BLACK HISTORY IS AMERICAN HISTORY

James M. Smith
1801-1881

James M. Smith was a prominent African American businessman and philanthropist. He was the first African American to own a newspaper in the United States, the Frederick Douglass in New York City. He was also a successful real estate developer and a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

Let's study history so that we can know the past, change the present, and shape the future.

Frederick Douglass

Katherine Johnson
1918-2020

Katherine Johnson was a brilliant African American mathematician and NASA employee. She was one of the first African American women to work at NASA and played a key role in the space program, including the Apollo 11 mission.

Martin Luther King Jr.
1929-1968

Martin Luther King Jr. was a prominent African American leader and civil rights activist. He was the most visible spokesperson and leader in the American civil rights movement from 1955 until his assassination in 1968.

Coretta Scott King
1925-2006

Harriet Tubman
1822-1878

Harriet Tubman was a prominent African American abolitionist and social reformer. She was a leader in the Underground Railroad, helping many enslaved people escape to freedom.

Reclaiming the Black Past Pero G. Dagbovie, 2018-11-13 The past and future of Black history In this information overloaded twenty first century it seems impossible to fully discern or explain how we know about the past But two things are certain Whether we are conscious of it or not we all think historically on a routine basis And our perceptions of history including African American history have not necessarily been shaped by professional historians In this wide reaching and timely book Pero G. Dagbovie argues that public knowledge and understanding of black history including its historical icons has been shaped by institutions and individuals outside academic ivory towers Drawing on a range of compelling examples Dagbovie explores how in the twenty first century African American history is regarded depicted and juggled by diverse and contesting interpreters from museum curators to filmmakers entertainers politicians journalists and bloggers Underscoring the ubiquitous nature of African American history in contemporary American thought and culture each chapter unpacks how black history has been represented and remembered primarily during the Age of Obama the so called era of post racial American society Reclaiming the Black Past is Dagbovie's contribution to expanding how we understand African American history during the new millennium
