Hernandez, 2022-09-13 Islamic architecture has enriched design with a wide variety of structural shapes including among others unique arches a wide variety of vaults and domes which allow for new forms to be developed This volume deals with the design of many types of buildings in Islamic countries including not only the better known public buildings like mosques mausoleums citadels and forts but also houses and gardens engineering works such as bridges and dams irrigation systems and many others which have also had a profound impact on society There is much to learn from past experiences to arrive at solutions that are environmentally sound and sustainable in the long term As conventional energy resources become scarce the Islamic design heritage can offer invaluable lessons on how to deal in an efficient manner with cases of hard and extreme environments

Traditional architecture and urban environments in most Islamic countries are now being eroded by overemphasis on a global type of architecture and city planning. Consequently many regions are losing their identity. The included research reviews these developments in the light of what the classical Islamic urban designs and architectures have to offer modern society. Books in Print Supplement, 2002 Traditional Islamic Principles of Built Environment Hisham

Mortada, 2003-12-16 Written with the non Muslim reader in mind this book analyses the principles and values established by Islamic tradition to govern the social and physical environments of Muslims. The picture of Islam that emerges from this work is of a way of life with social ideals. Relying on the Qur'an and Sunna the basic sources of Islamic law and using examples of the built environment of early Muslims in North Africa the Middle East Europe and Central Asia the author explains how following these ideals can create an urban environment that responds to social and environmental variables. Islamic views on the controversial issue of modernisation are also examined. This book will be of interest to people in the fields of urban planning architecture sociology anthropology housing and built environment as well as Islamic studies. Cities and Islamisms Bülent Batuman, 2020-12-21 This book sheds light on a particular facet of the link between politics and Islam through the analysis of the relationship between Islamism and the built environment. The relationship between Islam and politics has always been controversial yet it has possibly never been as controversial as it is at the time of writing. This new edited volume sets out to explore the interactions between Islamisms and the built environment through issues such as spatial negotiations between nation and Islam in the definition of national identity everyday spaces and the making of Islamic milieus the role of Islam in the making and or remaking of state ideology via architecture and urban planning the influence of globalization and transnational links on the spatial manifestations of Islamism and transnational architectural exchanges through global Islam. It expands on these issues through case studies analysing the role of the built environment and the urban realm as major media in the making of Islamist politics. The case studies incorporate manifestations in Muslim dominated countries including those where Islam has been at the heart of state ideology Pakistan and Brunei those with influential grassroots Islamist networks pre revolutionary Iran and Indonesia those that identify with Islam through global exchanges United Arab Emirates Kazakhstan and Turkey and countries where Islam is an increasingly significant reference utilized by political actors Algeria and Lebanon. This book will appeal to students and scholars of architecture urban studies and cultural studies as well as those interested in the social and political aspects of the built environment. Faith and the Built Environment Suha Özkan, 1996 Islamic Environmental Systems Engineering S. Muslim Environmentalisms Anna M. Gade, 2019-08-20 How might understandings of environmentalism and the environmental humanities shift by incorporating Islamic perspectives? In this book Anna M. Gade explores the religious and cultural foundations of Islamic environmentalisms. She blends textual and ethnographic study to offer a comprehensive and interdisciplinary account of the legal, ethical, social and empirical principles underlying Muslim commitments to the earth. Muslim Environmentalisms shows how diverse Muslim communities and schools of thought have addressed ecological questions for the sake of this world and the world to come. Gade draws on a rich spectrum of materials: scripture, jurisprudence, science, art and social and political engagement as well as fieldwork in Indonesia and Southeast Asia. The book brings together case studies in disaster management, educational programs, international development, conservation projects, religious ritual and performance and Islamic law to rethink key theories. Gade shows that the Islamic tradition leads us to see the environment as an ethical idea moving beyond the established frameworks of both nature and crisis. Muslim Environmentalisms models novel approaches to the study of religion and environment from a humanistic perspective, reinterpreting issues at the intersection of numerous academic disciplines to propose a postcolonial and global understanding of environment in terms of consequential relations.

Traditional Islamic Environmentalism

Tarik M. Quadir, 2013-09-16 This work examines the relevance of traditional Islamic thought and practices for a lasting solution to the current environmental crisis. Quadir describes how Seyyed Hossein Nasr challenges Muslims to reclaim their traditional intellectual and Sufi heritage as powerful means toward a most thoughtful approach to the crisis. In so doing, Nasr urges us to take a critical look at the consequences of the worldviews generated by modern science and technology and offers bold solutions for a more caring relationship between man and nature. The book argues that only a revival of the traditional worldview which perceives all entities of nature as signs of God can effectively respond to the crisis our planet faces.
