Routledge Handbook on Arab Media Nouredine Miladi, Noha Mellor, 2020-11-29 This handbook provides the first comprehensive reference book in English about the development of mass and social media in all Arab countries. Capturing the historical as well as current developments in the media scene, this collection maps the role of media in social and political movements. Contributors include specialists in the field from North America, Europe and the Middle East. Each chapter provides an overview of the history, regulatory frameworks and laws governing the press and socio-political functions of the media. While the geopolitical complexities of the region have been reflected in the expert analyses, collectively the focus is always the local context of each member state. All 38 chapters consider the specific historical, political and media trajectories in each country to provide a contextual background and foundation for further study about single states or comparative analysis in two or more Arab states. Capturing significant technological developments and the widespread use of social media, this all-inclusive volume on Arab media is a key resource for students and scholars interested in journalism, media and Middle East studies.

The Communicator's Guide to Media Law and Ethics Mark Pearson, 2023-11-23 This book offers an introduction to the key legal and ethical topics confronting Australian journalists and strategic communicators both at home and internationally and offers a suite of reflective techniques for navigating them. It starts by positioning morals, ethics and the law in their historical and philosophical frameworks by tracing the evolution of free expression and professional media ethics. Media law and ethics are then contextualized in their modern international human rights framework. Readers are equipped with a skill set for reflecting on the law and ethics of professional media dilemmas including mindful reflection, the Potter Box, journaling, concept mapping and discussion. Such approaches are then applied to key topic areas including free expression, reputation, confidentiality, privacy, justice, intellectual property, national security, discrimination and harassment and conflicted interests. Each is examined in terms of its philosophical underpinnings, relationship to human rights, professional ethical context, international examples, legal principles, key Australian laws, legal cases and strategies for applying reflective practice techniques. It concludes on a confident note imploring communicators to engage in constructive and mindful strategic communication with the authority and confidence that results from a working knowledge of media law and ethics. This handbook is for professional communicators and students in all fields but particularly in journalism, public relations, corporate communication, media relations and marketing.

Media and The City Chiara Giaccardi, Matteo Tarantino, Simone Tosoni, 2014-07-18 The percentage of people living in cities and the adoption rates of communication technologies continue to grow across the planet. Our age has come to be defined as one of urbanism and communication, but how are those two intertwined? How do they shape each other? Where and in which ways do they diverge, support or fold into each other As new tensions emerge and old ones find new solutions social sciences are forced into a dialogue with media studies and urban studies in order to make sense of the new reality New theoretical and methodological paradigms are urgently needed and can be produced only through a fertile and eclectic dialogue This volume presents some of the latest research in this exciting cross disciplinary field Issues of conflict mobility crime art memory ethnicity identity and city marketing and branding come under rigorous scrutiny in their mutual and constitutive relationship with urban space and communicative technologies and practices The volume is divided into three broad sections The first section deals with the role of media in the social production of urban space that is with how media interact with other forces in giving shape to the materiality of the city The second section deals with how urban space acts as a context for a variety of media related practices especially in relation to the popularization of mobile geo localization technologies which have given us mass phenomena such as Foursquare The third and final section deals with how urban space is mediated and communicated through ICTs or in other terms how urban space is represented by specific media through specific discursive strategies
