Do You Feel it Too? Nicoline Timmer,2010 Do You Feel It Too explores a new sense of self that is becoming manifest in experimental fiction written by a generation of authors who can be considered the heirs of the postmodern tradition It offers a precise in depth analysis of a new post postmodern direction in fiction writing and highlights which aspects are most acute in the post postmodern novel Most notable is the emphatic expression of feelings and sentiments and a drive toward inter subjective connection and communication The self that is presented in these post postmodern works of fiction can best be characterized as relational To analyze this new sense of self a new interpretational method is introduced that offers a sophisticated approach to fictional selves combining the insights of post classical narratology and what is called narrative psychology Close analyses of three contemporary experimental texts Infinite Jest 1996 by David Foster Wallace A Heartbreaking Work of Staggering Genius 2000 by Dave Eggers and House of Leaves 2000 by Mark Danielewski provide insight into the typical problems that the self experiences in postmodern cultural contexts Three such problems or symptoms are singled out and analyzed in depth an inability to choose because of a lack of decision making tools a difficulty to situate or appropriate feelings and a structural need for a we a desire for connectivity and sociality The critique that can be distilled from these texts especially on the perceived solipsistic quality of postmodern experience worlds runs parallel to developments in recent critical theory These developments in fiction and theory both signal in the wake of poststructural conceptions of subjectivity a perhaps much awaited turn to the human in our culture at large today The Novel Dorothy J. Hale,2005-11-04 The Novel An Anthology of Criticism and Theory 1900 2000 is a collection of the most influential writings on the theory of the novel from the twentieth century Traces the rise of novel theory and the extension of its influence into other disciplines especially social cultural and political theory Broad in scope including sections on formalism the Chicago School structuralism and narratology deconstruction psychoanalysis Marxism social discourse gender post colonialism and more Includes whole essays or chapters wherever possible Headnotes introduce and link each piece enabling readers to draw connections between different schools of thought Encourages students to approach theoretical texts with confidence applying the same skills they bring to literary texts Includes a volume introduction a selected bibliography an index of topics and short author biographies to support study , Focalization in the Old Testament Narratives with Specific Examples from the Book of Ruth Konstantin Nazarov,2021-08-02 Since G rard Genette first coined the term in 1972 focalization has been recognized as one of the key concepts in contemporary understandings of narrative However in the field of biblical studies the concept has been largely overlooked Dr Konstantin Nazarov seeks to rectify this oversight exploring the implications of focalization on Old Testament narratology Utilizing the work of Wolf Schmid and Valeri Tjupa to develop his methodology and examining the book of Ruth as a case study Nazarov demonstrates the value of focalization in furthering the appreciation and understanding of biblical texts This is an excellent resource for students of narratology biblical studies scholars or anyone seeking to better understand the narratives of Scripture Buddhist Visual Cultures, Rhetoric, and Narrative in Late Burmese Wall Paintings Alexandra Green, 2018-01-04 Step into a Burmese temple built between the late seventeenth and early nineteenth centuries and you are surrounded by a riot of color and imagery The majority of the highly detailed wall paintings displays Buddhist biographical narratives inspiring the devotees to follow the Buddha's teachings Alexandra Green goes one step further to consider the temples and their contents as a whole arguing that the wall paintings mediate the relationship between the architecture and the main Buddha statues in the temples This forges a unified space for the devotees to interact with the Buddha and his community with the aim of transforming the devotees current and future lives These temples were a cohesively articulated and represented Burmese Buddhist world to which the devotees belonged Green's visits to more than 160 sites with identifiable subject matter form the basis of this richly illustrated volume which draws upon art historical anthropological and religious studies methodologies to analyze the wall paintings and elucidate the contemporary religious political and social concepts that drove the creation of this lively art form Buddhist Visual Cultures Rhetoric and Narrative in Late Burmese Wall Paintings is truly a tour de force that allows us to see Burmese temple paintings of the Life of the Buddha and similar themes as an open ended genre that like literary discourse participates in wider social intellectual and religious contexts Juliane Schober Arizona State University Alexandra Green introduces this relatively unknown material and subjects it to sophisticated analysis This study is a major step towards creating a template that could be used for analyzing other late traditions of Buddhist painting Janice Leoshko University of Texas at Austin Elisha and the End of Prophetism Wesley J. Bergen, 1999-05-01 The stories of Elisha the prophet have received scant attention in recent years perhaps because they are so enigmatic This study places the Elisha material firmly within the narrative of Genesis 2 Kings and examines the effect these stories have on the reader's perception of the role of the prophet Using the narratological theories of Mieke Bal David Jobling and others Bergen shows that the Elisha stories present prophetism in a negative light confining prophets to a rather limited scope of action in the narrative world Orality and Literacy in the Demotic Tales Jacqueline E. Jay, 2016-06-10 In Orality and Literacy in the Demotic Tales Jacqueline E Jay extrapolates from the surviving ancient Egyptian written record hints of the oral tradition that must have run alongside it The monograph's main focus is the intersection of orality and literacy in the extremely rich corpus of Demotic narrative literature surviving from the Greco Roman Period The many texts discussed include the tales of the Inaros and Setna Cycles the Myth of the Sun's Eye and the Dream of Nectanebo Jacqueline Jay examines these Demotic tales not only in conjunction with earlier Egyptian literature but also with the worldwide tradition of orally composed and performed discourse The Routledge Companion to American Literary Journalism William Dow, Roberta Maguire, 2019-11-13 Taking a thematic approach this new companion provides an interdisciplinary cross cultural and international study of American literary journalism From the work of Frederick Douglass and Walt Whitman to that of Joan Didion and Dorothy Parker literary journalism is a genre that both reveals and shapes American history and identity This volume not only calls attention to literary journalism as a distinctive genre but also provides a critical foundation for future scholarship It brings together cutting edge research from literary journalism scholars examining historical perspectives themes venues and genres across time theoretical approaches and disciplinary intersections and new directions for scholarly inquiry Provoking reconsideration and inquiry while providing new historical interpretations this companion recognizes interacts with and honors the tradition and legacies of American literary journalism scholarship Engaging the work of disciplines such as sociology anthropology African American studies gender studies visual studies media studies and American studies in addition to journalism and literary studies this book is perfect for students and scholars of those disciplines

Narrative/theory David H. Richter, 1996 The essays in Narrative Theory constitute a short course in the theory of fiction representing most of the current perspectives in the contemporary conversation about narrative literary and otherwise It could be used as a primary text in a course in the theory of fiction for which no currently adequate textbook exists but we expect the book to find its widest use as an ancillary text for courses in the novel the short story and film where it can be used to enrich and deepen students understanding of the concepts involved in the analysis of narrative
