Political Discourse Media And Translation:

Political Discourse, Media and Translation Christina Schaeffner, 2009-12-14 This volume addresses the role played by translation in international political communication and news reporting and brings to light the usually invisible link between politics media and translation The contributors explore the interrelationship between media in the widest sense and translation with a focus on political texts institutional contexts and translation policies These topics are explored from a Translation Studies perspective thus bringing a new disciplinary view to the investigation of political discourse and the language of the media The first part of the volume focuses on textual analysis investigating transformations that occur in translation processes and the second part examines institutional contexts and policies and their effects on translation production and reception

The Ideological Stamp Rima Malkawi, 2012 The aim of this book is to examine the way the ideological stamp manipulates the translation of political discourse in news media and how it affects accuracy in the translation process In the ideal world news media mainly news reports are expected to present information objectively in order to allow readers to make up their own minds However this book argues that translation particularly in the context of media discourse about Arab Muslim political affairs with the western world is not a mere linguistic tool of ideological manipulation The analysis reveals the critical role of ideology in manipulating the production of news reports The analysis also indicated that the inaccuracy and mistranslation of the extracted political samples of news reports are motivated by a wider perspective of political ideological editorial stance Consequently intentional and inaccurate news media translation of such nature must be distinguished from the mistranslation caused by the incompetence of the translator Back cover

Chinese News Discourse Nancy Xiuzhi Liu, Candace Veecock, Shixin Ivy Zhang, 2021-06-16 As a country in transition Chinese news discourse has quite distinctive characteristics and more so given the power of state media in society With China's engagement in world affairs and its massive Belt and Road Initiative BRI now in place Western media coverage of China has dramatically increased Against this backdrop news dissemination and discourse demonstrate a need for academia to give perspectives with interdisciplinary approaches Chinese News Discourse presents original research from academics in China and the West showing theoretical methodological and practical dimensions between news media and discourse The book focuses on Chinese news discourse by examining what new modern features it demonstrates in contrast and comparison to news discourses in other countries in the coverage of such hot topics as the BRI or the 70th Anniversary of the Founding of the People's Republic of China just to name a few This book is a useful resource for scholars and students of discourse language media and communication studies as well as translation studies News Media Translation Federico Zanettin, 2021-11-11 The translation of information is of central concern to scholars and researchers in the humanities and social sciences Based on interdisciplinary research this book provides a wide ranging accessible introduction to research in translation practices processes and products in the news media present and past Handbook of Translation Studies Yves Gambier, Luc van Doorslaer, 2013 The HTS in both its print and online version provides easy access to a large range of topics traditions and methods in Translation Studies Analysing Political Speeches Christina Schäffner, 1997 This volume deals with political speeches particularly commemorative addresses from the perspective of critical discourse analysis Such addresses are characterized as representative and epideictic as exemplified by an address by the Dutch Queen Beatrix to the Knesset during her 1995 state visit to Israel Critical consideration is given to the role of rhetoric within political discourse analysis Translation and Representation of Political Discourse in the Media Manar Nabil Abu Al Oyoum, American University of Sharjah. College of Arts and Sciences, 2011 The aim of this thesis is to examine translation of Arabic political discourse into English by the Middle East Media Research Institute MEMRI Three texts from different Arabic newspapers along with their MEMRI translations were analyzed in terms of language and discourse Abstract Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts, 1999 The Role of Discourse Analysis for Translation and in Translator Training Christina Schäffner, 2002-01-01 It has been widely recognised that an in depth textual analysis of a source text is relevant for translation This book discusses the role of Discourse Analysis for translation and translator training One particular model of discourse analysis is presented in detail and its application in the context of translator training is critically examined Pragmatics, 1994 Chinese Political Discourse in Translation Lijuan Du, 2025-06-03 Building on Fairclough's critical discourse analysis CDA framework Du examines the official translators agency in reconstructing the image of China Comparing the source text and target text her book focuses on ideologically striking translation shifts that occur at different levels Drawing on the Seven Reports to the National Congresses of the Communist Party of China CPC 1992 2022 as a corpus Du explores the official translators agency in representing the image of China as well as the recontextualization of the translated discourse of the Report to the National Congress of the CPC in the international media She delves into the balance between discourse ideology and political and social function and argues that at their essence discourse changes by the translator represent a change of ideology and the acquisition of discourse power is the manifestation of ideological power Striking the balance between theoretical and empirical studies this book reveals the role of discourse in building the media view of China corroborating the interrelationship between discourse and ideology The book will be of interest to researchers and postgraduate students of discourse analysis corpus linguistics and media studies Interpreting Across Genres Cynthia J. Agency, Politics, and Media Translation in Saudi Arabia Nada H. Al Sowilem, 2016 The aim of this thesis is to explore the interconnection between politics the media and translation with particular reference to the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia KSA Agency and politics play an important role in both media and translation and this is particularly so in KSA For geopolitical reasons KSA realized it had to be media proactive to foster its emerging regional and global position Political discourse through the media is a complex phenomenon it is an institutional discourse that is also a media discourse but mediated politics In KSA newspapers still dominate the circulation of political discourse including its translation To this end six political texts from two different newspapers Aljazira in Arabic and the Saudi Gazette in English are analyzed according to the direct and oblique translation methods and their associated strategies as proposed by Vinay and Darbelnet 1995 The chosen texts deal with both local and international issues concerning KSA and are translated by the two newspapers The analysis indicates that translation from Arabic into English seems to use the two methods and their strategies more than translation from English into Arabic This is perhaps due to the constraints of the cultural context on the translation of political discourse in KSA Abstract
