Master Lundy'S Hapkido Carlton Lundy,2016-11-19 Carlton Lundy a master of the Korean martial art of Hapkido never thought he would have reached such heights In this memoir he recalls growing up poor in Spanish Harlem where he held his own on the mean streets At nineteen years old he passed a test to join the U S Air Force Within two weeks he was a six year enlistee in the Air Force choosing to serve his country and pursue his education instead of chasing a career as a professional boxer He would go on to serve three years in Minot North Dakota over a twenty year period and also spent time in New York Montana the Philippines Texas Honduras Nevada Panama and elsewhere But it was his four tours in South Korea that shaped him and where he learned Hapkido The more he learned about South Korea the more he was surprised South Koreans had much in common with African Americans They held their elders in high regard were conservative in their dress and had also been enslaved at one time Join the author as he shares life lessons from the military as a martial artist and being a soldier of God in Master Lundys Hapkido

Martial Arts as Embodied Knowledge

D. S. Farrer, John Whalen-Bridge, 2011-12-01 This landmark work provides a wide ranging scholarly consideration of the traditional Asian martial arts Most of the contributors to the volume are practitioners of the martial arts and all are keenly aware that these traditions now exist in a transnational context The book s cutting edge research includes ethnography and approaches from film literature performance and theater studies Three central aspects emerge from this book martial arts as embodied fantasy as a culturally embedded form of self cultivation and as a continuous process of identity formation Contributors explore several popular and highbrow cultural considerations including the career of Bruce Lee Chinese wuxia films and Don DeLillo s novel Running Dog Ethnographies explored describe how the social body trains in martial arts and how martial arts are constructed in transnational training Ultimately this academic study of martial arts offers a focal point for new understandings of cultural and social beliefs and of practice and agency
