Private Avenues, Born of Solitude Michael S Ball, 2021-11-03 From the first I included poetic lines from my novella Stand and deliver to my setting in the places of my childhood my longest tale Upon this tree Either spoken or as a feed to a chapter An example is the poem Remember me included in full in the Love section Almost a biographical theme I mostly write in rhythm and rhyme a natural instance that appeals to me though I feel it isn't a necessity in story verses where it can appear tedious Like most poets this selection comes from life love and memories recollections dear to my heart whether it may be the love of nature film music yearnings to love or simple nonsense where throughout any merit I attribute to God and his encouragement Also I feel I must add the helping hand of a precious Godly soul Patricia Tijerina whose inspiration and encouragement was immeasurable I hope all who venture to read a part of my life find pleasure and enjoyment in doing so to know and sense a little of the rapture I convey whether it be my innermost feelings or the life long love of nature film and childhood Written under pressure that I assume most could not bear this book of verse is long overdue I hope it gives an insight into my life feelings and memories Thank you to all who read my first volume of verse knowing part of my life and ever loving memories interlaced with the love of nature film and lighter moments Michael S Ball race in a context where multiculturalism is taken for granted Few authors address these kinds of questions with subtlety For the most part questions of racism are treated either as self evident or alternatively as self evidenced The rst approach accentuated in everyday life and played out in media expos s is the tendency to treat racism as manifestly self evident We just know what racism is in principle and we just know what it looks like when we see it in practice Dualistic assumptions dominate this sense of identity relations persons are racist or they are not an act is racist or it is not However despite the obviousness of racism in contexts where different people have different seating arrangements on a bus or somebody says I am better than you because your skin colour is different this approach barely comes to terms with the depth of embodied politics and the elusiveness of structures of racism in the contemporary world
