Sanders,1991-09-30 This first comparative study of the political communication processes in the United States and France brings together researchers from both countries to examine differences and similarities between the media's involvement in each nation's 1988 presidential election campaign. The book analyzes the construction of mediated political reality in the two countries and concludes that French media do not concentrate more on policy issues than do American media. The authors discuss television news and newsmagazine coverage of the overall campaigns and their particular political debates, television commercials and broadcasts and political posters. Also assessed are the interactions between party candidate presentations of political reality and voter interpretations of that reality. The contributions are grouped into four sections: Comparing Politics in Two Cultures which includes discussions of constructing a political communication project and the theoretical dimensions of the studies; Mediated Campaign Messages which contains analyses of reality construction, political advertising and political broadcasts; Media Coverage of the Campaigns and Implications of Mediated Campaigning which covers the effects of television broadcasts on voter perception and possibilities for improving the electoral process. This work is a useful resource for students, scholars and politicians interested in political communication and comparative politics as well as for journalists and members of the media.

Techno Style Martin Pesch, Markus Weisbeck, 1995. In all its forms from hardcore to trance, Techno has moved from its small underground club beginnings to connect with the pulse of today's youth. Moreover, Techno has moved beyond the music to create its own distinct cultural identity. This book charts the development of the Techno movement and celebrates the graphics and fashion that it has given rise to. Works of Peter Saville, The Designers Republic, KM7 and Jaffa, The Unknown are recorded. Accordingly, an overall synthesis is presented of a music form which like Punk in the 70s and Rock in the 60s has come to mark the age.

Authorship and Appropriation Paulina Kewes, 1998. Authorship and Appropriation is the first full-length study of the cultural and economic status of playwriting in the later seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries and argues that the period was a decisive one in the transition from Renaissance conceptions of authorship towards modern ones. In Shakespeare's time, the creative originality and independence of voice had been little prized. Playwrights had appropriated materials from earlier writings with little censure, while the practice of collaboration among dramatists had been taken for granted. Paulina Kewes demonstrates that in the decades following the Restoration, those attitudes were challenged by new conceptions of dramatic art which required authors to be the sole begetters of their works. This book explores a series of developments in the theatrical marketplace which increased both the rewards and the prestige of the dramatist and shows the Restoration period to have been one of serious and animated debate about the methods of playwriting. Against that background, Kewes offers a fresh account of the formation of the canon of English drama, revealing how the moderns, Dryden, Otway, Lee, Behn and then their successors, Congreve, Vanbrugh and Farquhar, acquired an esteem equal, even superior, to their illustrious predecessors, Shakespeare, Jonson and Fletcher.
