The SAGE Encyclopedia of Quality and the Service Economy Su Mi Dahlgaard-Park, 2015-05-29 Society globally has entered into what might be called the service economy Services now constitute the largest share of GDP in most countries and provide the major source of employment in both developed and developing countries Services permeate all aspects of peoples lives and are becoming inseparable from most aspects of economic activity Quality management has been a dominating managerial practice since World War II With quality management initially associated with manufacturing industries one might assume the relevance of quality management might decrease with the emergence of the service economy To the contrary the emergence of the service economy strengthened the importance of quality issues which no longer are associated only with manufacturing industries but are increasingly applied in all service sectors as well Today we talk not only about product or service quality but have even expanded the framework of quality to quality of life and quality of environment Thus quality and services have emerged in parallel as closely interrelated fields The Encyclopedia of Quality and the Service Economy explores such relevant questions as What are the characteristics nature and definitions of quality and services How do we define quality of products quality of services or quality of life How are services distinguished from goods How do we measure various aspects of quality and services How can products and service quality be managed most effectively and efficiently What is the role of customers in creation of values These questions and more are explored within the pages of this two volume A to Z reference work

Computerised Vehicle Routing and Scheduling in Road Transport Peter Eibl,1996

Over the past 20 years academics industry commentators and practitioners in the field of physical distribution have been preoccupied with the computational and technical side of computerized vehicle routing and scheduling Comparatively little research has been carried out on the user or management aspects of the technology This study investigates the adoption of CVRS technology Moreover the study evaluates the success of the software used in both a strategic tactical and in an operational role The findings highlight that CVRS technology is used by only a relatively small number of organizations despite being an effective means to improve the efficiency of transport operations and to provide substantial intangible benefits emphasis is placed on technology transfer spin off and intellectual property aspects as well as on aspects of space economy such as alternate financing schemes like PPP Public Private Partnership and sponsoring However space activists require broad public support and the exploratory aspect of space activities the Space Frontier dimensions should not be ignored For this reason the philosophical dimension as an integral part of the marketing mix is elaborated in detail The approach is illustrated with two case studies commercialisation of the International Space Station ISS and the emerging Space Tourism market The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,1995 Tourism Recreation Research ,2008 The Globalization of Tourism and Hospitality Tim Knowles,Dimitrios Diamantis,Joudallah Bey El-Mourhabi,2001 The concept of the Tourism Area Life Cycle or TALC the idea that there is a fixed pattern in the fortunes of tourist destinations they re born they grow they mature they stagnate and die first surfaced in 1980 This work sets out reasons why the TALC need not be as fatalistic as it sounds Analytical Marketing Management Peter Doyle,1974 Current Research in Britain ,1995
