Digital Genres New Literacies And Autonomy In Language Learning:

Digital Genres, New Literacies and Autonomy in Language Learning María José Luzón, M^a Noelia Ruiz-Madrid, María Luisa Villanueva, 2010-07-12 The exponential growth in the amount and complexity of information transmitted and shared on the Internet and the capabilities afforded by new information technologies result in the continuous emergence of new genres and new literacy practices that call for new models of genre analysis and new approaches to teaching literacy and language where language learning autonomy has to take centre stage Any pedagogical approach which seeks to develop autonomy in online language learning should also be concerned with the development of new literacies with raising an awareness of digital texts and with the cognitive processes learners engage in when constructing meaning in hypertext The purpose of this volume is to lay the foundations for an approach to online language learning which draws on the analysis of digital texts and of the practices and strategies involved in using such texts With this aim in mind this book incorporates and draws relations between research on digital genres autonomy electronic literacies and language learning tasks combining theoretical reflections with pedagogical research The chapters in this volume written by researchers from different academic traditions report research concerning digital genres new literacy skills and the design of webtasks for effective language learning These chapters will be useful resources for researchers and doctoral students interested in the development of autonomous language learning in digital environments

Digital Games in Language Learning and Teaching Hayo Reinders, 2012-06-12 This edited volume explores how digital games have the potential to engage learners both within and outside the classroom and to encourage interaction in the target language This is the first dedicated collection of papers to bring together state of the art research in game based learning

Autonomy and Foreign Language Learning in a Virtual Learning Environment Miranda Hamilton, 2013-06-13 Digitalised learning with its promise of autonomy enhanced learner choice independence and freedom is an intuitive and appealing construct but closer examination reveals it to be a rather simplistic proposition raising the following questions What do we mean by autonomy What are we implying about the role of the teacher the classroom and interaction between learners What do we understand about the impact of technology on the ecology of the learning environment This book describes the use of a Virtual Learning Environment VLE by a group of advanced English language learners in Mexico comparing what students thought and what they did in response to the technology The theoretical aim of the book is to work towards the construction of a theory of the development of autonomy and virtual learning in an EFL context Enhanced understanding about the relationship between autonomy and technology has the potential to inform academics software designers materials writers teacher educators and teachers and to help learners in their quest to acquire a foreign language

Virtual Exchange for Intercultural Language Learning and Teaching Anthippi Potolia, Martine Derivry-Plard, 2022-09-19 This book illustrates new virtual intercultural practices for language learning from primary to tertiary education and highlights the transversality of these practices throughout the language curriculum The current English as a Lingua Franca ELF perspective sets the framework as a possible vector of cultural exchanges in a variety of contexts and from which the different authors coming from Europe and all over the world present their studies The book deploys diverse educational exchanges within a wide range of technological tools and with varied approaches to the intercultural dimension in language learning Through these virtual exchanges different languages and educational cultures come together to create emerging communities of practice co constructed for the limited time space of the collaborative projects This volume opens a dialogue with researchers from different backgrounds and theoretical and methodological perspectives as technology can no longer be apprehended without its purposeful human and semiotic meanings and conversely human and semiotic meanings can no longer be apprehended without Information and Communication Technology ICT Going beyond strict polarised views on the technology or humanistic approaches this book presents a more nuanced interrelated stance and will appeal to researchers scholars post graduate students and teachers in applied linguistics language learning and teaching education information studies cultural studies and intercultural communication

Language Education in Digital Spaces: Perspectives on Autonomy and Interaction Carolin Fuchs, Mirjam Hauck, Melinda Dooley, 2021-09-09 This book brings together contributions on learner autonomy from a myriad of contexts to advance our understanding of what autonomous language learning looks like with digital tools and how this understanding is shaped by and can shape different socio institutional curricular and instructional support To this end the individual contributions in the book highlight practice oriented empirically based research on technology mediated learner autonomy and its pedagogical implications They address how technology can support learner autonomy as process by leveraging the affordances available in social media virtual exchange self access or learning in the wild Hutchins 1995 The rapid evolution and adoption of technology in all aspects of our lives has pushed issues related to learner and teacher autonomy centre stage in the language education landscape This book tackles emergent challenges from different perspectives and diverse learning ecologies with a focus on social and educational in equality Specifically to this effect the chapters consider digital affordances of virtual exchange gaming and apps in technology mediated language learning and teaching ranging from instructed and semi instructed to self instructed contexts The volume foregrounds the concepts of critical digital literacy and social justice in relation to language learner and teacher autonomy and illustrates how this approach may contribute to institutional objectives for equality diversity and inclusion in higher education around the world and will be useful for researchers and teachers alike

Threshold Concepts on the Edge Julie A. Timmermans, Ray Land, 2019-12-30 Since the first literature about the Threshold Concepts Framework was published in 2003 a considerable body of educational research into this topic has grown internationally across a wide range of disciplines and professional fields Successful negotiation of a threshold concept can be seen as crossing boundaries into new conceptual space or as a portal opening up new and previously inaccessible ways of thinking about something In this unfamiliar conceptual terrain fresh insights and perceptions come into view and access is gained to new discourses This frequently entails encounters with troublesome knowledge knowledge which provokes a liminal phase of transition in which new understandings must be integrated and importantly prior conceptions relinquished There is often double trouble in that letting go of a prevailing familiar view frequently involves a discomfiting change in the subjectivity of the learner We become what we know It is a space in which the learner might become stuck

Threshold Concepts on the Edge the fifth volume in a series on this subject discusses the new directions of this research Its six sections address issues that arise in relation to theoretical development liminal space ontological transformations curriculum interdisciplinarity and aspects of writing across learning thresholds
