The image contains two anatomical diagrams. On the left is a detailed illustration of the human muscular system, showing the muscles of the torso, arms, and legs in a reddish-pink color. On the right is a diagram of the human skeletal system, showing the bones in a light tan color. Below the skeletal diagram is a small table with two columns, likely listing bone names or types, though the text is too small to read.

A detailed anatomical diagram of the human central nervous system. The main illustration shows a lateral view of the brain with the spinal cord extending downwards. The brain is colored in shades of pink and red, while the spinal cord is yellow. Labels with leader lines point to various parts: 'Cerebrum' (the large, wrinkled part), 'Cerebellum' (the smaller, more textured part at the back), 'Brainstem' (the base of the brain), 'Spinal Cord' (the long, yellow structure), 'Cranial Nerves' (nerves exiting the brain), and 'Spinal Nerves' (nerves exiting the spinal cord). A smaller inset diagram at the bottom right shows a cross-section of the brain, with labels for 'Cerebrum', 'Cerebellum', 'Brainstem', and 'Spinal Cord'.

This diagram illustrates the internal anatomy of the human eye. The main cross-section shows the cornea, iris, lens, vitreous body, retina, and optic nerve. Numerous labels in German identify specific parts, such as 'Cornea', 'Iris', 'Linse', 'Vitreum', 'Netzhaut', and 'Sehnerv'. Below the main diagram are two smaller circular diagrams showing different views or states of the eye's internal structures.

The anatomy of the digestive system

The digestive system is responsible for breaking down food into nutrients that can be absorbed by the body. It consists of the mouth, pharynx, esophagus, stomach, small intestine, large intestine, and rectum. The liver and pancreas also play important roles in digestion.

An anatomical illustration of the human respiratory system. It shows the trachea (windpipe) leading from the larynx down to the bronchi, which branch into the left and right lungs. The lungs are shown in a realistic, colored style, with the trachea and bronchi in a reddish-pink hue. The background is a light blue silhouette of a human torso.

This diagram illustrates the anatomy of the human ear. The external ear (pinna) is shown on the right, leading into the ear canal. The middle ear is depicted in the center, showing the ossicles (malleus, incus, stapes) and the eustachian tube. The internal ear (cochlea and vestibular system) is shown on the left, with labels for the cochlea, vestibule, and semicircular canals. The diagram is color-coded to show different tissues and structures.
