tracing how and why intention was dismissed across much humanities scholarship and how it can be revisited and made relevant as a key formative evaluative and ethical concept The author argues that the academic disinterest in intention occurred simultaneously as genre criticism and later the rhetorical interest in genre came into its own Genre became a way to simultaneously elide and naturalize intention The book elaborates on the pedagogical ethical and empirical consequences

naturalizing intention through genre has had for rhetorical studies and it offers a new term curations to identify discursive forms actions and intentions working simultaneously Finally he also examines the gap between the humanities and STEM fields and shows specific ways scientists and engineers have called for the humanities to become more invested in intention as both a critical and an operational concept This book will be of interest to students and scholars of discourse studies and critical discourse analysis rhetoric and professional communication including those in fields such as medicine engineering STS and business studies

The Purpose of Romans L. Ann Jervis,1991-03-01 This book analyses the structure and content of the four epistolary sections of a Pauline letter most directly related to the question of purpose the opening formula the thanksgiving the apostolic Parousia and the conclusion Jervis proposes that while the concerns of the letter involve Paul s missionary plans and his desire to establish himself as the Roman Christians leader in the faith the primary function of Romans is for Paul to make available to Christians at Rome the good news in all of its power Romans is written to fulfil Paul s mandate to establish and nurture his Roman readers in a life of faith marked by obedience and holiness to preach the gospel to them

Luke's Christology of Divine Identity Nina Henrichs-Tarasenkova,2015-11-19 Henrichs Tarasenkova argues against a long tradition of scholars about how best to represent Luke s Christology When read against the backdrop of ancient ways of constructing personal identity key texts in the Lukan narrative demonstrate that Luke indirectly characterizes Jesus as the one God of Israel together with YHWH Henrichs Tarasenkova employs a narrative approach that takes into consideration recent studies of narrative and history and enables her to construct characters of YHWH and Jesus within the Lukan narrative She employs Richard Bauckham s concept of divine identity that she evaluates against her study of how one might speak of personal identity in the Greco Roman world She engages in close reading of key texts to demonstrate how Luke speaks of YHWH as God in order to demonstrate that Luke Acts upholds a traditional Jewish view that only the God of Israel is the one living God and to eliminate false expectations for how Luke should speak of Jesus as God This analysis establishes how Luke binds Jesus identity to the divine identity of YHWH and concludes that the Lukan narrative in fact does portray Jesus as God when it shows that Jesus shares YHWH s divine identity
