The Ego Tunnel Science Of Mind And Myth Self Thomas Metzinger:

The Ego Tunnel Thomas Metzinger,2010-05-21 We re used to thinking about the self as an independent entity something that we either have or are In The Ego Tunnel philosopher Thomas Metzinger claims otherwise No such thing as a self exists The conscious self is the content of a model created by our brain an internal image but one we cannot experience as an image Everything we experience is a virtual self in a virtual reality But if the self is not real why and how did it evolve How does the brain construct it Do we still have souls free will personal autonomy or moral accountability In a time when the science of cognition is becoming as controversial as evolution The Ego Tunnel provides a stunningly original take on the mystery of the mind

Reality: A Very Short Introduction Jan Westerhoff,2011-11-24 What is real has been one of the key questions of philosophy since its beginning in antiquity But it is not just a question that philosophers ask This Very Short Introduction discusses what reality is by looking at a variety of arguments theories and thought experiments from philosophy physics and cognitive science

Modernism and the Machinery of Madness Andrew Gaedtke,2017-10-26 Modernism and the Machinery of Madness demonstrates the emergence of a technological form of paranoia within modernist culture which transformed much of the period s experimental fiction Gaedtke argues that the works of writers such as Samuel Beckett Anna Kavan Wyndham Lewis Mina Loy Evelyn Waugh and others respond to the collapse of categorical distinctions between human and machine Modern British and Irish novels represent a convergence between technological models of the mind and new media that were often regarded as thought influencing machines Gaedtke shows that this literary paranoia comes into new focus when read in light of twentieth century memoirs of mental illness By thinking across the discourses of experimental fiction mental illness psychiatry cognitive science and philosophy of mind this book shows the historical and conceptual sources of this confusion as well as the narrative responses This book contributes to the fields of modernist studies disability studies and medical humanities

The Eco-Self in Early Modern English Literature Elizabeth Gruber,2025-10-01 The Eco Self in Early Modern English Literature tracks an important shift in early modern conceptions of selfhood arguing that the period hosted the birth of a new subset of the human the eco self which melds a deeply introspective turn with an abiding sense of humans embedment in the world A confluence of cultural factors produced the relevant changes Of paramount significance was the rapid spread of literacy in England and across Europe reading transformed the relationship between self and world retooled moral reasoning and even altered human anatomy This book pursues the salutary possibilities including the ecological benefits of this redesigned self by advancing fresh readings of texts by William Shakespeare Christopher Marlowe John Webster and Margaret Cavendish The eco self offers certain refinements to ecological theory by renewing appreciation for the rational deliberative functions that distinguish humans from other species

Romanticism and Speculative Realism Chris Washington,Anne C. McCarthy,2019-01-24 Romanticism and Speculative Realism features a range of scholars working at the intersection of literary poetics and philosophy It considers how the writing of the Romantic era reconceptualizes the human imagination the natural world and the language that correlates them in radical ways that can advance current speculative debates concerning new ontologies and new materialisms In their wide ranging examinations of canonical and non canonical romantic writers the scholars gathered here rethink the connections between the human and non human world to envision speculative modes of social being and ecological politics Spanning historical and national frameworks from historical romanticism to contemporary post romantic ecology and from British and German romanticism to global modernity these essays examine life in all its varied forms in and beyond the Anthropocene

Cognitive Media Theory Ted Nannicelli, Paul Taberham, 2014-03-26 Across the academy scholars are debating the question of what bearing scientific inquiry has upon the humanities The latest addition to the AFI Film Readers series Cognitive Media Theory takes up this question in the context of film and media studies This collection of essays by internationally recognized researchers in film and media studies psychology and philosophy offers film and media scholars and advanced students an introduction to contemporary cognitive media theory an approach to the study of diverse media forms and content that draws upon both the methods and explanations of the sciences and the humanities Exploring topics that range from color perception to the moral appraisal of characters to our interactive engagement with videogames Cognitive Media Theory showcases the richness and diversity of cognitivist research This volume will be of interest not only to students and scholars of film and media but to anyone interested in the possibility of a productive relationship between the sciences and humanities

The Imaginary App Paul D. Miller, Svitlana Matviyenko, 2014-08-29 The mobile app as technique and imaginary tool offering a shortcut to instantaneous connection and entertainment Mobile apps promise to deliver happiness to our devices at the touch of a finger or two Apps offer gratifyingly immediate access to connection and entertainment The array of apps downloadable from the app store may come from the cloud but they attach themselves firmly to our individual movement from location to location on earth In The Imaginary App writers theorists and artists including Stephen Wolfram in conversation with Paul Miller and Lev Manovich explore the cultural and technological shifts that have accompanied the emergence of the mobile app These contributors and interviewees see apps variously as a machine of transcendence a hulking wound in our nervous system or a promise of new possibilities They ask whether the app is an object or a relation and if it could be a metamedium that supersedes all other artistic media They consider the control and power exercised by software architecture the app's prosthetic ability to enhance certain human capacities in reality or in imagination the app economy and the divergent possibilities it offers of making a living or making a fortune and the app as medium and mediator of reality Also included and documented in color are selected projects by artists asked to design truly imaginary apps icons of the impossible These include a female sexual arousal graph using Doppler images The Ultimate App which accepts a payment and then closes without providing information or functionality and iLuck which uses GPS technology and four leaf clover icons to mark places where luck might be found Contributors Christian Ulrik Andersen

Jeremy Wisniewski, 2023-04-14 This book explores the moral place of the dead in our lives and in our afterlives It argues that our lives are saturated by the past intentions and values of the dead and that we offer the dead a form of modest immortality by fulfilling our obligations to remember them In the first part of the book the author examines the scope and limits of our obligations to the dead Our obligations to respect the wishes of the dead are more substantial than commonly acknowledged but they can be overridden in a range of cases when they conflict with the vital interests of the living such as in organ donation and wealth inheritance By contrast the author contends that the obligation to remember at least collectively cannot be completely overridden In the second part of the book the author argues that tradition offers the dead a form of modest immortality the dead live on insofar as we enact those intentional states with which they most identified He draws on the Confucian view of ritual to argue that ritual absorption reincarnates the dead in the actions of the living Finally the author defends a Jamesian account of a pluralistic self that is consistent with the view that we have obligations to the individual dead and that the selves of the dead are pragmatic constructions Living with the Dead will appeal to scholars and students interested in the philosophy of death ethics and cross cultural philosophy Transformative Arts Gary A. Berg, 2024-03-02 Traditional fine arts are often regarded as rarefied something accessed by the uniquely talented and displayed in impressive museums or on lavish stages Art thusly conceived is something that most people never practice in their lives Yet in day to day life we all experience creative satisfaction through interaction with the physical and social environment that is a form of artistic practice In Transformative Arts Biological Digital and Everyday Aesthetics Gary A Berg explores what we gain through understanding ways to live imaginative lives and considers the increasingly important collaborative role of computers and interaction with nature Dreaming Reality Vladimir Miskovic, Steven Jay Lynn, 2025-02-04 Dreaming Reality looks to mystical traditions to challenge orthodoxies of brain science that model consciousness in purely physical terms Instead of privileging the experience of waking life the authors study visionary states ego death meditation prayer and other phenomena that bring us closer to understanding how the mind makes experience

At the Edge of Existence Brandon West,2021-12-13 Few scary stories begin with a disclaimer that they are fictional Instead they claim to be true even when they are not Such stories blur the line between fiction and reality pushing audiences to consider where fiction ends and reality begins These kinds of horror stories comprise the understudied subgenre of liminal horror As the first book on this subject this volume surveys a variety of liminal horror films It discusses the different variations within liminal horror s sub genres and considers why horror films are obsessed with the natures of and borders between fiction and reality After first laying out the basic traits of the horror genre in the context of liminality this book then dives into film more specifically and how the medium is uniquely situated to explore the movement between the fictional and the real Through lenses such as dreaming memory and perception the following chapters explore the role liminal horror plays in the the human psyche s subconscious unconscious and the various functions of the human mind in perceiving or misperceiving reality

Consciousness and Transcendence Loomis Mayer,2023-10-27 A central but rarely explored mystery of human existence and subjective consciousness was recognized by Blaise Pascal several centuries ago Why am I me and not you or anyone else Science can explain why there is objectively a person here but not why that person is subjectively me This relates to the more widely debated mind body problem more currently known as the Hard Problem of Consciousness Moving on to human culture including religion and the arts this book asks whether these are the direct result of Darwinian evolution or rather of the nature of human consciousness Do the mysteries of our consciousness of our existence have a role to play

Don't Talk About Politics Sarah Stein Lubrano,2025-05-15 Democracy is dying because we are clinging to a dangerous and outdated myth talking about politics can change people s minds It doesn t This provocative debut from a bold new voice combines a fascinating range of research to show us the psychological and sociological factors that really shape our politics Drawing from ancient philosophy to modern neuroscience and social science Dr Sarah Stein Lubrano reveals the surprising truth about how people think and behave politically From friendship to community organizing and social infrastructure she explores the actions that actually do change minds In a world where politics keeps getting more irrational dishonest violent and chaotic it s getting much harder to reach people with words alone So people who really care about democracy must ask how can we stop arguing and do the deep work to build stronger foundations for political life and a better world for us all

Reality Jan Westerhoff,2011-11-24 What is real has been one of the key questions of philosophy since its beginning in antiquity It is a question that due to such films as The Matrix has also made its way into popular culture But it is not just a question philosophers ask It is also asked by scientists when they investigate whether the fundamental constituents of matter are actually out there or just a mere abstraction from a successful theory Cognitive scientists ask it when trying to find out which set of the bewildering array of data processed by our brain could constitute the basis for such supposedly fundamental entities like the free agent or the self This Very Short Introduction discusses what reality is by looking at a variety of arguments theories and thought experiments from philosophy physics and cognitive science ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable The ^AOxford Handbook of Schopenhauer Robert L. Wicks,2020-02-27 This collection of thirty one essays encompasses Schopenhauer s central contributions his influences and the scope of his impact especially on the arts and philosophy Six sections cover the wide range of his thought including its connection to religion ethics and art as well as his influence and legacy The 360° Gaze Christian Stiegler,2021-05-25 A comprehensive study of the pervasive role of immersion and immersive media in postmodern culture from a humanities and social sciences perspective Virtual reality augmented reality mixed reality and other modes of digitally induced immersion herald a major cultural and economic shift in society Most academic discussions of immersion and immersive media have focused on the technological aspects In The 360 Gaze Christian Stiegler takes a humanities and social science approach emphasizing the human implications of immersive media in postmodern culture Examining characteristics common to all immersive experiences he uncovers dominant metaphors such as the rabbit hole and prevailing ideologies He raises fundamental questions about opportunities and risks associated with immersion as well as the potential effects on individuals communities and societies The Man Who Wasn't There Anil Ananthaswamy,2016-08-02 In the tradition of Oliver Sacks science journalist Anil Ananthaswamy skillfully inspects the bewildering connections among brain body mind self and society by examining a range of neuropsychological ailments from autism and Alzheimer s to out of body experiences and body integrity identity disorder Award winning science writer Anil Ananthaswamy smartly explores the concept of self by way of several mental conditions that eat away at patients identities showing we learn a lot about being human from people with a fragmented or altered sense of self Ananthaswamy travelled the world to meet those who suffer from maladies of the self interviewing patients psychiatrists philosophers and neuroscientists along the way He charts how the self is affected by Asperger s autism Alzheimer s epilepsy schizophrenia among many other mental conditions revealing how the brain constructs our sense of self Each chapter is anchored with stories of people who experience themselves differently from the norm Readers meet individuals in various stages of Alzheimer s disease where the loss of memory and cognition results in the loss of some aspects of the self We meet a woman who recalls the feeling of her first major encounter with schizophrenia which she describes as an outside force controlling her Ananthaswamy also looks at several less familiar conditions such as Cotard s syndrome in which patients believe they are dead and those with body integrity identity disorder where the patient seeks to have a body part amputated because it doesn t belong to them Moving nimbly back and forth from the individual stories to scientific analysis The Man Who Wasn t There is a wholly original exploration of the human self which raises fascinating questions about the mind body connection

Neurolaw and Criminal Jurisprudence in India Pragma Mishra, 2024-12-24 This work explores the transformative potential of neuroscience in reshaping India's criminal justice system. It deftly navigates the complex terrain of neurolaw, examining its implications for criminal responsibility, rehabilitation, and the very foundations of legal thought. Drawing on cutting-edge neuroscientific research and India's rich philosophical traditions, the work proposes innovative approaches to longstanding legal and ethical dilemmas. It covers a wide range of topics with depth and nuance, from a neurocriminological audit of Indian criminal codes to an exploration of neuroplasticity in offender rehabilitation. It includes a fascinating case study of the Vipassana meditation program in Indian prisons, illustrating the practical applications of neurolaw principles. The volume promises to spark crucial conversations about the nature of human behavior, the purpose of punishment, and the possibility of a more humane and effective justice system. It is a bold step toward a neuroscience-informed jurisprudence that honors both scientific truth and human dignity. At the intersection of neuroscience, law, and Indian philosophy, the work offers a unique perspective on some of the most pressing questions in modern jurisprudence. Representing a significant contribution to the global discourse on neurolaw and offering concrete suggestions for legal reform, judicial practice, and policymaking, it will be an essential read for legal scholars, neuroscientists, policymakers, and anyone interested in the future of criminal justice.

Transhumanism as a Challenge for Ethics and Religion Robert Petkovsek, Bojan Zalec, 2021 The crucial question of our time is: How to preserve humanity (humanitas) in a world of radical and not so long ago practically unimaginable technological possibilities? The book addresses this issue through its treatment of transhumanism, a diverse movement the representatives of which promise and advocate for the enhancement of human being through modern science, technology, and pharmacology. Their views differ in the degree of extremity, and they contain many ambiguities as well as pitfalls and dangers that require an answer from both ethical and religious points of view. The book deepens the understanding of transhumanism in an interdisciplinary way and thus helps to form the right attitude towards it that will truly benefit human flourishing. It offers a rich variety of views on transhumanism, ranging from its illumination in the light of contemporary research into happiness through liberal eugenics and biopolitics all the way to its considerations in terms of religions and manifestations in concrete works of art.
