Aging In Hong Kong A Comparative Perspective International Perspectives On Aging:

Aging in Hong Kong Jean Woo, 2012-09-06 With the longest life expectancy for men and the second longest for women Hong Kong typifies our planet's aging population The daily lives of its older adults closely match the advantages and disadvantages experienced by urban elders in other developed countries For these reasons Hong Kong's elderly serve as a salient guide to older people's social psychological and healthcare needs concerns of increasing importance as the world grows older Aging in Hong Kong examines this emblematic population as a case study specifically in comparison with their counterparts in the West shedding light on diverse interrelated currents in the aging experience Referencing numerous international studies the book contrasts different health service arrangements and social factors and relates them to a variety of health outcomes Its wide ranging coverage documents health and illness trends reviews age friendly policy initiatives relates health literacy to patients active role in their own care and discusses elders as an underserved group in the division of limited health funding and resources This multiple focus draws readers attention to policies that need revisiting or retooling as chapters analyze major life areas including Living environment Retirement and post retirement employment issues Financial asset management Health literacy regarding aging issues Elder positive service delivery models Ageism in the prioritization of healthcare End of life issues By assembling such a wealth of data on its subject Aging in Hong Kong puts ongoing challenges into clear focus for gerontologists sociologists health and cross cultural psychologists public health policymakers and others involved in improving the quality of elders lives

Age-Friendly Cities and Communities in International Comparison Thibault Moulart, Suzanne Garon, 2015-12-01 The supportive role of urban spaces in active aging is explored on a world scale in this unique resource using the WHO's Age Friendly Cities and Community model Case studies from the U S Canada Australia Hong Kong and elsewhere demonstrate how the model translates to fit diverse social political and economic realities across cultures and continents ways age friendly programs promote senior empowerment and how their value can be effectively assessed Age friendly criteria for communities are defined and critiqued while extensive empirical data describe challenges as they affect elders globally and how environmental support can help meet them These chapters offer age friendly cities as a corrective to the overemphasis on the medical aspects of elders lives and should inspire new research practice and public policy Included in the coverage A critical review of the WHO Age Friendly Cities Methodology and its implementation Seniors perspectives on age friendly communities The implementation of age friendly cities in three districts of Argentina Age friendly New York City a case study Toward an age friendly European Union Age friendliness childhood and dementia toward generationally intelligent environments With its balance of attention to universal and culture specific concerns Age Friendly Cities and Communities in International Comparison will be of particular interest to sociologists gerontologists and policymakers Given the rapid adoption of the age friendly perspective following its development by the World Health Organization the critical assessment offered in this volume is especially welcome Professor

Chris Phillipson University of Manchester      A Medical History of Hong Kong Moira M W Chan-Yeung, 2020-03-15 This book gives an account of Hong Kong's medical and health development from the Second World War to the present day investigates how medical and health services grew and adapted as Hong Kong's political and the socio economic landscape and the world beyond it changed and continued changing The author is a clinician scientist rather than a social scientist her writing is therefore based on her first hand knowledge of the changes in the Hong Kong medical and healthcare scene during the period 1942-2015 and the book has also been enriched by her meticulous research via the archives of available government publications other literature and media reports This book is a sequel to A Medical History of Hong Kong 1842-1941 k presents an unbiased and scientific analysis of events which prompted the authorities and the public to consider evaluate and ultimately implement policies that resulted in the gradual improvement of the healthcare system in Hong Kong Rosie T T Young The University of Hong Kong      New Perspectives on China and Aging Jason L. Powell, Ian G. Cook, 2007 The first part of the book is entitled Family Transition and Ageing and addresses rapid social and economic changes in China through a kaleidoscope of differential perspectives that focus on how family continues to be an important reference point for the past present and future institution in the care of older people The second part of the book focuses on the tangible social forces associated with managing old age Welfare Consumption and Ageing This section is important in locating the structures and agents of power that are relevant to maintaining trust and social relations between older people the Chinese State and its dualism of state welfare and consumption of welfare      Advancing Cross-Cultural Perspectives on Educational Psychology Gregory Arief D. Liem, Allan B. I. Bernardo, 2013-08-01 Scholars and practitioners in the fields of education and educational psychology have come to agree that conceptions of learning and teaching student and teacher motivation engagement learning and teaching strategies and by implication student academic achievement and teacher effectiveness are also influenced by a sociocultural context where the schooling process takes place This raises the question if educational psychology theorizing and findings can be adopted to inform and guide teaching and learning in different cultures As such there is a compelling and timely need for educational psychology researchers to harness advanced cross cultural research designs and look at the different key facets of student and teacher academic careers from a cross cultural perspective Dennis McInerney is one of the key pioneering figures in cross cultural educational psychology and has also edited a book series on Research on Sociocultural Influences on Motivation and Learning Information Age Publishing His ideas and research have inspired many to examine the role of sociocultural context in motivation and learning This volume is a celebration of McInerney's numerous and extensive contributions as a scholar as well as an appreciation of his personal qualities that make him such an inspiring person In this festschrift the editors seek to extend the scholarly contributions of Dennis McInerney by inviting internationally recognized and leading educational psychology scholars who have inspired and been inspired by his work to re-examine their research expertise from a cross cultural perspective The volume aims to stimulate researchers scholars and graduate students in their endeavor to re look their research from a cross cultural lens      Age-Friendly Cities and Communities Tine Buffel,Sophie Handler,Chris Phillipson,2019-02-20 As the drive towards creating age friendly cities grows this important book provides a comprehensive survey of theories and policies aimed at improving the quality of life of older people living in urban areas In this book part of the Ageing in a Global Context series leading international researchers critically assess the problems and the potential of designing age friendly environments The book considers the different ways in which cities are responding to population ageing the different strategies for developing age friendly communities and the extent to which older people themselves can be involved in the co production of age friendly policies and practices The book includes a manifesto for the age friendly movement focused around tackling social inequality and promoting community empowerment      Ageing Noah Berlatsky,2014-04-18 One of the sharpest criticisms within and outside of Hollywood is that it provides no strong beautiful inspirational parts for aging female actors They merely disappear while aging male actors get action hero and older Lothario parts This collection of essays leaves the controversies of Hollywood ageism and sexism behind to look at other cultures and how they treat the aging Readers will examine the effect of aging populations within other societies They will evaluate policy solutions and attitudes They will also learn about health issues in relation to aging Readers will learn from Europe China Japan and several other cultures about their viewpoints on aging      Successful Aging Sheung-Tak Cheng,Iris Chi,Helene H. Fung,Lydia W. Li,Jean Woo,2015-01-26 This book brings together state of the art research on successful aging in Asian populations and highlights how the factors that contribute to successful aging differ from those in the West It examines the differences between the Asian and Western contexts in which the aging process unfolds including cultural values lifestyles physical environments and family structures In addition it examines the question of how to add quality to longer years of life Specifically it looks at ways to promote health preserve cognition maximize functioning with social support and maintain emotional well being despite inevitable declines and losses Compared to other parts of the world Asia will age more quickly as a result of the rapid socioeconomic developments leading to rising longevity and historically low fertility rates in some countries These demographic forces in vast populations such as China are expected to make Asia the main driver of global aging in the coming decades As a result researchers professionals policymakers as well as the commercial sector in both East and West are increasingly interested in gaining a deeper understanding of aging in Asia      Towards Human Rights in Residential Care for Older Persons Helen Meenan,Nicola Rees,Israel Doron,2015-07-30 People are leading significantly longer lives than previous generations did and the proportion of older people in the population is growing Residential care for older people will become increasingly necessary as our society ages and we will require more of it At this moment in time the rights of older people receive attention at international and regional levels with the United Nations the Organization of American States and the African Union exploring the possibility of establishing new conventions for the rights of older persons This book explores the rights of older people and their quality of care once they are living in a care home and considers how we can commence the journey towards a human rights framework to ensure decent and dignified care for older people The book takes a comparative approach to present and future challenges facing the care home sector for older people in Africa Kenya the Arab world Egypt Australia China England Israel Japan and the USA An international panel of experts have contributed chapters identifying how their particular society cares for its older and oldest people the extent to which demographic and economic change has placed their system under pressure and the role that residential elder care homes play in their culture The book also explores the extent to which constitutional or other rights form a foundation to the regulatory and legislative structures to residential elder care and it examines the important concept of dignity As a multi regional study of the care of older person from a human rights perspective this book will be of excellent use and interest in particular to students and researchers of family and welfare law long term care social policy social work human rights and elder law      The Cultural Context of Aging Jay
