Vempala, Frank A. Russo, Geraint A. Wiggins, 2018-09-14 Music informatics is an interdisciplinary research area that encompasses data driven approaches to the analysis generation and retrieval of music In the era of big data two goals weigh heavily on many research agendas in this area a the identification of better features and b the acquisition of better training data To this end researchers have started to incorporate findings and methods from music cognition a related but historically distinct research area that is concerned with elucidating the underlying mental processes involved in music related behavior International Who's who in Music and Musicians' Directory David M. Cummings, 2000 First published in 2000 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Oxford Handbook of Music Revival Caroline Bithell, Juniper Hill, 2014 Why is music from the past significant today and how has it been transformed to suit new values and agendas This volume examines the globally recurrent cultural processes of revival resurgence restoration and renewal Interdisciplinary perspectives shed new light on authenticity recontextualization transmission institutionalization globalization and post revival legacies Ohio State University Monthly Ohio State University. Alumni Association, 1920 Music and Marx Regula Burckhardt Qureshi, 2013-11-05 Well known contributors analyze the ways in which Marxist thought enters into music discourse Exploring everything from Marxism in hip hop to feudal properties of Hindustani music to revolutionary music of Central America the essays in this book find surprising paradigm shifting revelations This book will revolutionize the way music production and consumption is viewed First published in 2002 Individuality in music performance Bruno Gingras, 2014-10-22 Humans are remarkably adept at identifying individuals on the basis of their facial features or other traits such as gait or vocal timbre Besides voice another auditory medium capable of carrying identity information is music Indeed certain famous musicians such as John Coltrane or Sonny Rollins need only to play a few notes to be unequivocally recognized Along with emotion and structural cues artistic individuality seems to be a key element communicated in music performance Yet the means by which individuality is expressed in performance as well as the cognitive processes employed by listeners to perceive identity cues remain poorly elucidated Other pertinent issues including the connection between a performer's technical competence and ability to convey a specific musical identity as well as potential links between individuality and career defining outcomes such as critical recognition and aesthetic appraisal warrant further exploration Quantitative approaches to the study of music performance have benefited greatly from MIDI technology and the application of computational methods leading to the flourishing of empirical music performance research over the last few decades More recently neuroimaging techniques have provided valuable insights into the neural mechanisms involved in the cognitive processes of performing music Nevertheless this field continues to benefit greatly from qualitative approaches given that the communication of affect and identity cues in music performance leads to a rich subjectivity of impressions that must be accounted for in order to lead to a greater understanding of this multifaceted phenomenon The aim of this Research Topic is to provide a forum for interdisciplinary research broadly related to the expression and perception of individuality in music performance Research methodology includes behavioral psychophysiological and neuroimaging techniques Both quantitative and qualitative approaches are presented The scope of this Research Topic includes laboratory studies as well as studies in real life performance settings and longitudinal studies on performers
