Vocabulary in English Dictionaries Mariusz Piotr Kamiński, 2021-04-15 This book investigates an important but under researched aspect of dictionary making the use of a controlled vocabulary in definitions The main concern of the author is the role of a definition vocabulary in how foreign learners understand and perceive dictionary definitions The author takes the reader through a detailed historical account of controlled vocabularies and examines definitions in a range of English dictionaries with respect to their vocabulary loads He performs a series of experiments with university students to reveal merits and shortcomings of restricted vocabularies This monograph has been written with the aim to fill a gap in the literature on defining vocabulary It is intended for lexicographers dictionary editors course designers teachers and students as well as anyone who wishes to explain words in an intelligible way Cognitive Lexicography Carolin Ostermann, 2015-07-31 English lexicography and linguistics have always shared close ties yet the potential of cognitive linguistics for lexicography has only been hesitantly acknowledged in the literature This is what cognitive lexicography attempts to change by using insights gained in cognitive semantic research for the development of new dictionary features After a short survey of the history and practice of English monolingual learner lexicography as well as an outline of the relationship between linguistics and lexicography three new dictionary features are developed They cover three different cognitive semantic theories as well as three different parts of the monolingual dictionary entry each time for a new set of lexemes Frame semantics conceptual metaphor theory as well as cognitive conceptions of polysemy are used to create a new example section for agentive nouns a new defining structure for emotion terms and a new microstructural arrangement for particle entries Dictionary analyses on all as well as user studies on two of the features complement these suggestions The monograph thus presents a new approach to lexicography that incorporates into its description of lexical items how humans perceive and conceptualise language Interrogating Xenophobia and Nativism in Twenty-First-Century Africa Emmanuel Matambo, 2022-03-30 Interrogating Xenophobia and Nativism in Twenty First Century Africa interrogates xenophobia and nativism in Africa and how they hamper the realisation of Pan Africanism The contributors examine migration in Africa immigration policies and politics and the social impacts and history of xenophobia and nativism in African life and culture Through their analyses the contributors explore how xenophobia and nativism have impacted the Pan Africanism movement The book also offers suggestions for reducing xenophobia and nativism in Africa including bettering immigration policies and creating socioeconomic structures that would enrich the public and help prevent the pervasive belief that immigrants usurp limited opportunities for the poor in the countries they immigrate to Out of Corpora, 2023-11-20 The new media revolution has led to a comprehensive digitization of our textual universe and the pervasive incorporation of the media into our everyday lives from mobile telephony to social media This calls for a concerted research effort uniting linguistics and other disciplines involved in language related research The massive growth in the amount diversity and availability of textual and multimodal language data for many of the world s languages poses several challenges In terms of theory and methods it forces us to rethink traditional notions of what linguistic corpora are and what role they play in linguistic description. Established corpus linguistic methods such as concordancing and textual statistics are increasingly being complemented by visualization and geolocation of digital language data. Empirically, there is a growing need to document and analyse what people do with language in the increasingly technologized communicative ecology of the 21st century. Language and Computers Studies in Digital Linguistics invites contributions which explore innovative intelligent and creative ways of using digital language data resources and infrastructure for linguistic description. Contributions that contribute to the development and refinement of usage based models in linguistics using both quantitative and qualitative methods analyse all aspects of digitally mediated communication from orthography to pragmatics and sociolinguistics. Daughters of Wisdom Ahida Calderon Pilarski, 2023-06-22. This book offers a window into current realities regarding women's leadership in the global church and explores strategic recommendations to nurture this leadership in the twenty first century. The essays in this volume were initially presented at an international conference organized by the Center for World Catholicism and Intercultural Theology CWCIT at DePaul University in 2018. The reference to Daughters of Wisdom in the title for this volume was aimed at capturing the diversity of ways which women have found to exercise their leadership in responding to the challenging and or hopeful realities of their contextual locations and their faith and social communities. The authors address particularly different aspects of women's leadership in the Catholic Church with a special emphasis on the global South. The contributors are lay and religious people from India, Nigeria, Mexico, Venezuela, Peru, the US, Singapore and the Philippines. The topics explored in this volume include women's use of Scripture, the ecclesiological basis for women in church leadership and the leadership roles that women have been exercising already in grassroots church communities, in Marian devotion, in faith based social movements and in theological education. Journal of Education Culture and Society 2015 No 1, Nic nie wpisano. Jungian Perspectives on Indeterminate States Elizabeth Brodersen, Pilar Amezcaga, 2020-08-09. In Jungian Perspectives on Indeterminate States: Betwixt and Between Borders Elizabeth Brodersen and Pilar Amezcaga bring together leading international contributors to analyse and interpret the psychological impact of contemporary border crossing both literally and figuratively. Each chapter assesses key themes such as migration, culture, gender and identity formation through a Jungian lens. All the contributors sensitively explore how creative forms can help mitigate the trauma experienced when one is forced to leave safety and enter unknown territory and examines the specific role of indeterminacy, liminality and symbols as transformers at the border between culture, race and gender. The book asks whether we are able to hold these indeterminate states as creative liminal manifestations pointing to new forms, integrate the shadow other as potential and allow sufficient cross border migration and fertilization as permissible. It makes clear that societal conflict represents a struggle for recognition and identity and elucidates the negative experiences of authoritarian structures attached to disrespect and misrecognitions. This interdisciplinary collection will offer key insight for Jungian analysts in practice and in training psychotherapists anthropologists political and cultural theorists and postgraduate researchers in psychosocial studies It will also be of great interest to readers interested in migration sexuality gender race and ethnicity studies
