Vogel,2022-10-07 It is often said that marriage in Islamic law is a civil contract not a sacrament If this is so this means that the marriage contract is largely governed by the same rules as other contracts such as sale or hire But at the same time marriage is a profound concern of the Islamic scriptures of Qur an and Sunna and thus at the very core of the law and morality of Islam and of the individual familial and social life of Muslims This volume collects papers from many disciplines examining the Muslim

Islamic Law and Ethics David R. Vishanoff ,2020-09-01 Does Islamic law define Islamic ethics Or is the law a branch of a broader ethical system Or is it but one of several independent moral discourses Islamic and otherwise competing for Muslims allegiance The essays in this book present a range of answers some take fiqh as the defining framework for ethics others insert the law into a broader ethical system and others present it as just one among several parallel Islamic ethical discourses or show how Islamic ethics might coexist with non Muslim normative systems Their answers have far reaching implications for epistemology for the authority of jurists and lay Muslims for the practical moral challenges of daily life and for relationships with non Muslims The book presents Muslim ethicists with a strategic contemporary choice should they pursue a single overarching methodology for judging all ethical questions or should they relish the rhetorical and political competition of alternative but not necessarily incompatible moral discourses Honor Killing Daniel Akbari,Paul J.

Islamic Studies in the Twenty-first Century Léon Buskens, Annemarie Sandwijk, 2025-10-01. In recent decades traditional methods of philology and intellectual history applied to the study of Islam and Muslim societies have been met with considerable criticism from rising generations of scholars who have turned to the social sciences, most notably anthropology and social history, for guidance. This change has been accompanied by the rise of new fields studying, for example, Islam in Europe and Africa and new topics such as the role of gender. This collection surveys these transformations and others, taking stock of the field and showing new paths forward.

Logic and Metalogic, The Beginnings of Islamic Law Lena Salaymeh, 2016-11-14. The Beginnings of Islamic Law is a major and innovative contribution to our understanding of the historical unfolding of Islamic law. Scrutinizing its historical contexts, the book proposes that Islamic law is a continuous intermingling of innovation and tradition. Salaymeh challenges the embedded assumptions in conventional Islamic legal historiography by developing a critical approach to the study of both Islamic and Jewish legal history. Through case studies of the treatment of war prisoners, circumcision, and wife-initiated divorce, she examines how Muslim jurists incorporated and transformed Near Eastern legal traditions. She also demonstrates how socio-political and historical situations shaped the everyday practice of law, legal education, and the organization of the legal profession in the late antique and medieval eras. Aimed at scholars and students interested in Islamic history, Islamic law, and the relationship between Jewish and Islamic legal traditions, this book's interdisciplinary approach provides accessible explanations and translations of complex materials and ideas.
