

Problem

An apparatus for measuring thermal conductivity employs an electrical heater sandwiched between two identical samples of diameter 30 mm and length 60 mm, which are pressed between plates maintained at a uniform temperature $T_0 = 77^\circ\text{C}$ by a circulating fluid. A conducting grease is placed between all the surfaces to ensure good thermal contact. Differential thermocouples are imbedded in the samples with a spacing of 15 mm. The lateral sides of the samples are insulated to ensure one dimensional heat transfer through the samples.

(a) With two samples of SS316 in the apparatus, the heater draws 0.353A at 100 V, and the differential thermocouples indicate $\Delta T_1 = \Delta T_2 = 25.0^\circ\text{C}$. What is the thermal conductivity of the stainless steel sample material? What is the average temperature of the samples? Compare your result with the thermal conductivity value reported for this material in Table A.1.

Heat Mass Transfer 7th Solution :

Analytical Solutions for Transport Processes Günter Brenn, 2016-07-26 This book provides analytical solutions to a number of classical problems in transport processes i.e. in fluid mechanics heat and mass transfer Expanding computing power and more efficient numerical methods have increased the importance of computational tools However the interpretation of these results is often difficult and the computational results need to be tested against the analytical results making analytical solutions a valuable commodity Furthermore analytical solutions for transport processes provide a much deeper understanding of the physical phenomena involved in a given process than do corresponding numerical solutions Though this book primarily addresses the needs of researchers and practitioners it may also be beneficial for graduate students just entering the field
