2.1. INTRODUCTION

A signal may be considered to be a function of time that represents a physical variable of interest associated with a system. In electrical systems, the excitations (input) and response (output) are given in terms of currents and voltages. Mostly, these currents and voltages are function of time. In general, these functions of time are called signals, i.e. signals are also called as the functions.

Signals play an important role in science and technology as communication, aeronautics, biomedical engineering and speech processing etc.

2.2. CLASSIFICATION OF SIGNALS

Signals may describe a wide variety of physical phenomena, as follows:

2.2.1. Continuous-Time and Discrete-Time Signals

To distinguish between continuous-time and discrete-time signals, we will use the symbol ' t ' to denote the continuous-time independent variable and ' n ' or ' nT ' to denote the discrete-time independent variable.

Illustrations of a continuous-time signal $x(t)$ and a discrete-time signal $x[n]$ or $x(nT)$ are shown in Figure 2.1.
