

Ah Back Math: Answers Knowing All Angles

Highly skilled, but under-qualified, workers will have to be retrained and equipped with the skills necessary to perform the jobs of the future. The government must invest in education and training, and in research and development, to ensure that the workforce has the skills and knowledge to compete in the global economy. The government must also invest in infrastructure, such as roads, bridges, and ports, to ensure that the economy is able to compete in the global market.
