Cultivation Michelle Bates Ph D, 2020-05-22 Aeroponics is a method of growing plants in an environment with no soil The first gardens with no soil environments were developed in the 1920s It became popular among scientists because having a plant's roots outside of the soil made studying root systems easier It wasn't until the 1970s that indoor growing methods like hydroponics aquaponics and aeroponics left the laboratory for recreational and commercial growing In an aeroponic growing growth system plants are suspended in a closed or semi closed environment The plant's roots and lower stems dangle below a foam barrier and are sprayed with an atomized nutrient rich water solution Cannabis cultivation is continuing to evolve Hydroponic growing is a part of that Aeroponics technically is a kind of hydroponic gardening However in this variant the plants are actually suspended in the air Water and nutrients are delivered via a continual mist of the roots If it sounds a bit scientifically advanced it is This kind of growing was actually first discovered during the last half of the 20th century Its original purpose was as a method to study plant root systems These days however with indoor growing becoming a major industry that is changing Controlled grow environments are becoming an industry standard if not a requirement In many places where cannabis is grown water is also a highly expensive commodity This form of growing uses the least possible water and nutrients necessary for a healthy plant In an industry that is becoming more energy and water efficient by the moment this in and of itself is noteworthy If not worthy of adoption
