
Case Study 3 - Discussion Questions¹

Performance Management at Vitality Health Enterprises, Inc.

Instructions: For each of the following questions, respond in 2 – 3 sentences. Submit your responses via Canvas before the start of class on the due date. The objective of this assignment is to facilitate your understanding and analysis of the case study prior to class. This preparation will enable you to better engage in class conversation and will enrich the overall quality of group discussion. (You will receive full points for thorough yet succinct responses, partial credit for incomplete responses, and zero credit for non-completion.)

1. Who should evaluate employees' performance? Why?

While there can be multiple answers for this question, depending on one's point of view, an important element is that employees should be evaluated by those who can actually see their performance (e.g., team members, team leaders, line supervisors, managers). A second important element is that those who are evaluating should also be trained on the performance standards and criteria.

2. What should leaders do when (individual, team, organization) performance is lacking?

When individual, team, org performance is lacking, leaders need to look at where the gaps in performance lie and what the root causes could be.

3. Should the new performance review system at Vitality Health be revised? What changes would you recommend to the new performance management system? How should the changes be implemented? Carefully consider the consequences of your recommendations.

4. Is the revised performance management system better than the system it replaced? In what ways? In what ways is it worse?

Several improvements: 1) The relative PM system allows for gre ater differentiation between employees. 2) It forces managers to distinguish among employees. 3) Underperforming divisions are less likely to be filled with "overperforming" employees. 4) Performance reviews are no longer biased by environmental factors (e.g., economy).

Sustainable Value Management-New Concepts and Contemporary Trends Dariusz Zarzecki, Marek Jabłoński, 2020-12-29 Sustainable value management reveals a new space for studying business models The traditional approach is based on the assumption that the goal of any business is to make money All decisions regarding supply and production should be made to maximize profit The discrepancy in creating non economic value is sometimes the result of separating ownership from control over an enterprise Although shareholders are interested in maximizing profit management that actually makes decisions can also pursue other goals In addition to economic aspects the management intentions of modern managers are also influenced by factors arising from the organizational culture built co created within the organization and sometimes with the participation of external actors such as suppliers and customers The sources of the creation of social values will be the management intentions of top management often initiated by the adopted values and rules on the basis of which resources are bound within the structure of the business model The value of sustainability is based on the identification of those creative sources that relate to economic and social value Economic value is created through social value and vice versa This allows the complementarity of the value created to be mutually supportive The business model that integrates both of these values should be more resistant to crises than the one that is oriented only toward producing economic value Concurrent implementation of economic and social goals increases resilience and affects the success of modern business models This is due to the specificity of the business ecosystem that is built as part of the business model which in essence is based on the use of social factors to merge

the business model into a complex ecosystem capable of producing value
