Auschwitz And After Charlotte Delbo:

Auschwitz and After Charlotte Delbo, 1995-01-01 Delbo was arrested in 1942 for anti German activity and was one of 230 Frenchwomen sent to Auschwitz in January 1943 Only 49 survived Days and Memory Charlotte Delbo, 2001 Charlotte Delbo a non Jew sent to Auschwitz for being a member of the French resistance movement recalls the poems vignettes and meditations that fed her companions spirits interweaving her experiences with the sufferings of others and depicting dignity and decency in the face of inhumanity Traumatic Response and Reality in Charlotte Delbo's Auschwitz and After Brandy Lee Opse, 2004 Unselfing Michaela Hulstyn, 2022-08-31 Altered states of consciousness including experiences of deprivation pain hallucination fear desire alienation and spiritual transcendence can transform the ordinary experience of selfhood Unselfing explores the nature of disruptive self experiences and the different shapes they have taken in literary writing The book focuses on the tension between rival conceptions of unselfing as either a form of productive self transcendence or a form of alienating self loss Michaela Hulstyn explores the shapes and meanings of unselfing through the framework of the global French literary world encompassing texts by modernist figures in France and Belgium alongside writers from Algeria Rwanda and Morocco Together these diverse texts prompt a re evaluation of the consequences of the loss or the transcendence of the self Through a series of close readings Hulstyn offers a new account of the ethical questions raised by altered states and shows how philosophies of empathy can be tested against and often challenged by literary works Drawing on cognitive science and phenomenology Unselfing provides a new methodology for approaching texts that give shape to the fringes of conscious experience Reading Rhetoric Through Trauma Mikaela Janet Malsin, 2012 Despite many clear points of connection the field of rhetoric has largely remained silent on the notion of trauma or overwhelming experience I seek to establish the ways in which trauma simultaneously creates the exigency for rhetoric and complicates its task using Holocaust survivor Charlotte Delbo's groundbreaking memoir Auschwitz and After as a case study I argue drawing upon the work of Susan J Brison that the externalization of her memories in narrative form allows Delbo to reclaim the self devastated by trauma the text however shatters conventional expectations of what constitutes a coherent narrative as set forth by Walter Fisher in his narrative paradigm I conclude that Auschwitz and After is significant in that it enacts the trauma it seeks to transmit a necessary approach in the face of the loss of reason and language engendered by the Holocaust

Unwanted Beauty Brett Ashley Kaplan, 2007 Controversial questions about beauty in artistic depictions of the Holocaust

After the Deportation Philip Nord, 2020-12-03 A total of 160 000 people a mix of r sistants and Jews were deported from France to camps in Central and Eastern Europe during the Second World War In this compelling new study Philip Nord addresses how the Deportation as it came to be known was remembered after the war and how Deportation memory from the very outset became politicized against the backdrop of changing domestic and international contexts He shows how the Deportation generated competing narratives Jewish Catholic Communist and Gaullist and analyzes the stories told by and about deportees after the war and how these stories were given form in literature art film monuments and ceremonials

Responding to the increasingly influential role of Hannah Arendt's political philosophy in recent years Hannah Arendt and the Limits of Total Domination The Holocaust Plurality and Resistance critically engages with Arendt's understanding of totalitarianism According to Arendt the main goal of totalitarianism was total domination namely the virtual eradication of human legality morality individuality and plurality This attempt in her view was most fully realized in the concentration camps which served as the major laboratories for the regime While Arendt focused on the perpetrators logic and drive Michal Aharony examines the perspectives and experiences of the victims and their ability to resist such an experiment The first book length study to juxtapose Arendt's concept of total domination with actual testimonies of Holocaust survivors this book calls for methodological pluralism and the integration of the voices and narratives of the actors in the construction of political concepts and theoretical systems To achieve this Aharony engages with both well known and non canonical intellectuals and writers who survived Auschwitz and Buchenwald concentration camps. Additionally, she analyzes the oral testimonies of survivors who are largely unknown, drawing from interviews conducted in Israel and in the U.S. as well as from videotaped interviews from archives around the world. Revealing various manifestations of unarmed resistance in the camps, this study demonstrates the persistence of morality and free agency even under the most extreme and dehumanizing conditions while cautiously suggesting that absolute domination is never as absolute as it claims or wishes to be. Scholars of political philosophy, political science, history, and Holocaust studies will find this an original and compelling book. Moral Repair Margaret Urban Walker, 2006-09-18. Moral Repair examines the ethics and moral psychology of responses to wrongdoing. Explaining the emotional bonds and normative expectations that keep human beings responsive to moral standards and responsible to each other, Margaret Urban Walker uses realistic examples of both personal betrayal and political violence to analyze how moral bonds are damaged by serious wrongs and what must be done to repair the damage. Focusing on victims of wrong, their right to validation, and their sense of justice, Walker presents a unified and detailed philosophical account of hope, trust, resentment, forgiveness, and making amends, the emotions and practices that sustain moral relations. Moral Repair joins a multidisciplinary literature concerned with transitional and restorative justice, reparations, and restoring individual dignity and mutual trust in the wake of serious wrongs. A Literary Analysis of Charlotte Delbo's Concentration Camp Re-presentation Nicole Thatcher, 2000. Among the testimonial writings on WWII, those of Charlotte Delbo (1913-1985) occupy a recognized place in the literature of atrocity. Critics and researchers have been interested in the way the imaginative truth of her experience has been conveyed, yet most have not considered the way she dealt with conventions of literary genres she chose, influences that affected her, and the cultural and situational elements which had a bearing on her as a writer. This work brings together Delbo's writing on her concentrationary experience, including plays and prose, with her writing that is not related to that experience and examines their literary aspects and factors which played a role in shaping them. In 1943, Charlotte Delbo and 229 other women were deported to a station with no name, which they later learned was Auschwitz. Arrested for resisting the Nazi occupation of Paris, Delbo was sent to the camps, enduring both Auschwitz and Ravensbrück for twenty-seven months. There, she and her fellow deportees and millions of others were subjected to slave labor and nearly succumbed to typhus, dysentery, and hunger. She sustained herself by reciting Molière and resolved to someday write a book about herself and her fellow deportees, a stunning work called None of Us Will Return. After the camps, Delbo devoted her life to the art of writing and the duty of witnessing, fiercely advocating for the power of the arts to testify against despotism and tyranny. Ghislaine Dunant's unforgettable biography of Delbo, La vie retrouvée (2016), captivated French readers and was awarded the Prix Femina. Now translated into English for the first time, Charlotte Delbo: A Life Reclaimed depicts Delbo's lifelong battles as a working class woman as a survivor as a leftist who broke from the Communist Party and most of all as a writer whose words compelled others to see

On Feminist Ethics and Politics Claudia Card, 1999 For years mainstream feminist ethics focused criticism on male supremacy Feminist philosophers in this volume adopt a less male focused stance to look closely at oppression's impact on women's agency and on women's relations with women Examining legal social and physical relationships these philosophers confront moral ambiguity moral compromise and complicity in perpetuating oppression Combining personal experience with philosophical inquiry they vividly portray their daily engagement with oppression as both victims and perpetrators They explore such issues as how pornography silences women and radical feminist politics complicity in racism Among these insightful essays Sandra Bartky argues that women share guilt for racism when they benefit from it without protest Susan Brison reflects on uses of narrative in trauma recovery from such experiences as being targeted for rape or murder Joan Callahan examines fallout of derogatory speech directed at lesbians Virginia Held proposes carrying care into marketplaces and governments and in her introduction Claudia Card draws on Primo Levi's conception of gray zones in exploring dangers of character damage to victims of misogyny A fitting companion to Card's highly regarded Feminist Ethics this volume interweaves observations on character political ethics violence and love into an accessible sourcebook for students It tackles some of feminism's most pressing issues and helps readers to identify and then overcome the real damage caused by oppression

Other People's Pain Martin Modlinger, 2011 This series promotes inquiry into the relationship between literary texts and their cultural and intellectual contexts in theoretical interpretative and historical perspectives It has developed out of a research initiative of the German Department at Cambridge University but its focus of interest is on the European tradition broadly perceived Its purpose is to encourage comparative and interdisciplinary research into the connections between cultural history and the literary imagination generally
