Intimacy is what distinguishes those who are dear to us from those who are simply near This issue of Kinfolk explores the balance between our contradictory cravings for both secure and stable relationships and the freedom to follow our hearts our sexual desires and our need to be whole without the help of another We take psychotherapist Esther Perel as our lodestar It's a role she's played for the clients at her New York practice and for millions of others through her books and the podcast Where Should We Begin which offers the chance to listen in on anonymous couples during therapy sessions Perel's approach has always been to challenge the fundamental contradictions in how we think about romantic intimacy Is it really feasible to expect one person to fulfill our every need for the rest of our life In Issue Thirty Four we experience the thrill of people and places spilling their secrets Amaryllis Fox an ex CIA spy who spent her 20s negotiating in some of the world's most dangerous conflict zones cracks open the mysteries of the Clandestine Service and what they've taught her about peace We also present the result of our own months long international operation To gain access to an art deco royal palace in Gujarat India As the nights close in our contributors look beyond this world and into other more mysterious ones They mull over the popularity of horoscopes and what to eat at funerals Elsewhere a photo essay by Gustav Almestl explores the solitary indulgence of comfort foods so tied to our most intimate of spaces our homes and so appealing during break ups
