Islam and New Kinship Morgan Clarke,2009-06-01 Assisted reproductive technologies such as in vitro fertilization have provoked global controversy and ethical debate This book provides a groundbreaking investigation into those debates in the Islamic Middle East simultaneously documenting changing ideas of kinship and the evolving role of religious authority in the region through a combination of in depth field research in Lebanon and an exhaustive survey of the Islamic legal literature Lebanon home to both Sunni and Shiite Muslim communities provides a valuable site through which to explore the overall dynamism and diversity of global Islamic debate As this book shows Muslim perspectives focus on the moral propriety of such controversial procedures as the use of donor sperm and eggs as well as surrogacy arrangements which are allowed by some authorities using surprising and innovative legal arguments These arguments challenge common stereotypes of the rigidity and conservatism of Islamic law and compel us to question conventional contrasts between liberal and Islamic notions of moral freedom as well as the epistemological assumptions of anthropology s own new kinship studies This book will be essential reading for anyone interested in contemporary Islam and the impact of reproductive technology on the global social imaginary

New Books on Women, Gender and Feminism ,2012 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2009 New Books on Women and Feminism ,2012 Islam and New Kinship Morgan Clarke,2006 Islam and Assisted Reproductive Technologies Marcia C. Inhorn,Soraya Tremayne,2012-07-20 How and to what extent have Islamic legal scholars and Middle Eastern lawmakers as well as Middle Eastern Muslim physicians and patients grappled with the complex bioethical legal and social issues that are raised in the process of attempting to conceive life in the face of infertility This path breaking volume explores the influence of Islamic attitudes on Assisted Reproductive Technologies ARTs and reveals the variations in both the Islamic jurisprudence and the cultural responses to ARTs Religion and Fertility Joseph Chamie,1981-04-30 This work is a critical investigation into the relationship between religious affiliation on the one hand and fertility family size preferences and family planning behaviour on the other Dr Chamie works from a set of unique data the 1971 Fertility and Family Planning Survey in Lebanon This survey is not only a national study of Lebanese fertility but also a large scale survey 2 800 people offering the opportunity to study Arab Christian Muslim differentials Lebanon s demographic situation has far greater scientific and practical importance than might be supposed from its relatively small population From observing the important religious communities at different stages of social and economic development Dr Chamie has thus been able to analyse the interacting effects of religion and socio economic development on reproductive behaviour

Family Planning in the Legacy of Islam Abdel R. Omran,1992 How has the Islamic view of marriage family formation and child rearing developed and adapted over the centuries Is contraception just permitted or actively encouraged The family is the basic social unit of Islamic society Even without compelling population pressures there has been concern with spacing and family planning This book is the result of a massive research project gathering fourteen centuries the seventh to the twentieth of views on family formation and planning as expressed by leading Islamic theologians and jurists The work has been discussed and shaped at each stage by a committee of Islamic experts representing the majority of the Muslim countries The book provides a much needed source of reference and will be of equal value and interest to professionals in health care and development work and to those working in the academic disciplines of Middle East studies religion and population studies
