Agricultural Sciences Paper 1 November 2011 Memorandum:

Handbook of the International Political Economy of Governance Anthony Payne, Nicola Phillips, 2014-04-25 Since the 1990s many of the assumptions that anchored the study of governance in international political economy IPE have been shaken loose Reflecting on the intriguing and important processes of change that have occurred and are occurring

Saving More Than Seeds Catherine Phillips, 2016-04-01 Saving More Than Seeds advances understandings of seed people relations with particular focus on seed saving The practice of reusing and exchanging seeds provides foundation for food production and allows humans and seed to adapt together in dynamic socionatural conditions But the practice and its practitioners are easily taken for granted even as they are threatened by neoliberalisation Combining original ethnographic research with investigation of an evolving corporate seed order this book reveals seed saving not only as it occurs in fields and gardens but also as it associates with genebanking genetic engineering intellectual property rights and agrifood regulations Drawing on diverse social sciences literatures Phillips illustrates ongoing practices of thinking feeling and acting with seeds raising questions about what seed people relations should accomplish and how different ways of relating might be pursued to change collective futures

Food for All Uma Lele, Manmohan Agarwal, Brian C. Baldwin, Sambuddha Goswami, 2021-10-15 Many developing countries are falling behind sustainable development goals food and nutrition levels have deteriorated due to conflict climate change and the Covid pandemic while global ambitions for achieving sustainable food security and adequate nutrition have increased But what are the prospects of achieving sustainable healthy food for all What is the best response to concerns about growing differentiation among developing countries in terms of domestic agricultural and industrial performance How have global institutions established during the post World War Two period helped developing countries to deal with the past economic fallout of food fuel and financial crises Food for All explores how developments since these organizations were established have led to changes in the provision of international financial and technical assistance in support of the global food and agriculture system and how developing countries own efforts have helped transform them These developments and the increase in the number of global actors have expanded and complicated global governance presenting both opportunities for as well as challenges to the improvement of food systems This volume provides an analysis of the structure coordination and management of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO the International Fund for Agricultural Development IFAD and the World Food Programme WFP It also looks at the World Bank the largest international funder of policy advice and investment projects and CGIAR a leading funder of international agricultural research This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations

Federal Register, 2013 Civic Engagement in Food System Governance Alan R. Hunt, 2015-10-05 The local food movement is one of the most active of current civil engagement social movements This work presents primary evidence from over 900 documents interviews and participant observations and provides the first descriptive history of local food movement national policy achievements in the US from 1976 to 2013 and in the UK from 1991 to 2013 together with reviews of both the American and British local food movements It provides a US UK comparative context significantly updating earlier comparisons of American British and European farm and rural policies The comparative perspective shows that over time more effective strategies for national policy change required social movement building strategies such as collaborative policy coalitions capacity building for smaller organizations and policy entrepreneurship for joining together separate rural farming food and health interests In contrast narrowly defined single issue campaigns often undermined long term policy change even if short term wins emerged By profiling interviews of American and English movement leaders policymakers and funders the book demonstrates that democratic participation in food policy is best supported when funders incentivize groups to work together and overcome their differences

Global Agriculture and the American Farmer

Kimberly Ann Elliott, 2017-06-27 The United States is one of the world's largest producers and exporters of a range of agricultural commodities and the largest provider of foreign assistance so US policies have big effects on global food security and other global public goods linked to agriculture On the positive side of the ledger President Obama created the Feed the Future aid initiative to promote agricultural development in poorer countries as a tool to achieve the global goals of ending hunger and extreme poverty which are mostly rural But that generosity is undercut by US support for farmers that distorts global markets and ignores negative spillovers for the rest of the world In this book Elliott focuses on three policy areas that are particularly damaging for developing countries traditional agricultural subsidy and trade policies that support the incomes of American farmers at the expense of farmers elsewhere the biofuels mandate which in its current form increases market volatility while doing little if anything to mitigate climate change and weak regulation of antibiotic use in livestock which contributes to the global spread of drug resistant super bugs While noting that broad reforms are needed to fix these problems Elliott also identifies practical steps that US policymakers could take in the relatively short run to improve farm policies for American taxpayers and consumers as well as for the poor and vulnerable in developing countries

Them and Us Philippe Legrain, 2020-10-15 Winner of the Diversity Inclusion and Equality Award at the Business Book Awards 2021 Underpinned by scholarship entertaining Legrain's book fizzles with practical ideas The Economist The beauty of diversity is that innovation often comes about by serendipity As Scott Page observed one day in 1904 at the World Fair in St Louis the ice cream vendor ran out of cups Ernest Hami a Syrian waffle vendor in the booth next door rolled up some waffles to make cones and the rest is history Filled with data anecdotes and optimism Them and Us is an endorsement of cultural differences at a time of acute national introspection By every measure from productivity to new perspectives immigrants bring something beneficial to society If patriotism means wanting the best for your country we should be welcoming immigrants with open arms
