J. Eagles, 2001 Tourism and the Economy James Mak, 2003-10-31
Tourism is one of the fastest growing industries in the world Many countries see it as a passport to their economic development others express concern that uncontrolled tourism may overwhelm their natural cultural social and physical resources The question of how best to harness tourism for the good of host communities is increasingly debated and forms the basis of this book Written in a highly accessible style for a general audience as well as professionals it applies an economic way of thinking to tourism to help readers gain a better understanding of this dynamic and fascinating global industry Tourism Collaboration and Partnerships Bill Bramwell, Bernard Lane, 2003-01-01
The key importance of involving diverse stakeholders in tourism planning and management is increasingly recognized Collaboration and partnerships are essential ways of achieving this Researchers and practitioners examine the processes issues and politics involved in this growing field Biodiversity and Tourism German Federal Agency for Nature Conservation, 2012-12-06
It is in the best interest of all concerned that tourism become sustainable and environmentally compatible This need for sustainable development is and more by the responsible parties Moreover in the being recognised more search for solution strategies the realisation is gaining ground that tourism must be viewed as a worldwide phenomenon whose development must be co ordinated in a co operative effort spanning regions and continents That the preservation of biological diversity also requires global co operation has been confirmed by over 170 countries which have already acceded to the Convention on Biological Diversity It is thus an important task to provide the foundations for joint action Germany one of the largest source countries of international tourism must feel particularly obligated in this regard The report published here is the result of a research project com missioned by the German Federal Agency for Nature Conservation The study pursued and examined the thesis that the Convention on Biological Diversity be used as a central instrument for arriving at international principles and regulations for combining nature conservation and tourism which could lead to a sustainable development of tourism To further the discussion the authors brought the study to a logical conclusion by working out a proposal for a tourism protocol additional to the existing Convention on Biodiversity Such a protocol additional to the Convention would entail the stipulation of internationally binding implementation and regulations for achieving sustainable tourism
