also discusses a range of attempts undertaken to bridge the education divide. Subsequently the book has attempted in providing a socio technical framework towards optimally deploying social technologies for addressing the issue of education divide of marginalized communities. The proposed framework offers a transition from traditional content centric teacher centric and centralized education ecosystem to a connection centric learner centric and decentralized education ecosystem of the socio digital age. It demonstrates how Internet enabled digital platforms based on the principles of sharism and mass collaboration using social technologies could help to solve one of the greatest problems facing the world mitigating the extant education divide by delivering quality education to underprivileged sections of society. The book also presents empirical validation of the proposed framework to show how a community driven blended learning platform can mobilize the dormant knowledge capital of domain experts to teach underprivileged rural Indian children as well as help form communities of practice to enable lifelong learning for the rural adult population. The book closes by pointing out the challenges involved in building an equitable education ecosystem using social technologies and ultimately the possibility of creating a fair and equitable society. Given its scope the book offers a valuable resource for researchers, policymakers and practitioners in the domain of education who want to transform education ecosystems by using technological and process related innovations to improve educational practices for underprivileged sections of society. Library of Congress

Catalog Library of Congress, 1960 Advancing the Global Agenda for Human Rights, Vulnerable Populations, and Environmental Sustainability Mary V. Alfred, Petra A. Robinson, Elizabeth A. Roumell, 2021-10-01 For over 70 years the United Nations has worked to advance human conditions globally through its historic agenda for a more peaceful prosperous and just world. Through the work of the General Assembly and other programs like the UNESCO World Conferences on Adult Education the organization has taken a leading role in bringing world leaders together to dialogue on world issues and to set agendas for advancing social and economic justice among and within the regions of the world. The underlying themes of the United Nations agenda over the years have been world peace economic justice addressing the needs of the world's most vulnerable populations and protecting the environment. We draw from the two last two declarations from which the Millennium Development Goals September 2000 and the Sustainable Development Goals September 2015 were adopted by world leaders with a focus on addressing the needs of the most vulnerable populations. In this declaration world leaders committed to uphold the long standing principles of the organization and to combat extreme poverty hunger disease illiteracy environmental degradation and discrimination and violence against women. The overall objective of the book is to highlight the conditions of vulnerable populations from various contexts globally and the role adult and higher education can play and is playing in advancing the United Nations agenda of social and economic justice and environmental sustainability. Adult education through research teaching and service engagements is contributing to this ongoing effort but as many scholars have noted our work remains invisible and undocumented. Therefore this book highlights adult education's critical partnership in addressing these global issues It will also begin to fill the void that exists in adult education literature on internationalization of the field

Integral Education Sean Esbjörn-Hargens,Jonathan Reams,Olen

Gunnlaugson,2010-08-01 The educational challenges being faced today are driving us toward a new step in the evolution of educational theory and practice Educators are called to go beyond simply presenting alternatives to integrating the best of mainstream and alternative approaches and taking them to the next level Integral Education accomplishes this by bringing together leading researchers and practitioners from higher education who are actively exploring the frontiers of education from an integral perspective It presents an overview of the emerging landscape of integral education from a variety of theoretical and applied perspectives Key characteristics of integral education include exploring multiple perspectives employing different pedagogical techniques e g reflective dialogical empirical combining conceptual rigor with embodied experience drawing on developmental psychology and cultivating a reflective and transformative space for students and teachers alike Integral Education provides the most comprehensive synopsis of this exciting new approach and serves as a valuable resource for any integral effort within education
