1100 Sukla Das,1977 ICE-BEES 2021 Kemal Budi Mulyono,Yozi Aulia Rahman,Dwi Puji Astuti,2022-03-17 We proudly present the proceedings of 4th International Conference on Economics Business and Economic Education Science 2021 ICE BEES 2021 It has focus on the innovations in economics business education environment and sustainable development The issue of economics and sustainable development is important today Especially in the time of Covid 19 Not only globally but also Indonesia nationally to the local level There are several important issues relating to this both institutionally and the relationships between individuals and groups in supporting the agenda of sustainable development More than 200 manuscripts were presented at this conference with 101 of them selected to be published in proceedings We hope by this conference discussions on the importance of sustainable development will increasingly become an important concern together Brings better response from the government and social relations for development The Liberal Way of War Robert P. Barnidge,Jr,2016-03-03 Examining some of the huge challenges that liberal States faced in the decade after 11 September 2001 the chapters in this book address three aspects of the impact of more than a decade of military action This book begins by considering four different expressions of universalist moral aspirations including the prohibition of torture and discusses migration and responsibility to protect as well as the United Nations Human Rights Committee s Concluding Observations about security and liberty in the last decade International humanitarian law and the problems posed by the territorial character of war and the effects of new technologies and child soldiers are also analysed Finally Islamic law and its interface with international law is considered from a new perspective and contributions in this final part offer a different way of thinking about an authentically Islamic modernisation that would be compatible with Western models of political order With contributions from international lawyers from diverse backgrounds this book fills an important gap in the literature on the themes of international human rights law international humanitarian law and Islamic law Proof, Evidence and Hate Crime Tshepo Bogosi Mosaka,2025-07-18 Proof is the property of a disputed fact being established inferentially from an extant fact This book explicates the structural components of this phenomenon in the context of hate crimes across various jurisdictions around the world It departs from the orthodox conception of evidence and proof as being a general value neutral or non normative and epistemic subject and offers a relativistic conception of this area of law The core argument is that proof is both semantically and methodologically determined by three conditions of materiality process and probativity This argument is then justified by the context specific application of this relativistic theory of proof to hate crimes This theoretical application of proof is sustained throughout the book using multiple examples and illustrations of hate crimes around the world The discussion both at the level of proof and hate crimes while focusing on the grounds of race religion and ethnicity specifically is framed in jurisprudential cross jurisdictional and interdisciplinary terms The book will be of interest to academics and researchers working in the areas of criminal law legal philosophy and procedural law Universalising International Law C. G. Weeramantry,2004 Universalising international law is one of the most urgent tasks awaiting those who wish to advance the discipline Though all the world acknowledges its universal nature it has long been confined in a largely monocultural mould Indeed a tendency is sometimes discernible for international law to be compartmentalised and to function within a close cabinet of technical rules little known to those outside the ranks of specialists This volume looks initially at some general aspects of universalisation It thereafter adopts a universalist approach to some of the sources of international law and it deals with peace the bedrock of international law which likewise requires a universalist approach It is hoped that these studies will highlight the imperative need that now exists for extending the conceptual framework of international law thereby buttressing its moral authority and widening its appeal at a time when universal acceptance of international law is one of the most pressing demands of the international system

Islam, Race, and Pluralism in the Pakistani Diaspora Craig Considine, 2017-07-06 This book explores the Pakistani diaspora in a transatlantic context enquiring into the ways in which young first and second generation Pakistani Muslim and non Muslim men resist hegemonic identity narratives and respond to their marginalised conditions Drawing on rich documentary ethnographic and interview material gathered in Boston and Dublin Islam Race and Pluralism in the Pakistani Diaspora introduces the term Pakphobia a dividing line that is set up to define the places that are safe and to distinguish us and them in a Pakistani diasporic context With a multiple case study design which accounts for the heterogeneity of Pakistani populations the author explores the language of fear and how this fear has given rise to a politics of fear whose aim is to distract and divide communities A rich cross national study of one of the largest minority groups in the US and Western Europe this book will appeal to sociologists anthropologists political scientists and geographers with interests in race and ethnicity migration and diasporic communities

Conversion in Late Antiquity: Christianity, Islam, and Beyond Arietta Papaconstantinou, Daniel L. Schwartz, 2016-03-03 The papers in this volume were presented at a Mellon Sawyer Seminar held at the University of Oxford in 2009-2010 which sought to investigate side by side the two important movements of conversion that frame late antiquity to Christianity at its start and to Islam at the other end Challenging the opposition between the two stereotypes of Islamic conversion as an intrinsically violent process and Christian conversion as a fundamentally spiritual one the papers seek to isolate the behaviours and circumstances that made conversion both such a common and such a contested phenomenon The spread of Buddhism in Asia in broadly the same period serves as an external comparator that was not caught in the net of the Abrahamic religions The volume is organised around several themes reflecting the concerns of the initial project with the articulation between norm and practice the role of authorities and institutions and the social and individual fluidity on the ground Debates discussions and the expression of norms and principles about conversion conversion are not rare in societies experiencing religious change and the first section of the book examines some of the main issues brought up by surviving sources This is followed by three sections examining different aspects of how those principles were or were not put into practice how conversion was handled by the state how it was continuously redefined by individual ambivalence and cultural fluidity and how it was enshrined through different forms of institutionalization Finally a topographical coda examines the effects of religious change on the iconic holy city of Jerusalem

National Trials of International Crimes in Bangladesh M. Rafiqul Islam, 2019-03-19 In National Trials of International Crimes in Bangladesh Professor Islam examines the judgments of the trials held under a domestic legislation which is uniquely distinct from international or hybrid trials of international crimes The book falling under international criminal law area is a ground breaking original work on the first ever such trials in the ICC era The author shows how the national law and judgments can act as a conduit to import international law to enrich and harmonise the domestic law of Bangladesh and whether the Bangladesh experience creates any precedential effect for such trials in the future b offers any lessons for the ICC complementarity and c contributes to the progressive development of Asian and international criminal jurisprudence

International Crime and Punishment James Larry Taulbee, 2009-06-30 The basics of international criminal law how it is actually enforced and the arguments it has provoked are all introduced in a book that is as current as the headline news International Crime and Punishment A Guide to the Issues explores the many facets of this relatively new field of criminal law an autonomous branch of law that concerns international crimes and the systems set up to handle individuals who are accused of committing them As the author explains international crimes include crimes against humanity crimes against peace war crimes trafficking in human beings drug trafficking money laundering arms trafficking and smuggling of cultural artifacts The laws may seem straightforward but the system is not without controversy As the author shows the United States has opposed certain actions of the International Criminal Court while other countries have objected to U S plans to refer persons accused of terrorism to military tribunals Clearly and cogently this work introduces the principles of international criminal law its enforcement and the conflicts that have arisen as a result Journalists policymakers students and educated citizens will find the book an essential tool for unraveling today's news stories
