The Real Internet Architecture Pamela Zave, Jennifer Rexford, 2024-06-25 A new way to understand the architecture of today's Internet based on an innovative general model of network architecture that is rigorous realistic and modular This book meets the long standing need for an explanation of how the Internet's architecture has evolved since its creation to support an ever broader range of the world's communication needs The authors introduce a new model of network architecture that exploits a powerful form of modularity to provide lucid insightful descriptions of complex structures functions and behaviors in today's Internet Countering the idea that the Internet's architecture is ossified or rigid this model which is presented through hundreds of examples rather than mathematical notation encompasses the Internet's original or classic architecture its current architecture and its possible future architectures For practitioners the book offers a precise and realistic approach to comparing design alternatives and guiding the ongoing evolution of their applications technologies and security practices For educators and students the book presents patterns that recur in many variations and in many places in the Internet ecosystem Each pattern tells a compelling story with a common problem to be solved and a range of solutions for solving it For researchers the book suggests many directions for future research that exploit modularity to simplify optimize and verify network implementations without loss of functionality or flexibility

Computational Network Science Henry Hexmoor, 2014-09-23 The emerging field of network science represents a new style of research that can unify such traditionally diverse fields as sociology economics physics biology and computer science It is a powerful tool in analyzing both natural and man made systems using the relationships between players within these networks and between the networks themselves to gain insight into the nature of each field Until now studies in network science have been focused on particular relationships that require varied and sometimes incompatible datasets which has kept it from being a truly universal discipline Computational Network Science seeks to unify the methods used to analyze these diverse fields This book provides an introduction to the field of Network Science and provides the groundwork for a computational algorithm based approach to network and system analysis in a new and important way This new approach would remove the need for tedious human based analysis of different datasets and help researchers spend more time on the qualitative aspects of network science research Demystifies media hype regarding Network Science and serves as a fast paced introduction to state of the art concepts and systems related to network science Comprehensive coverage of Network Science algorithms methodologies and common problems Includes references to formative and updated developments in the field Coverage spans mathematical sociology economics political science and biological networks

Data-centric Living V. Sridhar, 2021-11-29 This book explores how data about our everyday online behaviour are collected and how they are processed in various ways by algorithms powered by Artificial Intelligence AI and Machine Learning ML The book

when media moves from the new to the habitual when our bodies become archives of supposedly obsolescent media streaming updating sharing saving New media we are told exist at the bleeding edge of obsolescence We thus forever try to catch up updating to remain the same Meanwhile analytic creative and commercial efforts focus exclusively on the next big thing figuring out what will spread and who will spread it the fastest But what do we miss in this constant push to the future In Updating to Remain the Same Wendy Hui Kyong Chun suggests another approach arguing that our media matter most when they seem not to matter at all when they have moved from new to habitual Smart phones for example no longer amaze

but they increasingly structure and monitor our lives Through habits Chun says new media become embedded in our lives indeed we become our machines we stream update capture upload link save trash and troll Chun links habits to the rise of networks as the defining concept of our era Networks have been central to the emergence of neoliberalism replacing society with groupings of individuals and connectable YOUS For isn't new media actually NYOU media Habit is central to the inversion of privacy and publicity that drives neoliberalism and networks Why do we view our networked devices as personal when they are so chatty and promiscuous What would happen Chun asks if rather than pushing for privacy that is no privacy we demanded public rights the right to be exposed to take risks and to be in public and not be attacked Postdigital
