Neighbourhood Policing Carina O'Reilly, 2024-01-30 Neighbourhood policing has been called the cornerstone of British policing but changing demand pressures on funding and cyclical political support mean that this approach is under considerable pressure The book investigates whether this UK model intended to build confidence and legitimacy has been successful and assesses its future

Policing for London Marian FitzGerald, 2013-06-17 This title presents the findings of the Policing for London project an independent investigation into policing in London in the wake of the death of Stephen Lawrence and the subsequent MacPherson Report The main aim of the project was to identify the factors the police in London needed to consider in order to deliver an equitable and effective service to the people of London in the 21st century The book sets out the findings of this project in terms of what Londoners wanted and needed for their policing whether the Metropolitan Police was aware of the public's expectations whether they met these expectations and to examine how policing in London could be improved in the future It also identifies a number of key policy issues in the light of its findings for example in relation to the centralisation or devolution of decision making specialisation of function performance management policing philosophies and partnership and the need to regain the confidence of ethnic minority groups In identifying the key issues facing policing in London this book provides a vital blueprint for addressing the question of police reform in the country as a whole at a time of intense debate and concern about the future role of the police Effective Policing? S. Kirby,2013-09-20 This book provides a unique insight into the way policing is performed By embracing both organizational management issues as well as operational police business such as crime reduction and detection firearms disorder organised crime and terrorism it provides a comprehensive overview of contemporary police theory and practice Catalogue of British Official Publications Not Published by HMSO. ,2001 The New Managerialism and Public Service Professions I. Kirkpatrick,S. Ackroyd,R. Walker,2004-11-23 The New Managerialism and Public Service Professionals is a fresh and insightful analysis of the changes that have taken place in the UK public sector over the past twenty years Unlike many other recent accounts it is not assumed that these policy goals were always implemented or that new approaches to the management of services are necessarily effective Drawing on an extensive review of major published research it considers developments in three areas the National Health Service social services and housing This analysis reveals marked differences in the way the professions responded to change and draws attention to some significant costs associated with restructuring Probanda Brief Mark Harron,2005-11 A modern perspective on the development and diversification of volunteer and community policing in the United Kingdom Looking at themes of diversity and ethnicity as they relate to police services in a modern and ever developing multi racial society The author tentatively suggests that institutionalised racism prejudice operates outside of the realms of colour or ethnicity and that police services would benefit widely from taking leaps into the unknown in terms of diversification and new ways of recruiting The author sets the scene for the challenges of recruitment and the engagement of an ethnically diverse policing system Regulating Policing Edward Cape,Richard Young,2008-09-24 The Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 PACE was an innovative and controversial attempt to regulate the investigation of crime Two decades on it now operates in a very different context than in the mid 1980s Whilst legal advice has become established as a basic right of those arrested and detained by the police the police service has become increasingly professionalised but also increasingly driven by government objectives and targets The Crown Prosecution Service originally established to separate prosecution from investigation is now becoming involved in the investigative process with the power to make charge decisions Although the basic structure of PACE has survived almost continual revision and amendment has resulted in a markedly different creature than that which was originally enacted In 2007 the government embarked on a further review of PACE promising to re focus the investigation and evidence gathering processes to deliver 21st century policing powers to meet the demands of 21st century crime This collection brings together some of the leading academic experts police officers and defence lawyers who have a wealth of experience of researching and working with the PACE provisions They examine the critical questions and issues surrounding PACE providing unique and exciting insights into the demands and challenges of the regulation of policing Contributors David Dixon Professor of Law University of New South Wales Authorise and Regulate A Comparative Perspective on the Rise and Fall of a Regulatory Strategy Andrew Sanders Professor of Criminal Law and Criminology University of Manchester Can Coercive Powers be Effectively Controlled or Regulated John Coppen Police Federation spokesperson on police custody issues PACE A View From the Custody Suite John Long Assistant Chief Constable Avon and Somerset Constabulary Keeping PACE Some Front Line Policing Perspectives Barbara Wilding Chief Constable South Wales Police Tipping the Scales of Justice A Review of the Impact of PACE on the Police Due Process and the Search for the Truth 1984 2006 Richard Young Professor of Law and Policy Research University of Bristol Street Policing After PACE The Drift to Summary Justice Ed Cape Professor of Criminal Law and Practice University of the West of England PACE Then and Now 21 Years of Re balancing Anthony Edwards Leading criminal defence solicitor The Role of Defence Lawyers in a Re balanced System John Jackson Professor of Public Law Queen s University Belfast Police and Prosecutors after PACE The Road from Case Construction to Case Disposal Criminology Chris Hale, Keith Hayward, Azrini Wahidin, Emma Wincup, 2013-06-13 Criminology is a broad ranging and stimulating introduction that is ideal for undergraduates approaching the subject for the first time Each chapter is written by an expert in their field and includes a range of learning features designed to help students engage with the material covered Justice of the Peace ,2001
