Starting in 2011, refugees flood out of war-torn Syria in Exodus-like proportions. The surprising flood of victims overwhelms neighboring countries, and chaos follows. Resentment in host nations heightens as disruption and the cost of aid grows. By 2017, many want to turn their backs on the victims. The refugees are the unwanted. Don Brown depicts moments of both heartbreaking horror and hope in the ongoing Syrian refugee crisis. Shining a light on the stories of the survivors, The Unwanted is a testament to the courage and resilience of the refugees and a call to action for all those who read. The Diary of a Desperate Naija Woman in the Year 2011 Bola Essien-Nelson, 2012-05-16 The Diary of a Desperate Naija Woman in the Year 2011 is a collection of random blogs written by Bola Essien-Nelson, giving the reader an insight into her daily life. She hopes that you will read and come to a deeper understanding of the incredibly intense love God has for you and that this realization will birth a new hunger in your belly to chase after God and to do so desperately.

Cartographic Cinema Tom Conley, Cartography and cinema are what might be called locational machinery. Maps and movies tell their viewers where they are situated, what they are doing, and to a strong degree, who they are. In this groundbreaking work, eminent scholar Tom Conley establishes the ideological power of maps in classic, contemporary, and avant-garde cinema to shape the imaginary and mediated relations we hold with the world. Cartographic Cinema examines the affinities of maps and movies through comparative theory and close analysis of films from the silent era to the French New Wave to Hollywood blockbusters. In doing so, Conley reveals that most of the movies we see contain maps of various kinds and almost invariably constitute a projective apparatus similar to cartography. In addition, he demonstrates that spatial signs in film foster a critical relation with the prevailing narrative and mimetic registers of cinema. Conley convincingly argues that the very act of watching films and cinema itself is actually a form of cartography. Unlike its function in an atlas, a map in a movie often causes the spectator to entertain broader questions, not only about cinema but also of the nature of space and being. Raoul Walsh Marilyn Ann Moss, 2011-06-17 Raoul Walsh (1887-1980) was known as one of Hollywood's most adventurous, iconoclastic, and creative directors. He carved out an illustrious career and made films that transformed the

Hollywood studio yarn into a thrilling art form Walsh belonged to that early generation of directors along with John Ford and Howard Hawks who worked in the fledgling film industry of the early twentieth century learning to make movies with shoestring budgets Walsh's generation invented a Hollywood that made movies seem bigger than life itself In the first ever full length biography of Raoul Walsh author Marilyn Ann Moss recounts Walsh's life and achievements in a career that spanned more than half a century and produced upwards of two hundred films many of them cinema classics Walsh originally entered the movie business as an actor playing the role of John Wilkes Booth in D W Griffith's The Birth of a Nation 1915 In the same year under Griffith's tutelage Walsh began to direct on his own Soon he left Griffith's company for Fox Pictures where he stayed for more than twenty years It was later at Warner Bros that he began his golden period of filmmaking Walsh was known for his romantic flair and playful persona Involved in a freak auto accident in 1928 Walsh lost his right eye and began wearing an eye patch which earned him the suitably dashing moniker the one eyed bandit During his long and illustrious career he directed such heavyweights as Humphrey Bogart James Cagney Errol Flynn and Marlene Dietrich and in 1930 he discovered future star John Wayne

Refugees Steven Maddocks, 2003-09 This book takes a look at the fate of refugees throughout history and discusses why people seek refuge in another country and how that impacts the host country

A Hanging in Nacogdoches Gary B. Borders, 2010-01-01 This historical study examines a legal lynching in 1902 Texas shedding light on race relations political culture and economic conditions of the time On October 17 1902 in Nacogdoches Texas a black man named James Buchanan was tried without representation condemned and executed for the murder of a white family all within three hours Two white men played pivotal roles in these events the editor of the Nacogdoches Sentinel Bill Haltom a prominent Democrat who condemned lynching but defended lynch mobs and A J Spradley a Populist sheriff who managed to keep the mob from burning Buchanan alive only to escort him to the gallows Each man's story illuminates part of the path toward the terrible parody of justice at the heart of A Hanging in Nacogdoches The turn of the twentieth century was a time of dramatic change for the people of East Texas Frightened by the Populist Party's attempts to unite poor blacks and whites in a struggle for economic justice white Democrats defended their power base by exploiting racial tensions in a battle that ultimately resulted in complete disenfranchisement for the black population In telling the story of a single lynching Gary Borders dramatically illustrates the way politics and race combined to bring horrific violence to small southern towns like Nacogdoches

Tri-level Identity Crisis Tapiwa N. Mucherera, Chris Kiesling, Anne Kiome Gatobu, 2020-07-31 This text captures the profound unacknowledged crisis that is unique to children of first generation immigrants by virtue of their being caught in a world of their parents culture of origin and their social experience in the United States The book makes the case for three levels of adolescent crisis unique to this population namely the general developmental crisis experienced by all adolescents as articulated by developmental theories the cultural identity crises experienced by ethnic minority persons as they encounter the layered racialization of American history and finally the unique crisis that arises from conflicting cultural values and morals when first generation immigrant parents wanting to preserve native values clash with their children who seek belonging in the Western context in which they currently reside The book traces the psychological emotional and social roots of the crisis The authors representing immigrants from different continents portray the unique ethnic minority challenges they encounter in coming to the US exemplifying further the tri level crisis Finally the book offers ways that parents can be proactive in helping their children navigate the potential tri level crisis through ITAV It Takes a Village camps and family palavers

Schooling Sylvia Farnham-Diggory, 1990 How should we educate the children of tomorrow to solve the problems of today A new educational model is generating widespread interest and excitement among educators parents and community leaders Known as cognitive apprenticeship the model draws upon contemporary cognitive and developmental science and specifies techniques for capitalizing on children's inborn ability to learn in complex natural settings Sylvia Farnham Diggory reports on a wide range of school programs that illustrate this innovative approach to schooling The new approach contrasts sharply with much current school practice which is based on early twentieth century theories of learning These early theories in misguided attempts to be scientific defined the acquisition of knowledge in terms of simple quantifiable test behaviors School practice derived from such outdated theory continues to revolve around fragmented lessons that can be easily counted and graded New research in cognition and human development shows that the acquisition of knowledge must be defined in terms of complex interactive networks It cannot be acquired from workbooks or ditto sheets nor can it be assessed through paper and pencil tests Mastery of basic skills a delight in history literature and science and a creative approach to problem solving are best encouraged when children have opportunities to work alongside experts in meaningful and important contexts thus participating in cognitive apprenticeships While never losing sight of her theoretical framework Farnham Diggory offers many practical suggestions for transforming classrooms into places of genuine intellectual growth Schooling sets out a creative and realistic agenda for parents teachers school administrators business leaders and other concerned citizens who are looking for ways to replace traditional 1930s style classrooms with rigorous and exciting educational environments

Bomber Boys on Screen S. P. MacKenzie, 2019-08-08 Since the Second World War depictions of Royal Air Force operations in film and television drama have become so numerous that they make up a genre worthy of scholarly attention In this illuminating study S P MacKenzie explores the different ways in which the men of RAF Bomber Command have been represented in dramatic form on the big and small screen from the war years to the present day Bomber Boys on Screen is the first in depth study of how and why the screen drama image of those who flew those who directed them and those who provided support for RAF bomber operations has changed over time sometimes in contested circumstances Until now dramas that focus on Bomber Command have tended to be mentioned only in passing or studied in isolation despite the prevalence of surveys of both the British war film genre and of aviation cinema In Bomber Boys on

Screen MacKenzie examines the development presentation and reception of significant dramas on a decade by decade basis Titles from the beginning of the war The Lion Has Wings 1939 to the start of new century Bomber's Moon 2014 are situated in the context of technical possibilities and limitations evolving social and cultural norms in the United Kingdom and elsewhere and the development of moral and utilitarian controversies surrounding the wartime bomber offensive directed against Nazi Germany While the focus is on feature films and television plays reference is also made to documentaries memorials veterans organizations book titles war comics and other representations of the war fought by Bomber Command

Governor Reagan Lou Cannon, 2009-04-27 In Governor Reagan Lou Cannon offers through recent interviews and research drawn from his unique access to the cabinet minutes of Reagan's first years as governor of California a fresh look at the development of a master politician At first Reagan suffered from political amateurism an inexperienced staff and ideological blind spots But he quickly learned to take the measure of the Democrats who controlled the State Legislature and surprised friends and foes alike by agreeing to a huge tax increase which made it possible for him to govern for eight years without additional tax hikes He developed an environmental policy that preserved the state's scenic valleys and wild rivers and he signed into law what was then the nation's most progressive declaration on abortion rights His quixotic 1968 presidential campaign revealed his higher ambitions to the world and taught him how much he had to learn about big league politics Written by the definitive biographer of Ronald Reagan this new biography is a classic study of a fascinating individual's evolution from a conservative hero to a national figure whose call for renewal stirred Republicans working class Democrats and independents alike

Early Reagan Anne Edwards, 2012-09-28 First published in 1986 and nominated for the Pulitzer Prize Early Reagan is still the most in depth portrayal of the pre government years of the late president The book uncovers Reagan's formative years childhood poverty film stardom and his politicization via the Screen Actors Guild Anne Edwards interviewed more than two hundred people important in the life of Reagan as well as those of his two wives Jane Wyman and Nancy Davis The book concludes with Reagan's entry into politics in 1966 when he announced his candidacy for Governor of California in the living room of his hilltop San Onofre home. As the late historian Barbara Tuchman noted, "For anyone who wants to know about the circumstances that formed Ronald Reagan into a political figure, this is the book to read." The Scramble for Europe Stephen Smith, 2019-06-04. From the harrowing situation of migrants trying to cross the Mediterranean in rubber dinghies to the crisis on the US-Mexico border, mass migration is one of the most urgent issues facing our societies today. At the same time, viable solutions seem ever more remote with the increasing polarization of public attitudes and political positions. In this book, Stephen Smith focuses on young Africa: 40 per cent of its population are under fifteen and a dramatic demographic shift. Today 510 million people live inside EU borders and 1.25 billion people in Africa. In 2050, 450 million Europeans will face 2.5 billion Africans, five times their number. The demographics are implacable. The scramble for Europe will become as inexorable as the scramble for Africa was at the end of the nineteenth century when 275 million people lived north and only 100 million lived south of the Mediterranean. Then it was all about raw materials and national pride; now it is about young Africans seeking a better life on the Old Continent, the island of prosperity within their reach. If Africa's migratory patterns follow the historic precedents set by other less developed parts of the world, in thirty years a quarter of Europe's population will be African. Addressing the question of how Europe can cope with an influx of this magnitude, Smith argues for a path between the two extremes of today's debate. He advocates migratory policies of good neighbourhood, equidistant from guilt-ridden self-denial and nativist egoism. This sobering analysis of the migration challenges we now face will be essential reading for anyone concerned with the great social and political questions of our time. The Star Machine Jeanine Basinger, 2009-01-06. ONE OF THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER'S 100 GREATEST FILM BOOKS OF ALL TIME. From one of our most distinguished film scholars comes a rich, penetrating, amusing book about the golden age of movies and how the studios worked to manufacture stars. With revelatory insights and delightful asides, Jeanine Basinger shows us how the studio star machine worked when it worked, how it failed when it didn't, and how irrelevant it could sometimes be. She gives us case studies focusing on big stars groomed into the system: the awesomely beautiful and disillusioned Tyrone Power, the seductive disobedient Lana Turner, and a dazzling cast of others. She anatomizes their careers, showing how their fame happened and what happened to them as a result. Deeply engrossing, full of energy, wit, and wisdom, The Star Machine is destined to become an classic of the film canon.
