18 Gray Zachary Karabashliev:

18% Gray Zachary Karabashliev, 2015 18% Gray Zakhari Karabashliev, 2013 Distraught over the sudden disappearance of his wife Zack tries to drown his grief in Tijuana then returns to the U S with a stolen stash of marijuana Using this as an impetus to change his life Zack sets off for New York with the weed and a vintage Nikon Through the lens of the old camera he starts rediscovering himself by photographing an America we rarely see His journey unleashes a series of erratic hilarious and life threatening events interspersed with flashbacks to his relationship with Stella and life in Eastern Europe at the end of the 1980s Cartographies of Empire Myka Tucker-Abramson, 2025-03-18 The road novel is often dismissed as a mundane nostalgic genre Jack Sal and other tedious white men on the road trying to recapture an authentic youth and American past that never existed Yet new road novels appear every year tackling unexpected questions and spanning new geographies from Mexico Brazil Bulgaria Palestine Ukraine and former Yugoslavia Why did the road novel emerge and why does it persist What does it do and why has it traveled so widely Myka Tucker Abramson draws from an archive of more than 140 global road novels from over twenty countries challenging dominant conceptions of the road novel as primarily concerned with American experiences and subjectivities Grounding her analysis in materialist theories of genre world ecology and commodity frontier frameworks and post 45 American literary studies Tucker Abramson persuasively argues that the road novel is a genre specific to coterminous with and revealing of US hegemony s global trajectory Shifting our focus from Americanness to the fraught geopolitics of US Empire from the car to the built environment through which it moves and from passengers to those left behind Tucker Abramson remaps the road novel elucidating the genre s unique ability both to reveal the violent and vertiginous processes of capitalist modernization and to obfuscate these harsh truths through seductive narratives of individual success and failure Bulgarian Literature as World Literature Mihaela P. Harper, Dimitar Kambourov, 2020-11-12 Bulgarian Literature as World Literature examines key aspects and manifestations of 20th and 21st century Bulgarian literature by way of the global literary landscape The first volume to bring together in English the perspectives of prominent writers translators and scholars of Bulgarian literature and culture this long overdue collection identifies correlations between national and world aesthetic ideologies and literary traditions It situates Bulgarian literature within an array of contexts and foregrounds a complex interplay of changing internal and external forces These forces shaped not only the first collaborative efforts at the turn of the 20th century to insert Bulgarian literature into the world s literary repository but also the work of contemporary Bulgarian diaspora authors Mapping histories geographies economies and genetics the contributors assess the magnitudes and directions of such forces in order to articulate how a distinctly national minor literature produced for internal use and nearly invisible globally until the last decade transforms into world literature today Shoreless Bridges Elka Agoston-Nikolova, 2010 Exiles cross borders become non mainstream individuals and break through barriers of thought and experience Forced or chosen detachment can lead to originality of vision awareness of simultaneous dimensions in short a writing that challenges boundaries of genre monolingualism and national literatures The writers of the Balkan Slavic diaspora offer narratives of critical reflection strange fusions and unions representative of the new cultural identities of contemporary Europe This volume presents an interesting combination of original writer s essays by Tzveta Sofronieva Goran Stefanovski Dubravka Ugresic and academic discussions on the function of such narratives seeking answers to a number of academic questions related to the construction of the Self in processes of cultural translation transmission

Nine Rabbits Virginia Zaharieva, 2014-04-08 Zaharieva packs several genres into one including but not limited to pastoral idyll sexual coming of age story and feminist memoir Ultimately she presents life in all its messiness and possibility vivid enough for the reader to almost taste Publishers Weekly This is powerful controlled writing Rain Taxi I turned up in the seaside town of Nesebar an inconvenient four year old grandchild just as my grandmother was raising the last two of her six children putting the finishing touches on the house ordering the workmen around and doing some of the construction work herself thank God for that because at least it used up some of her monstrous energy Otherwise who knows what would've become of me In Bulgaria during the height of communism in the 1960s six year old Manda survives her cruel grandmother and rural poverty by finding sheer delight in the world plump vegetables garden gnomes and darkened attic corners The young Manda endures severe beatings seemingly indestructible But as a middle aged artist in newly democratic Bulgaria she desperately tries to feed her damaged soul with intrepid creativity and humor

Wolf Hunt Ivailo Petkov, 2017-05-16 Published in 1986 three years before the fall of the Berlin Wall Wolf Hunt was the first novel to portray the human cost of Communist policies on Bulgarian villagers forced by the government to abandon their land and traditional way of life Darkly comic and tragic the novel centers on an ill fated winter hunting expedition of six neighbors whose history together is long and interwoven The ensuing story takes the reader on a voyage of shifting perspectives that places the calamitous history of twentieth century Bulgaria into a human context of helplessness and desperation
