

A vertical, symmetrical, and mirrored artwork by Peter Paul Rubens. The composition is centered around a vertical axis. At the top, a small, dark, circular object with a cross-like shape inside is mirrored. Below it, a large, white, winged figure with a golden crown and a long, flowing white beard is mirrored. The central figure is a woman in a red, form-fitting dress, standing with her arms outstretched, mirrored. Below her, two crossed red and white poles or staffs are mirrored. On either side of the poles are two black, winged figures. In the center, a small, dark, circular object with a cross-like shape inside is mirrored. Below this, a blue, oval-shaped object with a golden crown and a long, flowing white beard is mirrored. On either side of the oval are two black, winged figures. Below the oval, a large, white, winged figure with a golden crown and a long, flowing white beard is mirrored. At the bottom, a small, dark, circular object with a cross-like shape inside is mirrored. The entire artwork is set against a light blue background.

Lakota Belief and Ritual James R. Walker, 1980-01-01 The real value of Lakota Belief and Ritual is that it provides raw narratives without any pretension of synthesis or analysis as well as insightful biographical information on the man who contributed more than any other individual to our understanding of early Oglala ritual and belief Plains Anthropologist In the writing of Indian history historians and other scholars seldom have the opportunity to look at the past through native eyes or to immerse themselves in documents created by Indians For the Oglala and some of the other divisions of the Lakota the Walker materials provide this kind of experience in fascinating and rich detail during an important transition period in their history Minnesota History This collection of documents is especially remarkable because it preserves individual variations of traditional wisdom from a whole generation of highly developed wicasa wakan holy men Lakota Belief and Ritual is a wasicun container of power that can make traditional Lakota wisdom assume new life American Indian Quarterly A work of prime importance its publication represents a major addition to our knowledge of the Lakotas way of life Journal of American Folklore Raymond J DeMallie director of the American Indian Studies Research Institute and a professor of anthropology at Indiana University is the editor of James R Walker s Lakota Society 1982 and of The Sixth Grandfather Black Elk s Teachings Given to John G Neihardt 1984 a Bison Book both published by the University of Nebraska Press Elaine A Jahner a professor of English at Dartmouth College has edited Walker s Lakota Myth 1983 also a Bison Book

Encountering Earth Trevor George Hunsberger Bechtel, Matt Eaton, Tim Harvie, 2018-05-14 One day Matthew Eaton was walking through an impromptu animal shelter display at his local pet store when suddenly an eight month old kitten dug his claws into Eaton s flesh Eaton recognized that the eyes of this cat and the curve of his claw compelled a response analogous to those found in the writings of Buber Levinas and Derrida And not just Eaton but a whole community of theologians have found themselves in an encounter with particular places and animals that demands rich theological reflection Eaton enlisted fellow editors Harvie and Bechtel to collect the essays in this volume in which theologians listen to horses rats snakes cats dogs and the earth itself who become new theological voices demanding a response In this volume the voice of the more than human world is heard as making theology possible These essays suggest that what we say theologically represents not simply ideas of our own making subsequently superimposed onto the natural world through our own discovery but rather flow from an expressive Earth

Eagle Dancer Theresa Scott, 2012-02-23 Caught Once honorable Paul Baron is now a man broken by war He welcomes death at the hands of his sworn enemies for only death can free him from the true misery his life has become Caught Between the world of her Sioux mother and the turmoil brought by her white father s people encroaching on the Sioux lands Hope is unaccountably drawn to the brave enemy soldier her people are about to kill Caught In each other s worlds When both are given one last chance to live will they seize the gift of love or will they let war and fear destroy everything worth living for
