Daring to Feel Jody Santos, 2009-12-22 Thou shall remain objective is the number one newsroom commandment but lately cracks have begun to appear in the news media s objective facade American journalists have been pushed to the emotional brink with such recent tragedies and September 11th and Virginia Tech Like social scientists reporters are expected to be immune to and even aloof from the pain and suffering they chronicle Daring to Feel Violence the News Media and Their Emotions challenges this journalistic mandate particularly as it pertains to the emotional topic of violence Interviewing journalists who have covered some of the worst tragedies in our nation s history Jody Santos shows what happens when the news media dare to feel No longer detached observers they are free to see violence in all of its emotional complexity In allowing themselves to experience the rage helplessness and fear of those who have survived violence these reporters tell deeper more moving stories stories that hopefully will have a profound effect on the way society views and confronts devastating problems such as child abuse and school massacres Daring to Feel is not a call to scrap objectivity but an attempt to rebalance journalism s hierarchical relationship between thinking and feeling rather Santos creates an insightful new dialogue about the value of emotionally engaged reporting

Is This America? Ron Eyerman, 2015-09-01 From police on the street to the mayor of New Orleans and FEMA administrators government officials monumentally failed to protect the most vulnerable residents of New Orleans and the Gulf Coast during the Katrina disaster This violation of the social contract undermined the foundational narratives and myths of the American nation and spawned a profound often contentious public debate over the meaning of Katrina s devastation A wide range of voices and images attempted to clarify what happened name those responsible identify the victims and decide what should be done This debate took place in forums ranging from mass media and the political arena to the arts and popular culture as various narratives emerged and competed to tell the story of Katrina Is This America explores how Katrina has been constructed as a cultural trauma in print media the arts and popular culture and television coverage Using stories told by the New York Times New Orleans Times Picayune Time Newsweek NBC and CNN as well as the works of artists writers musicians filmmakers and graphic designers Ron Eyerman analyzes how these narratives publicly articulated collective pain and loss He demonstrates that by exposing a foundational racial cleavage in American society these expressions of cultural trauma turned individual experiences of suffering during Katrina into a national debate about the failure of the white majority in the United States to care about the black minority

In Case of Katrina Ellen Jeffery Blue, 2016-08-04 Since six months after landfall Ellen Blue has taught The Church's Response to Katrina It sidesteps disaster response where clearly the church should be involved What was unclear was how leaders in a connectional denomination like United Methodism should decide which churches to merge or decommission after floods destroyed seventy churches and displaced ninety pastors and no one knew how many members would return Katrina gave the church a chance to re make itself without deteriorating structures in no longer thriving neighborhoods Yet as members returned to chaos they sought solace Should the church meet needs for Sanctuary and reassurance or use newfound flexibility to seek justice In Case of Katrina examines leadership strategies and the theological convictions that underlay them during the struggle to decide The larger United Methodist Church controls real estate and the hierarchy had the power to choose Instead they let verdicts spring primarily from congregants and pastors on the ground through a long controversial process Recovery has been entwined with issues of race and class Cooperation among African American and Anglo congregations has birthed vibrant multi racial worship and ministries Yet other prophetic ministry was left undone and it should set the agenda for the next decade

Cade, 2010-04-27 In Within Our Reach Rosalynn Carter and coauthors Susan K Golant and Kathryn E Cade render an insightful unsparing assessment of the state of mental health Mrs Carter has been deeply invested in this issue since her husband former President Jimmy Carter campaigned for governor of Georgia when she saw firsthand the horrific dehumanizing treatment of people with mental illnesses Using stories from her 35 years of advocacy to springboard into a discussion of the larger issues at hand Carter crafts an intimate and powerful account of a subject previously shrouded in stigma and shadow surveying the dimensions of an issue that has affected us all She describes a system that continues to fail those in need even though recent scientific breakthroughs with mental illness have potential to help most people lead more normal lives Within Our Reach is a seminal searing and ultimately optimistic look at how far we've come since Jimmy Carter's days on the campaign trail and how far we have yet to go

Rangan, 2017-05-18 Endangered life is often used to justify humanitarian media intervention but what if suffering humanity is both the fuel and outcome of such media representations Pooja Rangan argues that this vicious circle is the result of immediation a prevailing documentary ethos that seeks to render human suffering urgent and immediate at all costs Rangan interrogates this ethos in films seeking to give a voice to the voiceless an established method of validating the humanity of marginalized subjects including children refugees autistics and animals She focuses on multiple examples of documentary subjects being invited to demonstrate their humanity photography workshops for the children of sex workers in Calcutta live eyewitness reporting by Hurricane Katrina survivors attempts to facilitate speech in nonverbal autistics and painting lessons for elephants These subjects are obliged to represent themselves using immediations tropes that reinforce their status as the other and reproduce definitions of the human that exclude non normative modes of thinking being and doing To counter these effects Rangan calls for an approach to media that aims not to humanize but to realize the full radical potential of giving the camera to the other Hurricane Katrina, Updated Edition Jamie Pietras, 2021-04-01

When the first signs of sunlight emerged from the trickling rain the morning of Monday August 29 2005 many residents of the city of New Orleans hoped the worst was behind them Hours earlier the tropical hurricane known as Katrina made landfall at an area just 70 miles to the southeast of the city tearing the roofs off buildings and tossing boats like confetti Tens of thousands of survivors in need of food water and medical attention sat stranded along the city's sweltering highways and in the Superdome and Convention Center Worse others remained trapped in their damaged homes In an attempt to coordinate relief efforts the Federal Emergency Management Agency implemented strict disaster response rules that made it difficult for organizations to offer assistance and waited a precious five days before sending much needed supplies to the Convention Center Hurricane
