Binding Media Élika Ortega, 2025-03-04 Far from causing the death of the book the publishing industry's adoption of digital technologies has generated a multitude of new works that push the boundaries of literature and its presentation. In this fascinating new work, like Ortega proposes the notion of binding media, a practice where authors and publishers fasten together a codex and electronic or digital media to create literary works in the form of hybrid print/digital objects. Examining more than a hundred literary works from across the Americas, Ortega argues that binding media are not simply experimentations but a unique contemporary form of the book that effectively challenges conventional regional and linguistic boundaries. Furthermore, the book demonstrates that binding media have remained marginal in the publishing industry due to technological imperatives like planned obsolescence and commercial ones like replicability and standardization that run counter to these bespoke literary projects. Although many binding media and other hybrid publishing initiatives have perished, they've left behind a wealth of material for collecting and tracing the residues of these foreshortened projects. Ortega builds a fascinating history of hybrid publishing. Ultimately, this essential account of contemporary book history highlights the way binding media help illuminate processes of cultural hybridization that have been instigated by the expediency of globalized digital technologies and transnational dynamics.

Level 6, Whitaker's Books in Print, 1998 Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature Supplement, 1919 These vols contain the same material as the early vols of Social sciences/humanities index. A History of Intellectual Property in 50 Objects Claudy Op den Kamp, Dan Hunter, 2019-06-20 What do the Mona Lisa, the light bulb, and a Lego brick have in common? The answer: intellectual property (IP) may be surprising because IP laws are all about us but go mostly unrecognized. They are complicated and arcane, and few people understand why they should care about copyright, patents, and trademarks. In this lustrous collection, Claudy Op den Kamp and Dan Hunter have brought together a group of contributors drawn from around the globe in fields including law, history, sociology, science, and technology, media, and even horticulture to tell a history of IP in 50 objects. These objects not only demonstrate the significance of the IP system but also show how IP has developed and how it has influenced history. Each object is at the core of a story that will be appreciated by anyone interested in how great innovations offer a unique window into our past, present, and future.
