Abstract

This study examined the relationships between L2 learners' anxiety, self-confidence and oral performance. The participants were 132 Korean college students who enrolled the English conversation classes in 2004. Questionnaires related to anxiety and self-confidence were given to the students and their oral performances were assessed in terms of LATEFL's criteria. Factor analysis indicated that communication anxiety, criticism anxiety, examination anxiety were the main components of anxiety, while situational confidence, communication confidence, language potential confidence and language ability confidence were the components of self-confidence for Korean learners of English. The results of the analyses showed that there were significant effects of anxiety and self-confidence on L2 learners' oral performance: The higher anxious the students were about speaking English, the lower scores they gained on their oral performance; The higher confident they were, the higher oral performance they showed. The correlation analysis of anxiety/confidence and the elements of oral performance showed that confidence was more closely correlated with the L2 learner's attitude and interaction including communication strategies and social conversation skills of oral performance, while anxiety was more negatively correlated with the L2 learner's range of oral performance such as vocabulary and grammar.

1. Introduction

More and more attention has been drawn to the individual variations in language learning since 1970s. Individual variations can be attributed to cognitive and affective sides of language learning. Accordingly, both cognitive and affective sides of language learning may be considered in order to achieve successful language learning and teaching. However, actually, until now, research and attention have been concentrated on cognitive aspects of the learner.

Affect in language learning involves various aspects of emotion, feeling, attitude of the learner. Affective sides of language learners may influence the learners' language learning processes, positively or negatively. Thus, a right understanding of affect in foreign language learning can lead to more effective language learning and teaching.

Anxiety is one of the most negatively influential affective variables, which prevents learners from successfully learning a foreign language. It makes language learners nervous and afraid, which may contribute to poor aural/oral performance. One of the personal factors, which are highly correlated with anxiety, is self-confidence. Self-confidence involves judgments and evaluations about one's own value and worth. Self-confidence can be negatively influenced when the language learner thinks of oneself as deficient and limited in the target language. On the other hand,

Written for students encountering the topic for the first time this is a clear and practical introduction to second language acquisition SLA It explains in non technical language how a second language is acquired what the second language learner needs to know and why some learners are more successful than others The textbook introduces in a step by step fashion a range of fundamental concepts such as SLA in adults and children in formal and informal learning contexts and in diverse socio cultural settings and takes an interdisciplinary approach encouraging students to consider SLA from linguistic psychological and social perspectives Each chapter contains a list of key terms a summary and a range of graded exercises suitable for self testing or class discussion Providing a solid foundation in SLA this book is set to become the leading introduction to the field for students of linguistics psychology and education and trainee language teachers Language Arts in Asia Christina DeCoursey, 2012-01-17 This volume is the first of a series contributing to the academic study of Language Arts as an English language teaching paradigm Language Arts has been widely used in native English speaking countries including Australia and New Zealand Its recent adoption into the second language teaching curriculum in Hong Kong as well as similar initiatives within secondary and tertiary education in mainland China enhances its interest to scholars studying second language teaching and learning in Asian contexts This book offers many papers and discussions of interest to teachers language professionals scholars and administrators Its chapters explore current topics in Language Arts research including trends in the rapprochement of stylistics and linguistics teaching approaches and learning outcomes At the same time they offer diverse theoretical and methodological approaches of interest to the practitioner and policy maker as well as the researcher The value of this volume lies particularly in strengthening the theoretical and methodological foundations of Language Arts The use of literature and the arts in humanist education has a long history within Europe being traditionally appreciated for its ability to transform leaders instill finer sensibilities and question social ills In its postcolonial incarnations as the traditional subject areas were informed by critical and linguistic theories language arts subject areas were less often used as they were understood to offer opportunities to analyse their functions as apology for leaders coopting the young and pacifying dissent but less often used to teach second language skills Language Arts curricula arising since the 1980s have increasingly embraced authentic voices styles and genres Contemporary Language Arts curricula use literature to teach reading based and communication skills in conjunction with critical and creative thinking The movement of English language education beyond native English shores has placed Language Arts into a World Englishes frame and therefore its curricula have included the teaching ethics civics and intercultural sensitivity The explosion of media and digital communications of the 1990s led to the adoption of media literacy as a crucial Language Arts skill As digital innovations continue to impact the teaching of English Language Arts has adopted multiliteracies These developments are represented in the papers included in this volume New Media Communication Skills for Engineers and IT Professionals: Trans-National and Trans-Cultural Demands Patil, Arun,Eijkman, Henk,Bhattacharyya, Ena,2012-03-31 The communication demands expected of today s engineers and information technology professionals immersed in multicultural global enterprises are unsurpassed New Media Communication Skills for Engineers and IT Professionals Trans National and Trans Cultural Demands provides new and experienced practitioners academics employers researchers and students with international examples of best practices in new as well as traditional communication skills in increasingly trans cultural digitalized hypertext environments This book will be a valuable addition to the existing literature and resources in communication skills in both organizational and higher educational settings giving readers comprehensive insights into the proficient use of a broad range of communication critical for effective professional participation in the globalized and digitized communication environments that characterize current engineering and IT workplaces Effects of L2 Affective Factors on Self-Assessment of Speaking Noriko Iwamoto,2015 This study was an investigation of the validity of students self assessment of L2 oral performance the influences of L2 affective variables on their self assessment bias and the degree to which the influences of L2 affective variables differ between high and low proficiency learners The participants were 389 science majors from two private Japanese universities A questionnaire was administered using items based on the Attitude Motivational Test Battery Gardner 1985 the Foreign Language Classroom Anxiety Scale Horwitz et al 1986 the Rosenberg Self Esteem Scale Rosenberg 1965 Sick and Nagasaka s 2000 Willingness to Communicate Scale and items designed to measure motivation adapted from Gardner Tremblay and Masgoret 1997 Yashima 2002 Irie 2005 and Matsuoka 2006 A factor analysis identified seven factors in the questionnaire data Self Esteem L2 Speaking Anxiety L2 Willingness to Communicate Attitude Toward Learning to Speak English L2 Speaking Motivational Intensity Desire to Learn to Speak English and L2 Speaking Self Confidence The scales were further validated using the Rasch rating scale model Student oral interviews were recorded and rated by five English teachers using an oral assessment scale based on the Kanda English Proficiency Test Bonk Ockey 2003 Immediately after the interviews were completed the participants were asked to consider how they perceived their own speaking performance and they rated their own performance from their memory using the same oral assessment scale that the teacher raters used The oral assessment scale included the descriptions of the oral performances that match each level The participants read the descriptions of each level and chose a level that they thought matched their own performance The study produced four main findings First a multi faceted Rasch analysis revealed that the participants rated their own L2 speaking more severely than the teacher raters and that the students self assessments were neither reliable nor consistent Second self assessment bias measures were calculated and used to test a hypothesized structural model of how affective factors influenced self assessment bias The hypothesized model showed poor fit to the data possibly due to the poor reliability of the self assessment measures Multiple regression analyses conducted as a follow up analysis revealed that participants with greater Desire to Learn to Speak English tended to underestimate and those with greater L2 Speaking Self Confidence tended to overestimate their own speaking performance Third 106 participants whose self ratings were similar to the teachers ratings were compared with other students in order to examine their distinctive features However no significant differences in L2 oral proficiency or affective variable measures were found between the two Therefore those whose self assessments agreed with teachers could have resulted in some agreements that occurred by chance alone Finally 100 higher proficiency students were compared with 100 lower proficiency students and the results showed that the higher proficiency students with greater Desire to Learn to Speak English generally underestimated their L2 speaking proficiency while those with higher Self Esteem and greater L2 Speaking Self Confidence tended to overestimate it Lower proficiency students with greater L2 Speaking Self Confidence tended to overestimate their L2 speaking proficiency The results suggest that the self assessment of L2 speaking might not be a sufficiently reliable or consistent assessment tool Therefore if teachers are considering including self assessment in a speaking class self assessment training should be conducted Additionally giving L2 learners more opportunities to speak the L2 can help them notice gaps between their productions and those of proficient speakers which might lead to more accurate self assessment Second although some studies utilized only one teacher rater five teacher raters in this study displayed a great deal of diversity and exhibited unique bias patterns so multiple raters should be employed and Facets analyses should be employed because the multi faceted Rasch model provides person ability estimates that are adjusted for rater bias Finally the use of multi faceted Rasch analysis is useful for examining oral data because unlike raw scores multi faceted Rasch analysis provides detailed information concerning speaker ability rater severity and category difficulty Moreover while most researchers have utilized self assessment raw scores in this study bias measures of self assessment were calculated using Facets which indicated that the bias measures produced different outcomes compared with self assessment scores is given yielded more fluent and accurate speech Integrated tasks on the other hand produce more complex speech if contextual support is provided and planning time of 5 minutes is given Findings revealed the existence of two trade offs operating in the participants speech samples The first trade off is that between accuracy and complexity whereas the second trade off is that between fluency and complexity The results from the present study may call teachers attention to the value of the design of the oral task so that teachers can assess learners oral production successfully
