors who contributed to this project were recruited with several goals in mind, including a broad range of ages, interests, and experiences with the NSS from participants during the NSS era through new young scholars who had never heard much about the NSS. As many of the authors remind us in their chapters, much has been written of the failure of the NSS. However, in every chapter of this book, the authors also point out the remnants of the projects that remain.

Erasing History Jason Stanley, 2024-10-10

From Yale professor and bestselling author of How Fascism Works, a searing confrontation with the authoritarian right's attacks to undo a century of work to advance social justice action on race, gender, sexuality, and class. Combining historical research with an in-depth analysis of our modern political landscape, Erasing History issues a dire warning for the world: the worst fascist movements of humanity's past began in schools. The same place so many of today's right-wing political parties have trained their most vicious attacks. Donald Trump, Ron DeSantis, Vladimir Putin, Turkey's Recep Erdogan, and Argentina's Javier Milei have all reached the same conclusion: if you want to roll back the clock on civil rights, equity, and inclusion, a great place to start is in schools. Yale professor Jason Stanley exposes the true danger of the right's tactics and traces their inspirations and funding back to some of the most dangerous ideas of human history. He shows that hearts and minds are won in our schools and universities, and that governments are currently ill-prepared to do the work of uprooting fascist policies being foisted upon our children through school boards, in courtrooms, and in the boardrooms of the organisations trusted to train teachers and create the materials they'll share with their students. Deeply informed and urgently needed, this book is a vibrant call to action for lovers of democracy worldwide.

Six Moquette Row John F. Sullivan, 2014-10-06

On May 17, 1899, Patrick Sullivan married Mary Jane Carroll in Yonkers, New York, despite the objections of Patrick's family, who believed he was marrying below his class. But their dreams of living a long life together came to an end when Patrick died unexpectedly on August 13, 1911, leaving Mary destitute with four children and a fifth who was born three weeks after Patrick's death. Shunned by Patrick's family, Mary and her children fought off starvation in a tenement in Yonkers for several months. Then one evening she was visited by her two brothers, John and Barney, who insisted her entire family move into and share their meager home at Six Moquette Row. There the children were raised by their grandmother, mother, and their two loving uncles.

A story for the ages Six Moquette Row by author John F Sullivan narrates the true story of how one familys love and a shared devotion to one another turned what would have inevitably been a horrific tragedy into an incredible successa story that now totals more than eighty descendants Wisconsin Library Bulletin ,1928 Social Sciences and Humanities Index ,1916 Catalog of Instructional Tapes for Handicapped Students, Preschool Through University Level, 1980 California.
