Albania And The European Union The Tumultuous Journey Towards Integration And Accession Library Of European Studies:

Albania and the European Union Mirela Bogdani, John Loughlin, 2007-02-23 When will Albania join the EU Will accession help Albania to achieve prosperity stability and prosperity And what factors are helping it towards this end and what factors are holding it back An original study of Albania and its relations with the EU this is the first book to identify and analyse the problems of the country as it moves towards membership of the Union It explores the political economic and social transformations needed to make Albanian membership possible The authors highlight the enormous democratic changes that have occurred in post communist Albania as well as the many obstacles that still remain This balanced and objective assessment will be an essential resource for everyone interested in the history and future of the Balkans and the EU

Turkey and the Dilemma of EU Accession Mirela Bogdani, 2010-10-30 What impact do issues of culture religion and identity have on Turkey's chances of joining the EU Are religious and cultural factors per se the primary obstacle to Turkish accession or is it their interaction with other factors that is prolonging and complicating Turkey's progress towards EU membership Mirela Bogdani here analyses the complex range of issues that are influencing the process of Turkey's accession to the EU assesses the positions of different European actors towards Turkey's pursuit of EU membership and identifies the reasons for the European opposition She also analyses the issues of political Islam multiculturalism and the compatibility of Islam with democracy This book will be an important resource for anyone interested in EU politics EU enlargement policy EU Turkey relations the relationship between religion and politics political Islam multiculturalism and supranational integration

From Policy to Implementation in the European Union Simona Milio, 2010-09-30 It has become apparent that a clear gap exists between European Union EU level policymaking and Member State implementation Previous research has neglected to fully define factors that encourage or prevent implementation processes and instead focused on upstream decision making processes or downstream effects of policy Simona Milio here proposes a shift in analytical focus towards policy implementation since this constitutes a crucial common pathway that determines whether a policy actually becomes effective or not EU implementation deficits appear to be influenced by problems related to the multi level structure of European policy making Successful implementation will only occur if relevant policy actors at national and sub national levels are persuaded to co operate with EU policy goals Furthermore this co operation is not possible unless all parties manage the complex policy networks and implementation regimes responsible for putting European policies into force Within this framework this book answers three important questions 1 Is the EU multi level governance system weakening the implementation of policies 2 Are national and sub national governments capable of dealing with the challenges imposed by multi level governance 3 Which factors account for differences in implementation performance among Member States In order to answer these questions Simona Milio's research explores the influence of two variables on implementation processes Administrative Capacity and

Political Stability Cohesion Policy is chosen as the focus of this study since it has demonstrated a dramatically different implementation pace among EU Member States over the past 20 years Three EU Member States are chosen to test the hypothesis Italy appears to be a pertinent example given its constant struggle to conform to EU directives and to implement Cohesion Policy Spain is chosen since in contrast to the Italian scenario it represents the best performing Member State in terms of implementation Finally Poland is studied as a case where a shift from centralization towards decentralization has occurred in order to implement Cohesion Policy and integrate the multi level governance system The Process of Politics in Europe Katja Seidel, 2010-07-30 With the launch of the European integration process after World War II a new type of administration emerged which was neither an international organisation nor a national administration Drawing on extensive archival records and oral history interviews this book is the first comprehensive study of the High Authority of the European Coal and Steel Community ECSC and the Commission of the European Economic Community EEC and their personnel the European civil servants This administrative elite was to have a vital influence on the European integration process devising and administering key European policies such as the Common Agricultural Policy Katja Seidel combines administrative and biographical history and provides significant insights into the origins of Europe's supranational institutions and the administrative cultures that developed in them She effectively shows how European administrative elites and supranational administrations are vital to understanding the process of politics in Europe This book will be invaluable for scholars of politics history and the development of European integration Securing Europe Fotios Moustakis, Tracey German, 2009-07-30 The new model of intervention that emerged from Bosnia and Kosovo signalled a revolution in International Affairs The crises in the Balkans revealed a new division of labour amongst Western states US forces are primarily responsible for military action while European partners are more committed to Peace Support Operations and the subsequent building of security communities via integration into the NATO and EU This model has been evidenced in the post 9 11 war on terror Here Moustakis and German examine the emergence and practice of this new Western model of intervention which combines hard military and soft peace approaches and assess its success and failures in the light of recent operations in Bosnia Kosovo Chechnya Georgia and Nagorno Karabakh The fragile democratisation processes unfolding in the Balkans and the Caucasus offer important insights into the challenges of securing volatile regions and peripheries

Kosovo James Ker-Lindsay, 2009-05-01 In 2008 Kosovo declared independence from Serbia Was this the final chapter in the break up of Yugoslavia and the successful conclusion to the Balkan Wars of the 1990s Or was it just one more wrong turn in the path to stability in the Balkans which has set a dangerous precedent for regional conflict throughout the world When the UN Security Council authorised negotiations to determine the final status of Kosovo in October 2005 most observers confidently expected the Serbian province to become an independent state by the end of the following year However the process did not go as planned After two years of discussions conducted by two different sets of mediators the two sides had still not reached an agreement With the risk of violence in Kosovo increasing Western leaders appeared to be left with no choice but to accept a unilateral declaration of independence despite the destabilising effects that this might have on regional and international security James Ker Lindsay here charts the course of Kosovo's path to independence He points out the serious flaws in the way the talks were conducted and shows how the discussions became caught up in renewed East West tensions This clear and perceptive account will be essential reading for anyone with an interest in the recent history of the Balkans or in international conflict resolution

Integrating the Balkans Máire Braniff, 2011-06-30 Emerging from a decade of violent ethnic and inter state conflict during the 1990s the countries of the Western Balkans entered a phase of rebuilding and reconciliation Due to the key role played by the EU in the region's rebuilding efforts Integrating the Balkans explores this institution's considerable efforts to influence and shape the nature of state society and foreign relations as it utilised the promise of membership as a vital tool to exert its influence The picture that materialises is one of the EU's discernible but often contradictory impact as it offers the carrot of EU membership in the hope that the legacies of the past conflict can be re evaluated re imagined and transformed By also analysing the conditions that come with EU aid such as co operation with the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia ICTY Maire Braniff offers an extremely important perspective for all those involved in the study and practice of the processes of European integration and post conflict resolution

Turkey and European Security Defence Policy Çigdem Üstün, 2010-11-30 Security perceptions in Europe have changed drastically in the last decade due to the effects of globalisation As a result the EU's relations with Turkey and the security policies of the EU and Turkey have become increasingly important In light of recent developments not least the controversial issue of Turkey's EU candidacy this book attempts to answer two main questions Is there a gap between EU and Turkish security cultures and To what extent is Turkey an advantage for Europe Cigdem Ustun here examines Turkey's crucial role with NATO and details its relations and priorities in the Mediterranean the Middle East and the Black Sea regions comparing these with EU relations and priorities This comparison illustrates the advantages and disadvantages of including Turkey in European security policies and will be essential reading for all those involved in security studies and policy

Electoral Violence in the Western Balkans Michal Mochtak, 2017-07-20 Since the end of the Cold War there have been a number of cases where the democratization process has been turbulent or even violent Addressing electoral violence its evolution and impact in the Western Balkans this book explores the conflict logic of election and tries to understand its basic patterns Two decades of electoral competition in the region are analysed to identify an interesting evolution of electoral violence in terms of forms actors motivations and dynamics By identifying the potential drivers of electoral violence and explaining the escalation and stimulus of violence related events the author combines a theoretical approach with original data to emphasise the variability of the phenomenon and its evolution in the region The book will appeal to students and scholars of post communist Europe and democratisation processes and the Western Balkans in course Diplomacy language English abstract The aim of this research is to develop a visceral understanding of the politics behavior of Albanian state toward the approval and the complex road of Entering the European Union To come across comparison of Albania with developed member countries in European Union to for a better contemporary equality drive adopted by modern nations All the research is proposed to be conducted within the normal period of 3 4 years full time study The proposed research is planned to be library based with key resources such as legal political agreement reports theoretical quantitative data collected via cases journal articles but expanded into other sources such as governmental institutions courts and socio legal statistics centers based in political studies Its aim is to be combined with empirical data such as interviews of governmental representative different academics politicians public relations specialists from European Union EU council Albanian Government and such There have been evidences of corruption drugs human trafficking and poverty that are strong indicators of the slow progress of Albanian state into the European Union integration and conducting statistical research into those categories will shed light in so many unanswered questions An analysis focused into rules in books rules in European Law approach versus EU law in action combined with a critical doctrinal overview focused mainly in deployment of techniques such as literary criticism and political perspectives European Integration and Transformation in the Western Balkans Arolda Elbasani,2013 The book investigates the scope and limitations of the transformative power of EU enlargement in the Western Balkans The extension of EU enlargement policy to the Western Balkans has generated high expectations that enlargement will regulate democratic institution building and foster reform much as it did in Central and Eastern Europe However there is very little research on whether and how unfavourable domestic conditions might mitigate the transformative power of the EU This volume investigates the role of domestic factors identifying stateness as the missing link between the assumed transformative power of the EU and the actual capacity to adopt EU rules across the region Including chapters on Croatia Serbia Macedonia Albania Kosovo and Bosnia Herzegovina leading scholars in the field offer up to date comparative analysis of key areas of institutional and policy reform including state bureaucracy rule of law electoral management environmental governance cooperation with the International Court of Justice economic liberalization and foreign policy Looking to the future and the implications for policy change European Integration and Transformation in the Western Balkans provides a new theoretical and empirical focus on this little understood area The book will be of interest to scholars and students of EU politics comparative democratisation post communist transitions and Balkan area studies

Albania and Europe in a Political Regard Klodiana Beshku,Orinda Malltezi,2013-09-11 Albania and Europe in a Political

Regard is a multidisciplinary work which aims to develop different points of view in the field of social sciences In this sense it is not by chance that the chapters cover a variety of different disciplines like history sociology political science and philosophy These chapters stand alone and at the same time create a whole network of relationships between Albania and Europe An important element of this work is its multidimensional considerations of Europe it is conceptualised on a number of different levels throughout the chapters sometimes as a continent sometimes as an organization and other times as a leader In some chapters Europe is understood in terms of European integration or European civilization In others Europe is simply the idea of the continent and its reflections in the Albanian society The main axis that drives the chapters is the idea of Albania in relation to Europe how this relationship is understood how it has worked in the past and how it works today The idea of Europe in this book is conceptualised and explored in a number of different ways from the idea of European modernity to a soft power from a construction of identity to a model of behaviour according to each author s varied point of view and discipline of studies All the nine chapters in this volume utilise different ways of thinking and approaches but are all connected by a common axis that is Albania and Europe in a Political Regard

The Future of European Union Integration of Western Balkan Countries Fjona Isufi, 2020

Since the fall of the Iron Curtain and the breakup of Yugoslavia a lot has happened and changed in the Region of the Western Balkans Something remains constant though it is a heated zone of geopolitical interplay among the actors of the region but also an area of great interests coming from the bigger players of International Affairs United States and Russia The European Union stands in between Countries in the region are predominantly oriented towards the integration into the Western security and economic regimes such as EU and NATO alliance In this thesis my aim is to make known the integration of the Western Balkan Countries towards the EU Recent talks were halted again between the EU Albania and Northern Macedonia On the other side we have a constant attempt for dialogue between the newborn Albanian State of Kosovo and Serbia to solve their long held disputes so they could proceed with integration Additionally Russia could have a lot to say of influence which could affect the regional Slavic populations The approach of my thesis will be a qualitative comparative case study predicting respective state behavior and integration path of the respective countries of the region By analyzing the cases of Western Balkan countries Albania Northern Macedonia and Serbia a thorough observation will go to the enlargement methods and philosophy of the EU What other confounding variables can affect the next round of EU enlargement It is a topic with great analytical interest and the existing research does not account for the specifics of the current enlargement developments Long after the Maastricht era enlargement is stuck again in a new wave far from the supra nationalism assumptions and it is
