Sustainable Living with Environmental Risks Nobuhiro Kaneko, Shinji Yoshiura, Masanori Kobayashi, 2014-03-11 We are not free from environmental risks that accompany the development of human societies Modern economic development has accelerated environmental pollution caused loss of natural habitats and modified landscapes These environmental changes have impacted natural systems water and heat circulation nutrient cycling and biodiversity These changes in natural systems degrade ecosystem services and subsequently increase environmental risks for humans Environmental risks therefore are not only human health risks by pollution climatic anomalies and natural disasters but also degradation of ecosystem services on which most people are relying for their lives We cannot entirely eliminate the risks because it is not possible to attain zero impact on the environment but we need to find a mechanism that minimizes environmental risks for human sustainably This is the idea of the interdisciplinary framework of environmental risk management theory which advocates harmony between economic development and environmental conservation Based on this theory the Sustainable Living with Environmental Risk SLER programme adopted by the Japanese Ministry of Education MEXT as one of its strategic programmes has been training graduate students at the Yokohama

Disaster Management in the Complex Himalayan Terrains Shruti Kanga, Gowhar Meraj, Majid Farooq, Suraj Kumar Singh, Mahendra Singh Nathawat, 2022-02-02 South Asia harboring the complex Himalayan terrains has over one fifth of the world's population and is recognized as the most hazard prone region of the world. The exponential increase in population with the consequent pressure on natural resources and continued high rates of poverty and food insecurity also makes this region the most vulnerable region to hazards in the world as far as the impacts of climate change are concerned. Over the last century the climatic trends in South Asia have been observed to be characterized by increasing air temperatures and an increasing trend in the intensity and frequency of extreme events. IPCC 2014 has reported that the Himalayan highlands shall face significant warming over the next century. The increasing frequency of natural hazards due to the impacts of climate change in the Himalayas calls for efficient management and policymaking in these regions which can only be implemented by the local governments through an established science based robust action plan. This edited volume focuses on the management of natural hazards using innovative techniques of spatial information sciences and satellite remote sensing. It contains chapters from eminent researchers and experts in the field of hazard management remote sensing and GIS. The primary focus of this book is to replenish the gap in the available literature on the subject by bringing the concepts theories and practical experiences of the specialists and professionals in this field together in one volume to help students researchers and policymakers to address issues concerning management and policy implications of natural hazards in the complex Himalayan region.

Disaster Risk Management Prof. Dr. Vladimir M. Cvetković, 2024-04-22 The textbook is intended for students of basic and master academic studies as well as to a wider professional audience members of the emergency services etc who are increasingly faced with the need for a more thorough understanding of the problem of a multidisciplinary approach in the identification process disaster risk analysis and treatment. The content of the textbook is in line with the curriculum of the subject Disaster Risk Management which is taught in the third year of basic academic studies of the Faculty of Security. In the writing of the textbooks great attention was paid to meeting high standards in terms of scientific and professional and pedagogical and didactic requirements and extensive scientific and professional material of all relevant foreign and domestic authors was used. Besides the author used a fair treasure trove of his scholarly and professional papers which have been scientifically verified by numerous international and national reviewers. Also the author incorporated most of his research findings in the country and abroad into the text of the textbook to enrich it with scientifically verified facts. Also invaluable experience in working with students has helped to release the textbook from the additional scientific reflection that would make it difficult to acquire basic knowledge in the field of disaster risk management.

The first edition of the textbook also has its limitations which are reflected in the insufficient theoretical development of the scientific discipline which is relatively young and should contribute to creating additional conditions for the construction of the theory I would like to emphasize that the textbook represents the first such publication published in the Serbian language in our region which will greatly improve the knowledge and professional competencies of the general professional public
