Advocacy And Competition Policy:

The Limits of Competition Policy A. E. Rodriguez, Ashok Menon, 2010-01-01 What the authors offer is a thoroughgoing analysis clearly demonstrating that whatever economic path developing countries pursue imposing Western style antitrust regimes will engender uncertainty chill economic behaviour and foster an unhealthy climate for business They employ the influential error cost methodology to appraise the performance of competition policy and to show how such a policy creates irresolvable tensions in fragile economies with weak institutions economies characterized by informal rules of business practice long standing symbiotic business state relationships and unpredictable state action They mount a powerful critique of the arguments of neo institutionalists who fail to recognize the vulnerable nature of emerging market economies and competition advocates who presume to stand ready and vigilant to enforce competition policy on state entities

Competition Policy for the New Era Tembinkosi Bonakele, Eleanor M. Fox, Liberty Mncube, 2017 By bringing together analysis from well known scholars from both developed and developing countries the chapters in this book offer a thoughtful precise and relevant analysis of competition policy in BRICS and developing countries

De-monopolization And Competition Policy In Post-communist Economies Ben Slay, 2019-03-07 Even in developed capitalist economies markets function poorly without regulation by competitive forces The countries that once were part of the Eastern bloc are introducing market forces into industries created according to the monopolistic logic of central planning so that competition policy plays an important role in the transition to capitalism This interdisciplinary study examines how barriers to the development of competitive markets and competition policy are being overcome in Russia Poland Hungary and Mongolia A group of U S Russian and East European specialists explores the institutions and programs of competition policy as well as its role in the overall post Communist transition Providing a complete comparative picture of the development of competition policy in a broad cross section of formerly socialist countries the contributors consider the extent of the post Communist monopoly problem as well as progress in de monopolization

Competition Policy and Resource Utilization David Oluwadare Adetoro, 2016-04-26 This book examines the extent to which competition law and policy could be employed to promote the efficient allocation of resources in resource dependent developing economies Its background inquiry into competition policy and the analysis of economic problems of resource dependent developing economies inspired by global competition trends in the United States and Europe provide an indispensable framework for understanding competition policy and current attitudes to regulation in a liberalised developing economy The book provides a systematic exposition of some of the problems associated with resource dependent economies and the implications for competition and what kinds of conduct in which firms can and cannot engage In addition to building on basic competition and antitrust concepts it offers insights into some prevailing problems which include the issue of resource curse rent seeking corruption and abusive business practices among others Their examination here is aligned with scrutiny of the characteristics of developing countries in contrast to developed countries Nigeria is taken as a proxy for resource dependent developing countries The book also determines whether competition law and policy could be used as a tool for addressing competition problems that may exist in resource dependent developing countries This book provides meaningful material for both undergraduate and graduate business school programs In addition it will be of great interest to lawyers historians economists sociologists and policy makers in both government and business who wish to understand competition issues in a clear and rigorous way in developing economies

Competition Policy, Deregulation, and Modernization in Latin America Moisés Naím, Joseph S. Tulchin, 1999 Providing one of the first studies to explore the topic the authors trace the development of competition policy in Latin America where that policy stands today and how it may be reconceptualized and deployed as a tool for consolidating the region's economic future

Ex Post Economic Evaluation of Competition Policy Fabienne

Ilzkovitz,2020-05-18 Competition authorities are increasingly interested in understanding the impact of their activities on markets and consumers The goal is to improve competition policy rules and decision making practices and to get robust evidence on the benefits of competition and competition policy for society as a whole Discussions with competition authorities practitioners and academics have shown the need to take stock of the experience gained in this field by the European Commission and to present it in an easily accessible way The studies collected in this volume prepared by senior Commission officials and competition policy experts range from the ex post evaluation of specific policy interventions to the assessment of the broader impact of competition policy The issues and topics examined include the following objectives and scope of evaluations by the European Commission description of counterfactual evaluation techniques used conditions for a successful ex post evaluation of a competition policy intervention a wide selection of individual cases covering a variety of economic sectors applications in merger control antitrust and State aid direct benefits of competition policy interventions for consumers deterrent effects of such interventions on market participants and macroeconomic outcomes in terms of job creation productivity and GDP growth This matchless book assembles within a single volume all that is needed for competition policy analysts and practitioners to undertake ex post economic evaluations While its collection of state of the art ex post evaluation studies has a clear value for competition authorities it is sure to be welcomed as well by competition law practitioners in the private sector who will greatly appreciate the effort made to cast a critical eye on decisions taken in the past Moreover it allows for addressing some of the new challenges facing competition policymakers Fabienne Ilzkovitz is Principal Advisor responsible for the economic evaluation of competition policy within the Directorate General for Competition of the European Commission and since 2014 she has coordinated various ex post evaluation projects in the Directorate General She is also Associate Professor of Economics in the Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management at the Universit Libre de Bruxelles Belgium Adriaan Dierx is Senior Expert on ex post economic evaluation within the Directorate General for Competition of the European Commission He has managed a number of studies aimed at assessing the economic impact of the European Commission s competition policy interventions Competition Policy in Regulated Industries Paulina Beato,Inter-American Development Bank,2002 Annotation The Bank continues its search for new ways to improve the efficiency of infrastructure services in emerging economies by increasing competitiveness and promoting regional integration Examples are drawn from Latin America and specific European industries There is no index Distributed in the US by The Johns Hopkins University Press Annotation 2004 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com Competition Policy in East Asia Erlinda M. Medalla,2005 This edited collection draws together papers on competition policy that were presented at the twenty eighth conference of the Pacific Area Forum on Trade and Development PAFTAD held in Manila on 16th to 18th September 2002 Competition Law and Policy in Latin America Paulo Burnier da Silveira,2017-04-15 The Latin American countries both individually and as a community are poised to become increasingly important in the international recognition and enforcement of competition law Recent policy developments in the region are particularly instructive on cross border mergers and international cartel investigations Although this book's focus is on Latin America its in depth exploration of areas such as information exchange among competition authorities compliance settlements and remedies are of great value and interest to competition lawyers and policymakers worldwide Including numerous recent cases and best practice indicators the contributors competition authority officials practitioners academics and economists cover such topics and issues as the following antitrust compliance programs competition advocacy bid rigging in public procurement predatory pricing use of indirect evidence in investigations shareholders damages claims relation between antitrust and intellectual property and merger control There are country specific chapters on particular developments in Argentina Brazil Chile Colombia Ecuador El Salvador Mexico and Paraguay Highlighting the importance of international competition regulatory cooperation this insightful book offers both practical guidance and food for thought to lawyers at national competition authorities corporate counsel and other competition law practitioners and academics

Competition Policy and Law in China, Hong Kong and Taiwan Mark Williams, 2005-09-08 This book provides a comprehensive guide to the competition regimes of China Hong Kong and Taiwan Chinese developments are placed in the context of the adoption of competition regimes by developing and transitional states worldwide and also in relation to the influence of trans national organisations on transitional states to adopt market based economic strategies The book adopts an inter disciplinary approach considering the political economic and legal issues relevant to competition policy adoption The paradoxical phenomenon of Communist mainland China seeking to adopt a pro competition law whilst capitalist Hong Kong refuses to do so is explained and contrasted with the successful Taiwanese adoption of a competition regime over a decade ago The underlying economic and political forces that have shaped this unusual matrix are discussed and analysed with a theoretical explanation offered for its consequences Competition Law and Development D. Daniel Sokol, Thomas K. Cheng, Ioannis Lianos, 2013-09-11 The vast majority of the countries in the world are developing countries there are only thirty four OECD Organisation for Economic Co operation and Development countries and yet there is a serious dearth of attention to developing countries in the international and comparative law scholarship which has been preoccupied with the United States and the European Union Competition Law and Development investigates whether or not the competition law and policy transplanted from Europe and the United States can be successfully implemented in the developing world or whether the developing world experience suggests a need for a different analytical framework The political and economic environment of developing countries often differs significantly from that of developed countries in ways that may have serious implications for competition law enforcement The need to devote greater attention to developing countries is also justified by the changing global economic reality in which developing countries especially China India and Brazil have emerged as economic powerhouses Together with Russia the so called BRIC countries have accounted for thirty percent of global economic growth since the term was coined in 2001 In this sense developing countries deserve more attention not because of any justifiable differences from developed countries in competition law enforcement either in theoretical or practical terms but because of their sheer economic heft This book the second in the Global Competition Law and Economics series provides a number of viewpoints of what competition law and policy mean both in theory and practice in a development context

Does EU Merger Control Discriminate Against Small Market Companies? Mika Oinonen, 2010-01-01 Although the question posed by the title of this book has generated considerable debate the essential issue remains open and largely blurred While some believe that there is no so called small market problem others discern discrimination against small market companies i.e. companies with a strong position in their home markets but a modest position in the European and global markets and a consequent need for changes in competition law The author of this enormously helpful work here sets the stage for meaningful discussion by analysing the EC Merger Regulation's objectives, economic foundations and application practice to present a reasoned view of the issues that can be considered relevant for such a discussion. Considering their effect on the small market problem, the author scrutinizes such factors as the following: the Commission's methodology for delineating relevant markets in merger assessments; unnecessary prohibition caused by overestimation of the market power of small market mergers; erroneous approval of cases that should actually be prohibited; impact of the so-called Harvard and Chicago schools of competition theory and their key policy implications; process-related alternative views of competition and new synthesizing approaches; relevant criteria for a proper analysis of market power; concentration measures and market shares; barriers to entry; price and profitability analyses; and product definition v geographic definition of markets. In a final chapter, the author presents some tentative conclusions, normative in nature, concerning the problem and the relevant issues relating to it. As the first in-depth analysis of the issues that are actually involved with its particular diagnosis of the assessment of market power in considering the relevant issues for the problem, this study brings into salience the terms of the debate on the problem and thus takes a giant step forward towards defining what needs to be done. Competition lawyers, policymakers and academics in Europe and elsewhere will find the discussion of great value.
