Mash Richard Hooker, 2009-03-17 Before the movie this is the novel that gave life to Hawkeye Pierce Trapper John Hot Lips Houlihan Frank Burns Radar O'Reilly and the rest of the gang that made the 4077th MASH like no other place in Korea or on earth The doctors who worked in the Mobile Army Surgical Hospitals MASH during the Korean War were well trained but like most soldiers sent to fight a war too young for the job In the words of the author a few flipped their lids but most of them just raised hell in a variety of ways and degrees For fans of the movie and the series alike here is the original version of that perfectly corrupt football game those martini laced mornings and sexual escapades and that unforgettable foray into assisted if incomplete suicide all as funny and poignant now as they were before they became a part of America's culture and heart M*A*S*H - 1-Act Tim Kelly, Richard Hooker, 1973-12 The Twilight of the Middle Class Andrew

Hoberek, 2009-01-10 In The Twilight of the Middle Class Andrew Hoberek challenges the commonly held notion that post World War II American fiction eschewed the economic for the psychological or the spiritual Reading works by Ayn Rand Ralph Ellison Saul Bellow Phillip Roth Flannery O'Connor Thomas Pynchon Don DeLillo and others he shows how both the form and content of postwar fiction responded to the transformation of the American middle class from small property owners to white collar employees In the process he produces compelling new accounts of identity politics and postmodernism that will be of interest to anyone who reads or teaches contemporary fiction Hoberek argues that despite the financial gains and job security enjoyed by the postwar middle class the transition to white collar employment paved the way for its current precarious state in a country marked by increasingly deep class divisions Postwar fiction provided the middle class with various imaginative substitutes for its former property owning independence substitutes that since then have not only allowed but abetted this class's downward mobility To read this fiction in the light of the middle class experience is thus not only to restore the severed connections between literary and economic history in the second half of the twentieth century but to explore the roots of the contemporary crisis of the middle class Forged in War R. In Reelpolitik: Ideologies in American Political Film, Beverly Merrill Kelley examines more than a century of political movie history, providing a thorough historical background for diametrically opposed political ideologies in order to facilitate debate and dialectical learning. Each chapter includes a case study which provides an in-depth analysis of the single film that best illustrates the ideology at hand, including The Candidate, populism, Wall Street elitism, The Godfather, fascism, All the President's Men, anti-fascism, Patton, interventionism and M A S H isolationism. Reelpolitik: Ideologies in American Political Film establishes a paradigmatic analysis of political films that details the cyclical nature of ideological dialectic throughout American history and identifies the values, attitudes and beliefs of the voters who choose not to affiliate with Republicans and Democrats and who often determine the outcomes of elections. The text also includes an extensive ideological filmology spanning more than 100 years of American cinema.
